PREFACE

THE NAVAL ACADEMY Lucky Bag BEGAN AS A COLLECTION OF POETRY THAT TURNED INTO AN ANNUAL. BOOKS FROM THE 1890'S AND EARLY 1900'S ARE FILLED WITH STUDENTS' STORIES AND POEMS. THESE STORIES SERVED TO HIGHLIGHT THE YEAR THAT HAD PASSED. WE HAVE NO SUCH STORIES. AS THE CLASS OF 2000, WE'VE SEEN MANY OF THE PAST WAYS END. AS THE NEW CENTURY BEGINS WE ATTEMPT TO REMEMBER THE OLD TRADITIONS AND BRING IN THE NEW. WE HOPE THAT EACH GLANCE THROUGH THIS BOOK WILL BRING YOU FOND MEMORIES OF YOUR FOUR YEARS BY THE BAY.

Alma Mater since 1920, Navy Blue and Gold by J.W. Crosley

Navy Blue and Gold

Now college men from sea to sea
May sing of colors true,
But who has better right than we
To hoist a symbol hue?
For sailor men in battle fair
Since fighting days of old,
Have proved the sailor's right to wear
The Navy Blue and Gold.

So hoist our colors, hoist them high,
And vow allegiance true,
So long as sunset gilds the sky
Above the ocean blue,
Unlowered shall those colors be
Whatever fate they meet,
So glorious in victory,
Triumphant in defeat.

Four years together by the Bay
Where Severn joins the tide,
Then by the Service called away,
We've scattered far and wide;
But still when two or three shall meet,
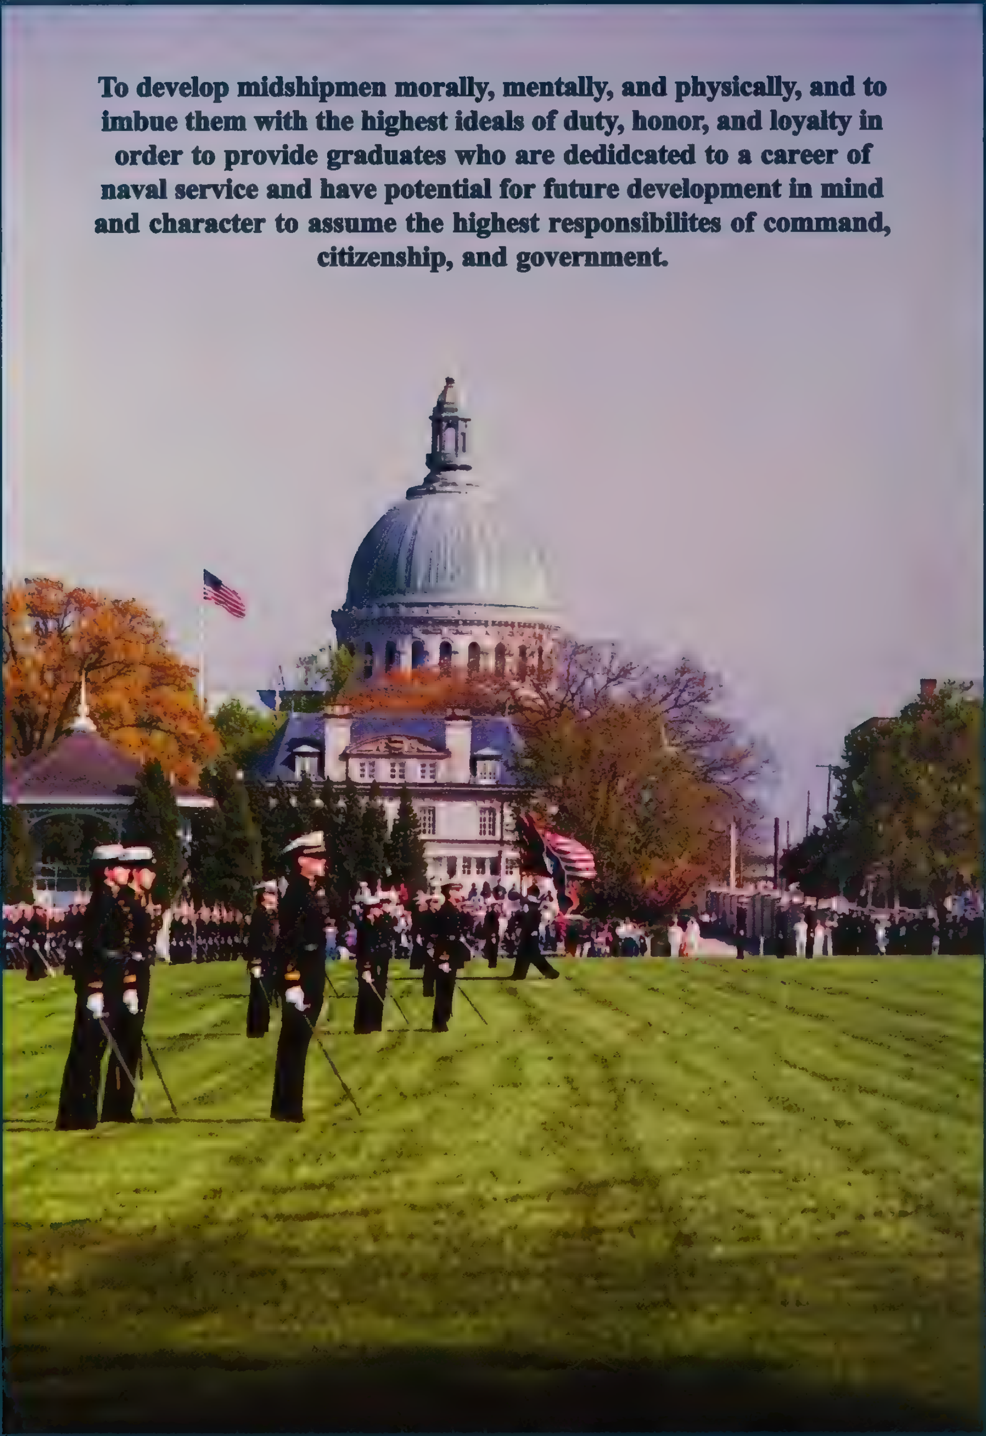
And old tales be retold,
From low to highest in the Fleet
Will pledge the Blue and Gold.

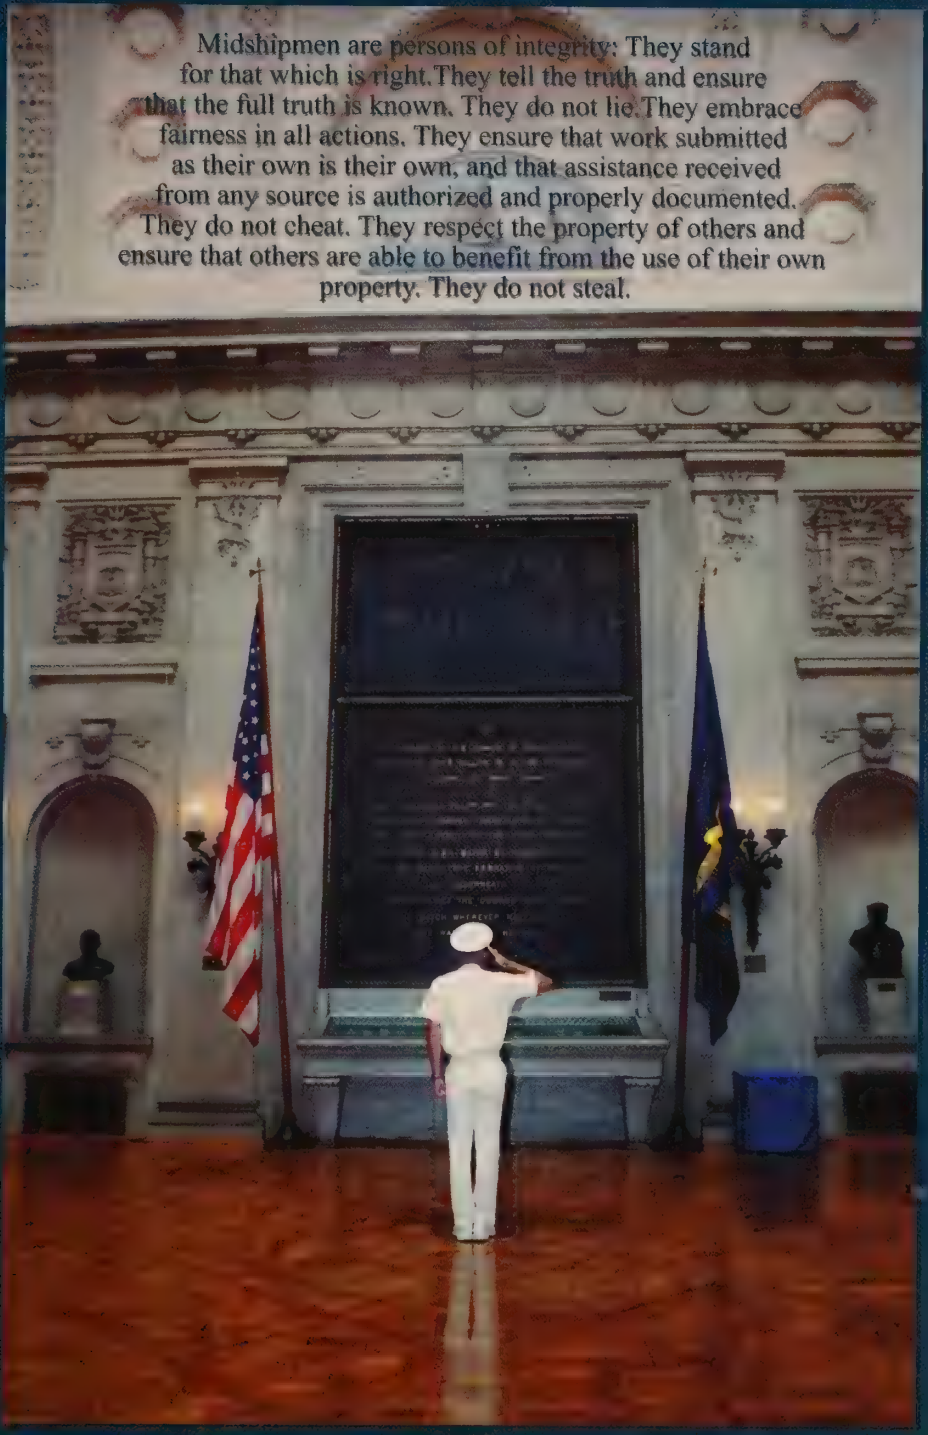
The Mission

To develop midshipmen morally, mentally, and physically, and to imbue them with the highest ideals of duty, honor, and loyalty in order to provide graduates who are dedidcated to a career of naval service and have potential for future development in mind and character to assume the highest responsibilites of command, citizenship, and government.

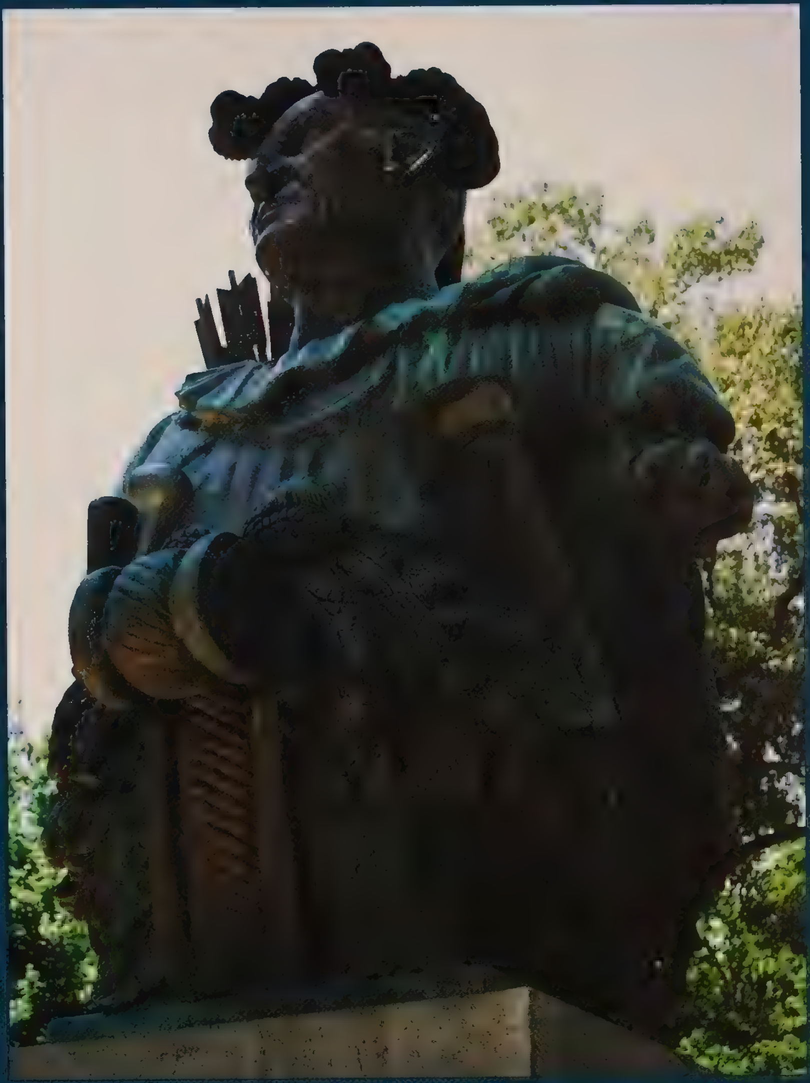


The Honor Concept

Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal.



Tecumseh



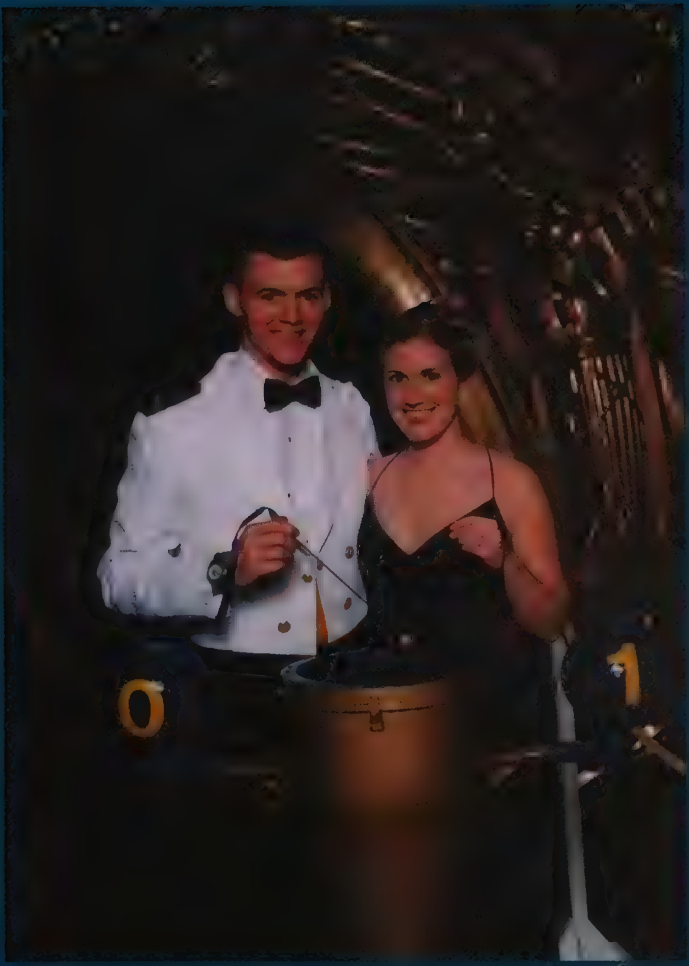
There are several traditions that surround the great Indian figurehead at the end of Stribling Walk. Before home football games he is decorated in full warpaint to prepare for the upcoming battle on the field. Tecumseh is also the "God of 2.0." Worried Mids toss pennies into his quiver before big exams hoping that they will pass and maintain their 2.0.

Herndon

The tradition of climbing Herndon began because Plebes were not allowed to walk down Lover's Lane, the walk leading to the gazebo. After graduation, when they were officially youngsters, they paraded down Lover's Lane chanting, "Taint no mo' Plebes." Eventually they rallied around the monument. In 1967, graduation was moved off of the yard and Herndon became a part of Commissioning Week festivites.

In 1973 Superintendent Vice Admiral William P. Mack gave his shoulder boards to Midshipman 4/c Lawrence O'Donnell, who was the first Plebe that year to reach the top of the massive monument. This gift started the "First Admiral" tradition, saying that the first Plebe to reach the top of Herndon will be the class' first Admiral.

The Ring



The tradition of the Naval Academy Ring dates back to 1869. Each class, except for the classes of 1877-1880, designs their class crest. In 1925 Ring Dance was added to the tradition. At ring dance the rings are dipped in water collected from the seven seas . Antarctic snow that fell the day Christ was born, water flown in space by Naval Academy graduates, and water from the Severn River in remembrance of our four years together by the bay. The ring is worn with the class crest inside, signifying the bond of fellowship with ones classmates. After graduation, the ring is worn with the Academy seal inside, reminding graduates of their days at the Academy

Three Cheers to Those We Leave Behind...

The tradition of the cover toss began 89 years ago with the class of 1911. This class was the first class to go directly into the fleet as officers upon graduation, rather than first serving a two year cruise at sea as a midshipman. The class of 1911 was issued officer covers for June Week, and at graduation, in a spontaneous uproar, they threw their midshipman covers in the air.

HONOS

A Brief History of the

From all over the world we converged, 1,212 candidates, ready to make our mark as the Class of 2000. July 2, 1996 was a bright, beautiful day, but after raising our right hands and swearing our allegiance to the United States Naval Academy, the beauty of the place reigned no longer. More than twelve hundred chopping, screaming plebes coated in sweat and fear entered the Hall for the last REAL Plebe Summer and were forever changed.

The long hot summer was filled with challenges and obstacles that each of us had to overcome. Morning pep brought us our first class-wide honor offense with chants to Sr. Chief Albonetti: "You can't hurt us!" He could and he did. We were the last class to be seen PT'ing in uniform by the public.

During that first six weeks, The Curse of the Class of 2000 struck its first blow. We boarded the buses for 8th and I, and sensing the importance of our precious time away from the Academy, the heavens opened into a torrential downpour that sent us back into the hall. The second strike of The Curse came not much later, during parent's weekend, when a huge rainstorm hit in the middle of the P-rade for the parents. And we drilled anyway . . . Our first chance off of the yard unsupervised was used for long needed sleep. The weekend was over much too quickly and we crawled back to the tune of "I'll be home for Christmas" blaring from the windows as we said our goodbyes to loved ones in the 6th wing parking lot. The end of Plebe Summer brought everything from relief and excitement to sorrow and horror. We felt sorrow for the loss of a classmate, Joanna Simer. We felt horror for the discovery of crimes committed by Diane Zamora and for the awful TV movie that resulted. The long threatened brigade finally "re-formed" and we were outnumbered 3 to 1.

That first semester, spontaneous pep rallies were the rule, not the exception. We were the first class to put a cover on the chapel dome (and NOT get carry-on), and the administration learned not to put a car with a full gas tank in T-Court. We also learned what it truly meant to be academically challenged. Many of those who never had to study in high school learned how, the hard way. Fortunately, we were relatively bereft of scandal. However, we were the first and last class to be accused of conspiring against the chemistry department. Over 60 percent of our class failed the chemistry final, and almost half of the class spent time in summer school taking Chem. II over again. Finally, the chopping, yelling, and the chow calls ended with the climbing of Herndon; two hours fifty-five minutes and seventeen seconds in the sweltering heat, standing beneath a monument caked in grease, as our "first Admiral" Zach Guerra put the cover on top of the massive obelisk.

Youngster summer began with YP trips to Boston and New York (we were the last class to wear khakis on YP cruise), CSTS trips to Newport, Portsmouth, and the lucky ones to NY (or had to stay in Annapolis for summer school). There was NTT and Summer Seminar, but best of all LEAVE. We began youngster year in new companies. It is true what they say, youngsters are just plebes with stripes.

We became the last class to know CAPT Bogle as our Commandant, and experienced our new 'Dant, Admiral Roughhead. We received a MUC for just being a MIDN. We enjoyed our final year with no responsibility. Football season was awesome, with our first victory over Army in four years. We can never forget LCDR Furtner's departure from company officerdom, nor the great O'coat inspection in March. We made it to the end of the year, and became the first cadres for Sea

Class of 2000

Trials. (The curse of the Class of 2000 struck again as we were faced with yet another bitter, cold, and rainy day in the middle of spring as we were sent through the Sea Trials test run.) We were the last class to NOT have a Youngster Luau (a credit to our sense of tradition).

2/C summer meant leadership challenges for those of us who did Detail, and infamy for those of us who did PROTRAMID. Plebe summer was reformatted with rules and regulations making life more difficult for the upper class than the plebes. PROTRAMID '98 will forever be remembered for those of us with our liberty secured, and many of us will never look at Whiting Field the same way again. The summer of '98 found us wearing dungarees on ships going all over the world: Poland, Hong Kong, Japan, Hawaii, Pascagoula, MS, and of course Norfolk to name just a few. ADM Larson retired as Superintendent at the beginning of 2/C year and ADM Ryan took over. We became the "trainers " in the brigade, and with that job came responsibility, civilian clothes, and cars. Friday night libs in civvies disappeared, and so did long weekends. Liberty logs also became a thing of the past. Most of 2/C year was spent looking forward to its end and Ring Dance. The curse struck again as rain poured down on our Ring Dance dinner, leaving soggy rolls and lettuce swimming in pools of water. The females of the class of 2000 found out the price of civil disobedience when over 90% of the females were fried for wearing civilian dresses. Demerits and tours became abundant. Finally, graduation for the class of '99 came and 2000 took the reigns.

1/C summer sent firsties all over the world, on ships, planes, or deep in the woods of Quantico, Virginia (and some of us BACK to Norfolk). Those of us who did detail became the first class to participate in the "great switch", 5 whole days of being nice to plebes. Summer seminar was a party with CSTS and YP's not far behind. As firstie year flew by, many of us struggled to make it to the end. We felt sorrow at the loss of our classmate Kevin Zambo and joy as we defeated Army. ADM Roughead tour ended and he was replaced with CAPT Locklear. We defended our school against natural disasters such as Hurricane Floyd – another example of the Curse of the Class of 2000. It just HAPPENED to take place during Firstie Parents' weekend. (I smell CONSPIRACY!) We trekked through knee deep snow to attend classes, only to have them cancelled by professors who could not make it in, or in some cases required to attend when no one else had to (FID). We made the most of it with snowball fights, sleeping in, and skiing at the cross-country course. Again the infamous curse struck with a blizzard on Service Assignment Night that kept us from going anywhere to celebrate our luck or drown our sorrows.

Commissioning Week came with all its glory, and yet another strike from the notorious Curse. Like every other important event in our Naval Academy career, it rained. And it rained some more. The Blue Angels did two passes then were rained out. With combined effort of Midshipmen and their families, the Curse was lifted and we all got sunburned on Graduation day. 933 of us walked across the stage and received our commissions as officers in the US Navy, Marine Corps, and 2 people received Air Force Commissions. Free at last. Free at last. Thank God Almighty, we are free at last.

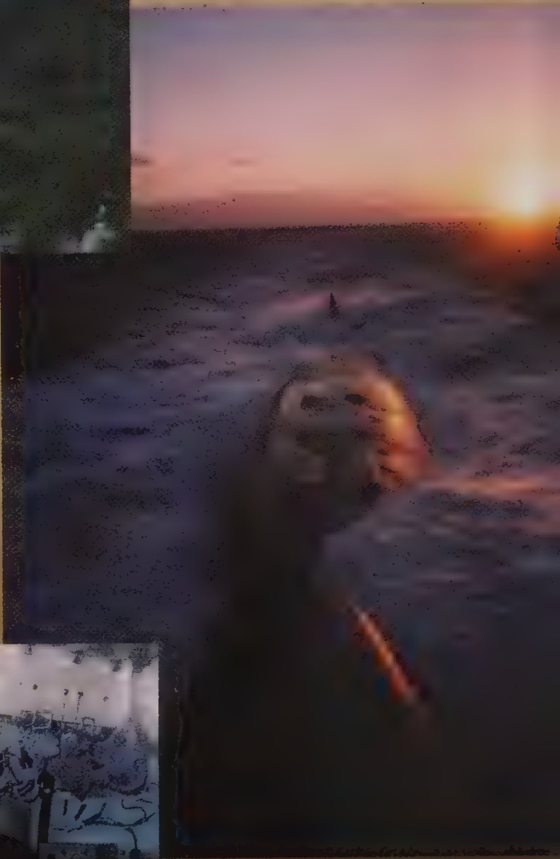
'00 CRUISING A



BOVE...

1/C Midshipmen who went on sub and surface cruises were able to experience much more than time on board their assigned Naval vessel. Many were sent to experience foreign ports such as Japan, Italy, Bahrain and Hong Kong. 21 and 22 year old Midshipmen not only experienced life in foreign waters, they also spent time making the decision of their life...is life on or under the sea the way they wanted to go?

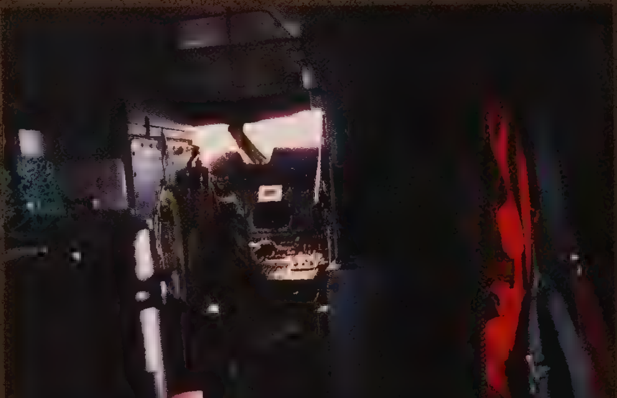
Spending a month in tick-infested woods, carrying M-16's, and climbing obstacle courses, everything an inspiring Jarhead wants and needs. All applicants to Leatherneck were accepted, but it was not the walk in the park some expected. Others used it as a valuable learning experience to decide whether or not to go "Green" come Service Selection.

Cruises with the Fleet Marine Force offered midshipmen a chance to witness real Marine Corps jobs whether they were with aviation detatchments ashore or afloat in a battlegroup.

K FMF

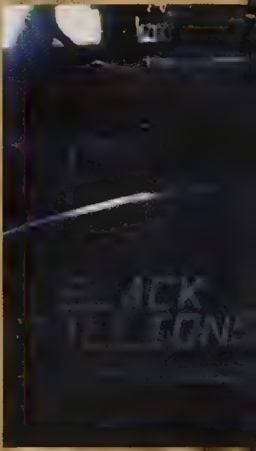
Aviation



FLY NAVY

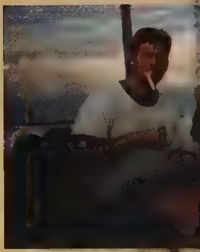
From the pampered corners of Pearl Harbor to the hostile waters of Bahrain "the Jewel of the Arabian Gulf," midshipmen received a variety of experiences in the aviation community while of cruise. Mids went all over the U.S. and abroad to learn about the aviation pipeline and ride with Navy pilots. Whether it was a trap on CVN-71 USS THEODORE ROOSEVELT a hundred miles from the coast of Iran or a helo ride off the coast of Florida, all participants came back from cruise saying the same thing, "I want to FLY!"

SECOND CLASS

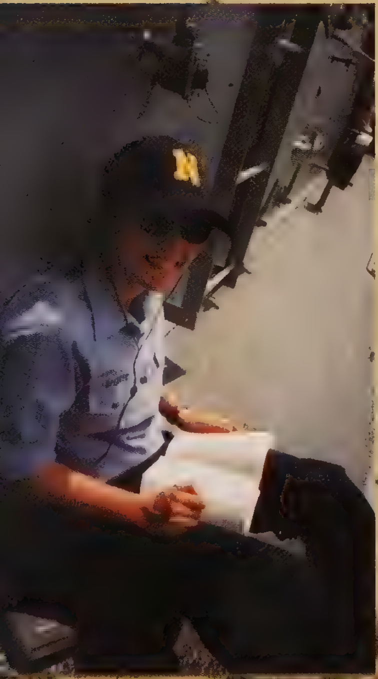


PROTRAMID, Detail, Surface or Submarine Cruise... Finally midshipmen have a few options for summer training. Most 2/c started out the summer with a 3-week paid vacation to mild Quantico, sunny P-cola, and Kings Bay. PROfessional TRAining for MIDshipmen was a liberty experience with some of our best friends. Then there was the gray hull cruise in dungarees... the "enlisted person's experience." Some mids gained a lot from their running mates, while others got yelled at by chiefs saltier than Oklahoma beef jerky.

LCAC-89



Youngster Cruise



So happy were they to be free, to no longer be plebes, the class of '02 can't seem to remember where the summer went. YP cruise took the newly commissioned third class to Boston and New York, and the Aught-Two's gained their sea legs (or not, rather violently not). Then there was the YP that caught fire, but then again nearly all of them did at one point or another for chow. The best part of the summer was returning to the Academy and seeing the chapel dome finally becoming an official Youngster. Naval Tactical Training, or NTT, taught the mids one thing: to crave Air Force chow, but to bring your own box lunch when visiting psycho Army Rangers. CSTS was supposed to teach seamanship and navigation skills, but mostly taught mids to wear sunscreen.

Induction Day

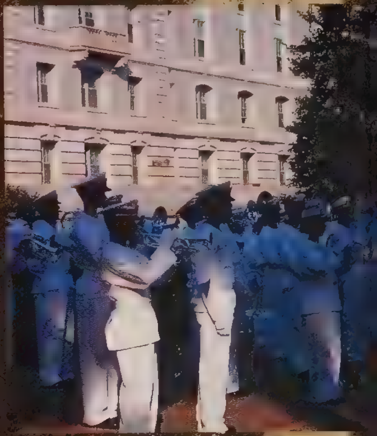
They got a buildin' down in USNA called Alumni Hall, where you walk in, you get injected, inspected, detected, infected, neglected, and selected. I went down and got my physical examination one I-day, and walked in, sat down (got good and drunk the night before, so I looked and felt my best when I went in the morning, 'cause I wanted to look like the All-American-Kid from New York City. I wanted to feel......I wanted to be the All-American Kid from New York) and I walked in, sat down. I was hung down, brung down, hung up and all kinds of mean, nasty, ugly things.

And I walked in, I sat down, they gave me a piece of paper that said: "Kid, see the psychiatrist, Room 604". I went up there, I said, "Shrink... I wanna Kill, I wanna kill! I wanna see blood and gore and guts and veins in my teeth! Eat dead, burnt bodies! I mean, Kill, Kill!" And I started jumpin' up and down, yellin', "KILL! KILL!" and he started jumpin' up and down with me, and we was both jumpin' up and down yellin', "KILL, KILL! KILL! KILL!" and the Detailer came over, gave me a guideon, sent me down the hall, said,
"You're our boy!"
Didn't feel too good about it.

Proceeded on down the hall, gettin' more injections, inspections, detections, neglections, and all kinds of stuff that they was doin' to me at the thing there, and I was there for two hours.... three hours.... four hours..... I was there for a long time goin' through all kinds of mean, nasty, ugly things, and I was just havin' a tough time there, and they was inspectin', injectin' every single part of me, and they was leavin' no part untouched! Proceeded through, and I finally came to see the very last man. I walked in, sat down, after a whole big thing there. I walked up, and I said, "What do you want?"

He said, "Kid, we only got one question....... Have you ever been ARRESTED?"

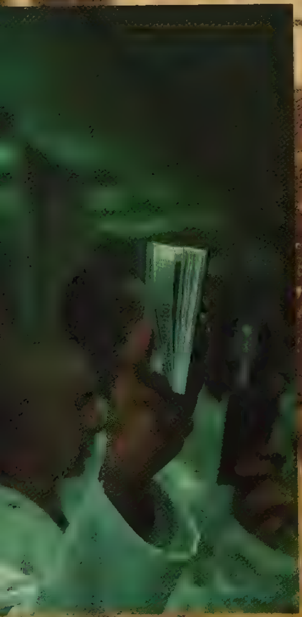
adapted from Arlo Guthrie's "Alice's Restaurant"



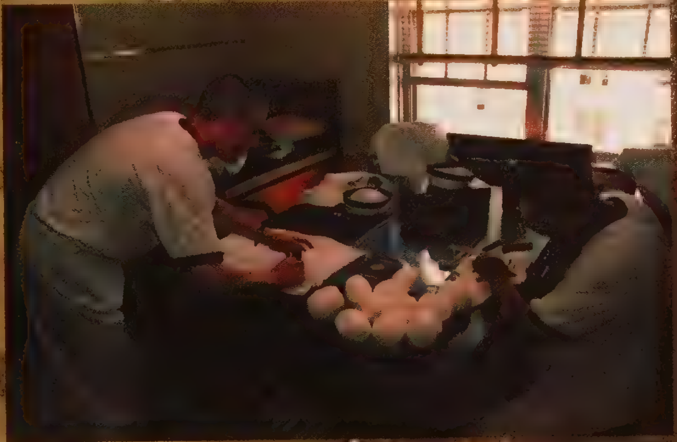
"Hell hath no fury like a Detailer scorned."
- plebe, July 1999

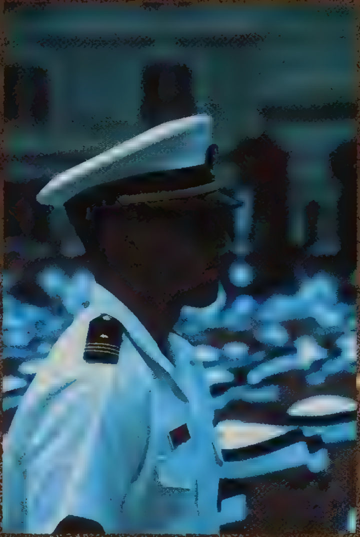
"These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country; but he that stands it now deserves the love and thanks of man and woman... we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph."
- Thomas Paine, Decemeber 1776

'03 Plebe Summer



7 Weeks of training and discipline, molding the class of '03 into the shapes which will one day become officers in the United States Navy and Marine Corps. Not the most fun anyone has ever had, but they say that if you can make it through plebe summer , you can make it through the four years at the Academy. Only time will tell if these plebes will succeed as midshipmen and as officers in the Naval Service.





Plebe Summer DETAIL

The first line of defense. Probably the hardest job a midshipman ever has to face is that of the Plebe Summer Detail. Maintaining professionalism while trying to train clueless plebes and keeping up mentally and physically is no easy task. These dedicated individuals learn as much about leadership during the four weeks they are in charge as they impart upon their plebes. The future of the Brigade rests in their capable hands, and it is no small thing, for every plebe takes something from his or her detailer with them.

MARCH-OVERS

Pre-football game march overs provided Midshipmen the opportunity to show off their drill skills to the town. Townies come to the game early just to see the midshipmen march down the streets and to throw candy at them (a tradition that seems to have faded in the last couple years.) Before the game, Midshipmen march onto the field to greet and honor the opposing team and to bring excitement to the Navy crowd.

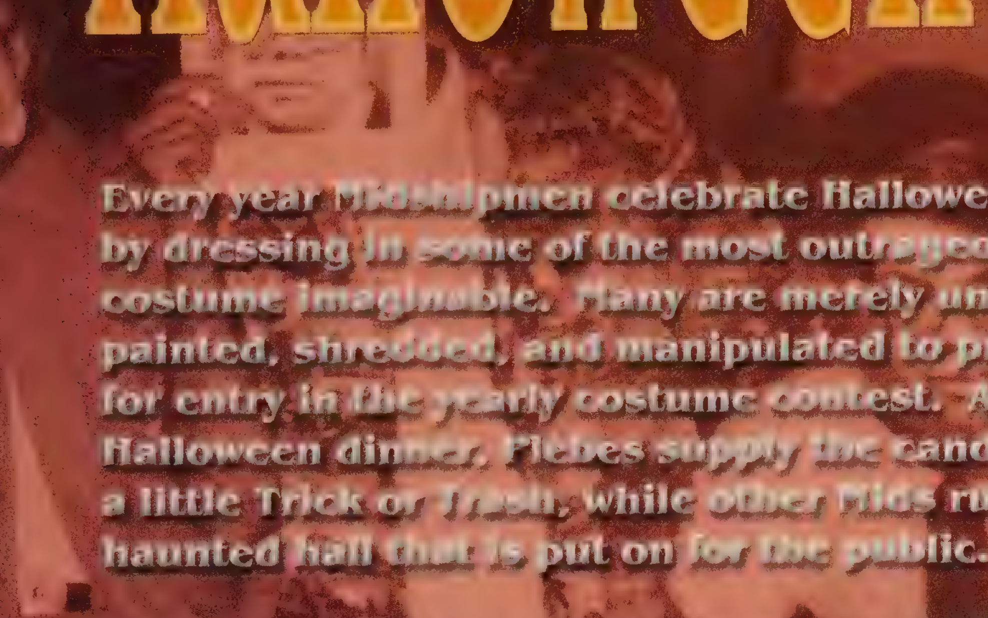
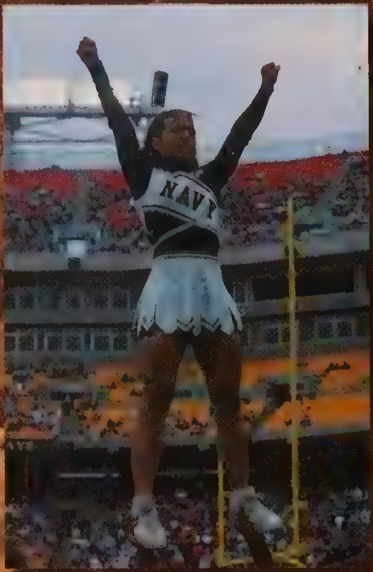
Halloween



Every year Midshipmen celebrate Halloween by dressing in some of the most outrageous costume imaginable. Many are merely uniforms painted, shredded, and manipulated to prepare for entry in the yearly costume contest. After Halloween dinner, Plebes supply the candy for a little Trick or Trash, while other Mids run the haunted hall that is put on for the public.

Navy vs.



On October 9, 1999 Navy met Air Force at Jack Kent Cook Stadium. Despite the 19-14 loss, the crowd never gave up hope as it cheered for Navy's football team. It began with Air Force's attempted intimidation by flying over a B-2, but Navy was not to be outdone. We provided Prowlers AND F-18's to show them that we were more than willing to accept the challenge. Navy fought a long and dignified battle, and spirits

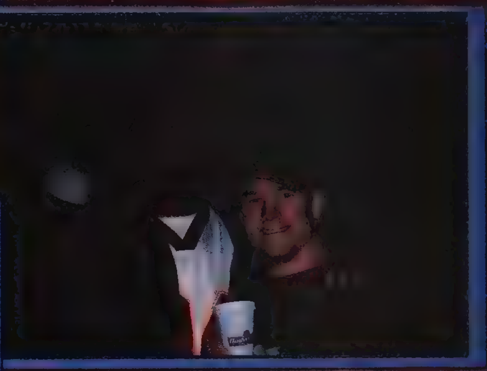
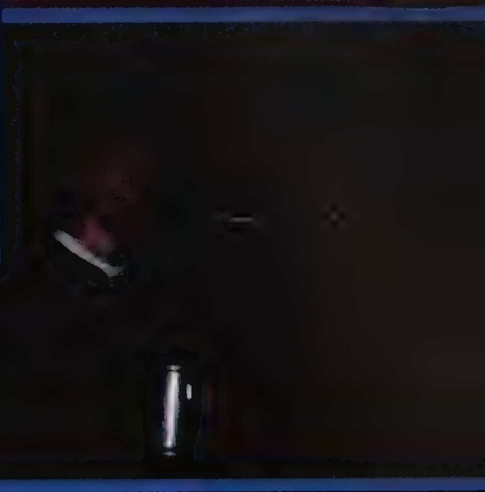
The time to celebrate is NOW!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!





2 For 7. For some it is a celebration of the two years that have already passed in a 2/c Midshipmen's Naval Academy Career. For others, it is merely a recognition that they have made their committtment to the Navy. For all, the 2 For 7 tailgaitor is a great time. This year the party was held on Hospital point, complete with Bands, Beer, 2 For 7 Mugs, Beer, and t-shirts to commemorate their shining moment.

PEP RALLY

During Army/Navy week Midshipmen do not take time to study for the upcoming final exams. Instead they prepare for the big game by wild escapades designed to build school spirit. The Army/Navy Pep Rally constitutes one of these mandatory fun evolutions where Mids stand around the bonfire that lights the night sky and eat chicken tenders. Nothing stops mids as they enjoy an evening of carrier landings on Farragut field and spirits rise as the night goes on.

ARMY V

Year after year Midshipmen show their school spirit during the Army/ Navy game. In past years, Army didn't stand a chance against the cheering brigade. 1999 was different. Army Cadets were given toys in hopes that they too could show their unending support. However, they were no match for the Navy Mids on or off the field. Their toys meant nothing against the winning team as Navy defeated Army 19-9.

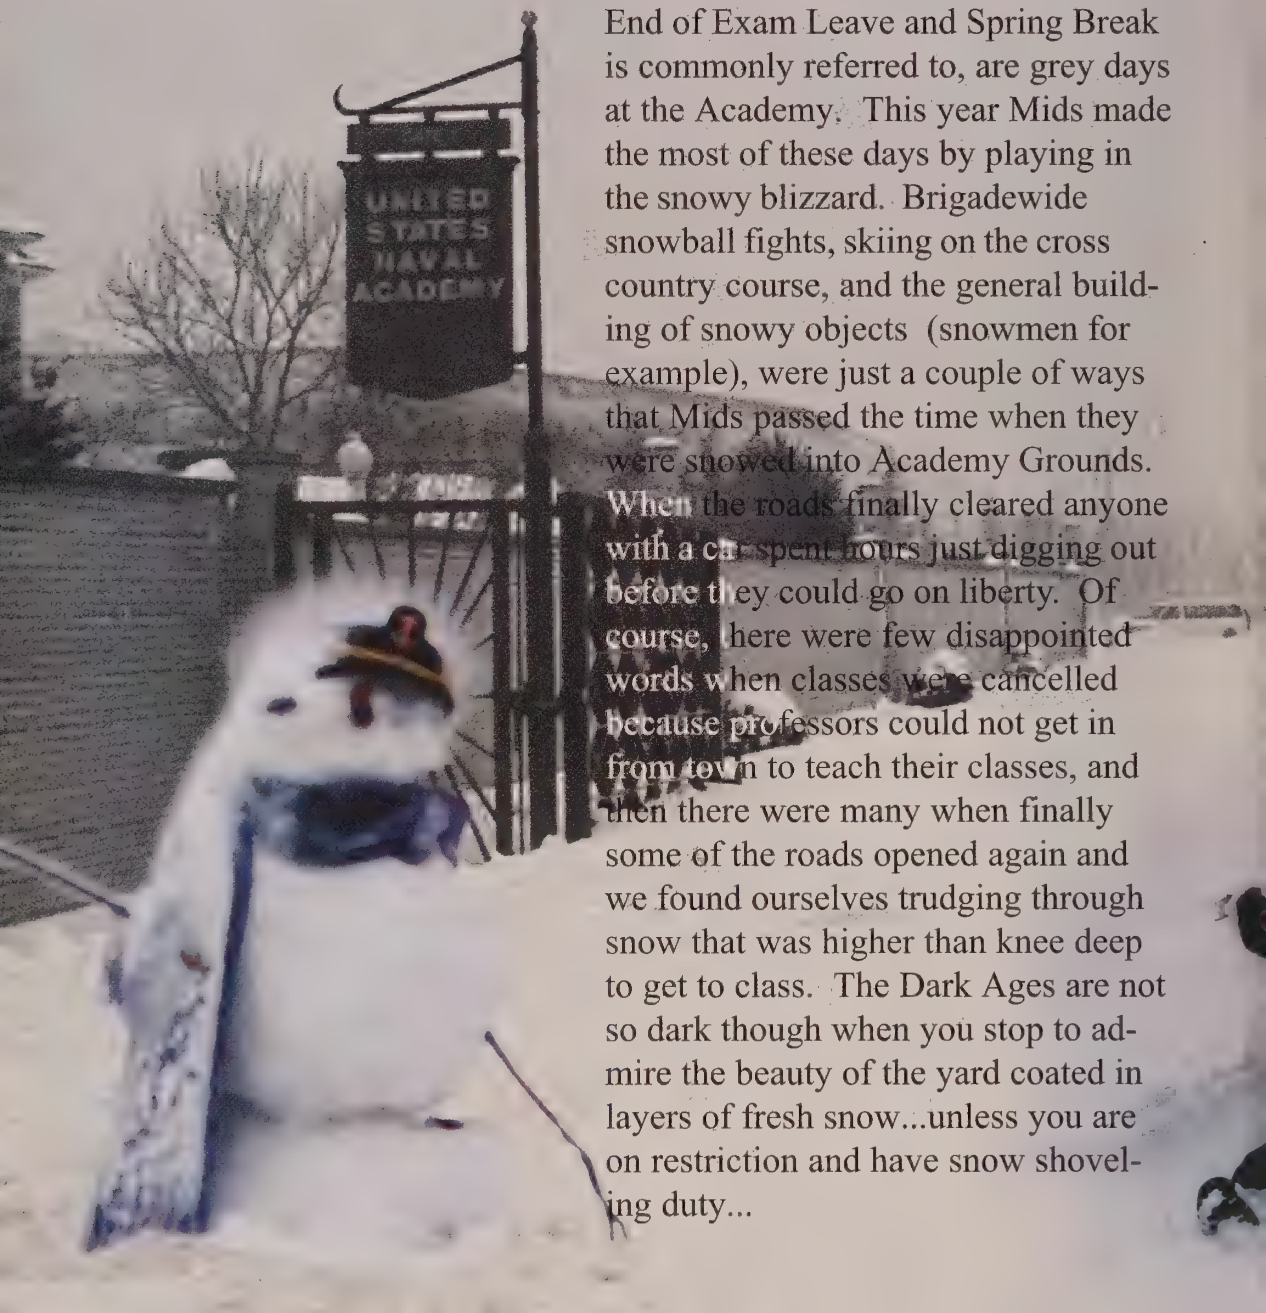
Dark Ages



The Dark Ages, as the time between End of Exam Leave and Spring Break is commonly referred to, are grey days at the Academy. This year Mids made the most of these days by playing in the snowy blizzard. Brigadewide snowball fights, skiing on the cross country course, and the general building of snowy objects (snowmen for example), were just a couple of ways that Mids passed the time when they were snowed into Academy Grounds. When the roads finally cleared anyone with a car spent hours just digging out before they could go on liberty. Of course, there were few disappointed words when classes were cancelled because professors could not get in from town to teach their classes, and then there were many when finally some of the roads opened again and we found ourselves trudging through snow that was higher than knee deep to get to class. The Dark Ages are not so dark though when you stop to admire the beauty of the yard coated in layers of fresh snow...unless you are on restriction and have snow shoveling duty...

100's

Valentine's Day 2000 was an exciting evening for both first class and fourth class. The plebes went into the evening believing that their night of being a firstie would give them the opportunity for payback. Others just looked forward to the priveleges their stripes would provide. Little did they know that the upperclass did not have the same agenda. The beginning of the countdown to graduation found firsties in the hall doing air push-ups, having slumber parties, spitting water on plebes, and having an all around good time. What [illegible] more [illegible]

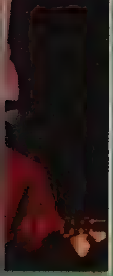
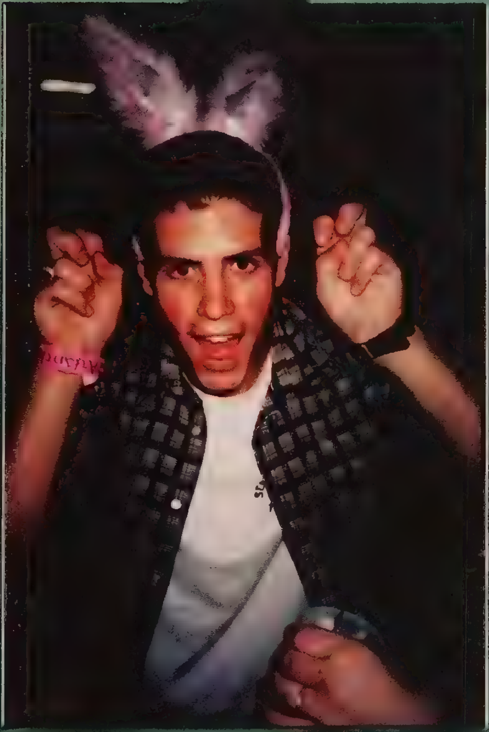
Spring

Spring Break

Spring Break provided a long needed reprieve from the dark ages. Mids traveled all over the world, either taking advantage of the sunny cancun and Florida weather, or trying to hit the slopes one last time before the final melt. No matter where they went, the mids showed their true colors and had a blast.





SEA TRIALS

APRIL 15, 2000

Modeled after the Marine Corps Crucible, Sea Trials was a day full of mental and physical challenges for the class of 2003. On Hospital Point they were presented with an amphibious assault scenerio where they were to "Save VADM Ryan." At Lejeune their endurance, teamwork, and trust in each other were tested. Squads competed against each other in log-carry, sit-ups, and squats. This phase also included survival/ rescue mission exercises. There were two Naval Station phases. One portion was the obstacle course, endurance course, and land navigation. The other section was the YP Naval Station where 2003 experienced YP Search and to secure damage control. Throughout all of the phases, the class of 2003 proved its strength and ability to meet the challenges provided for them under the guidance of the upperclass.

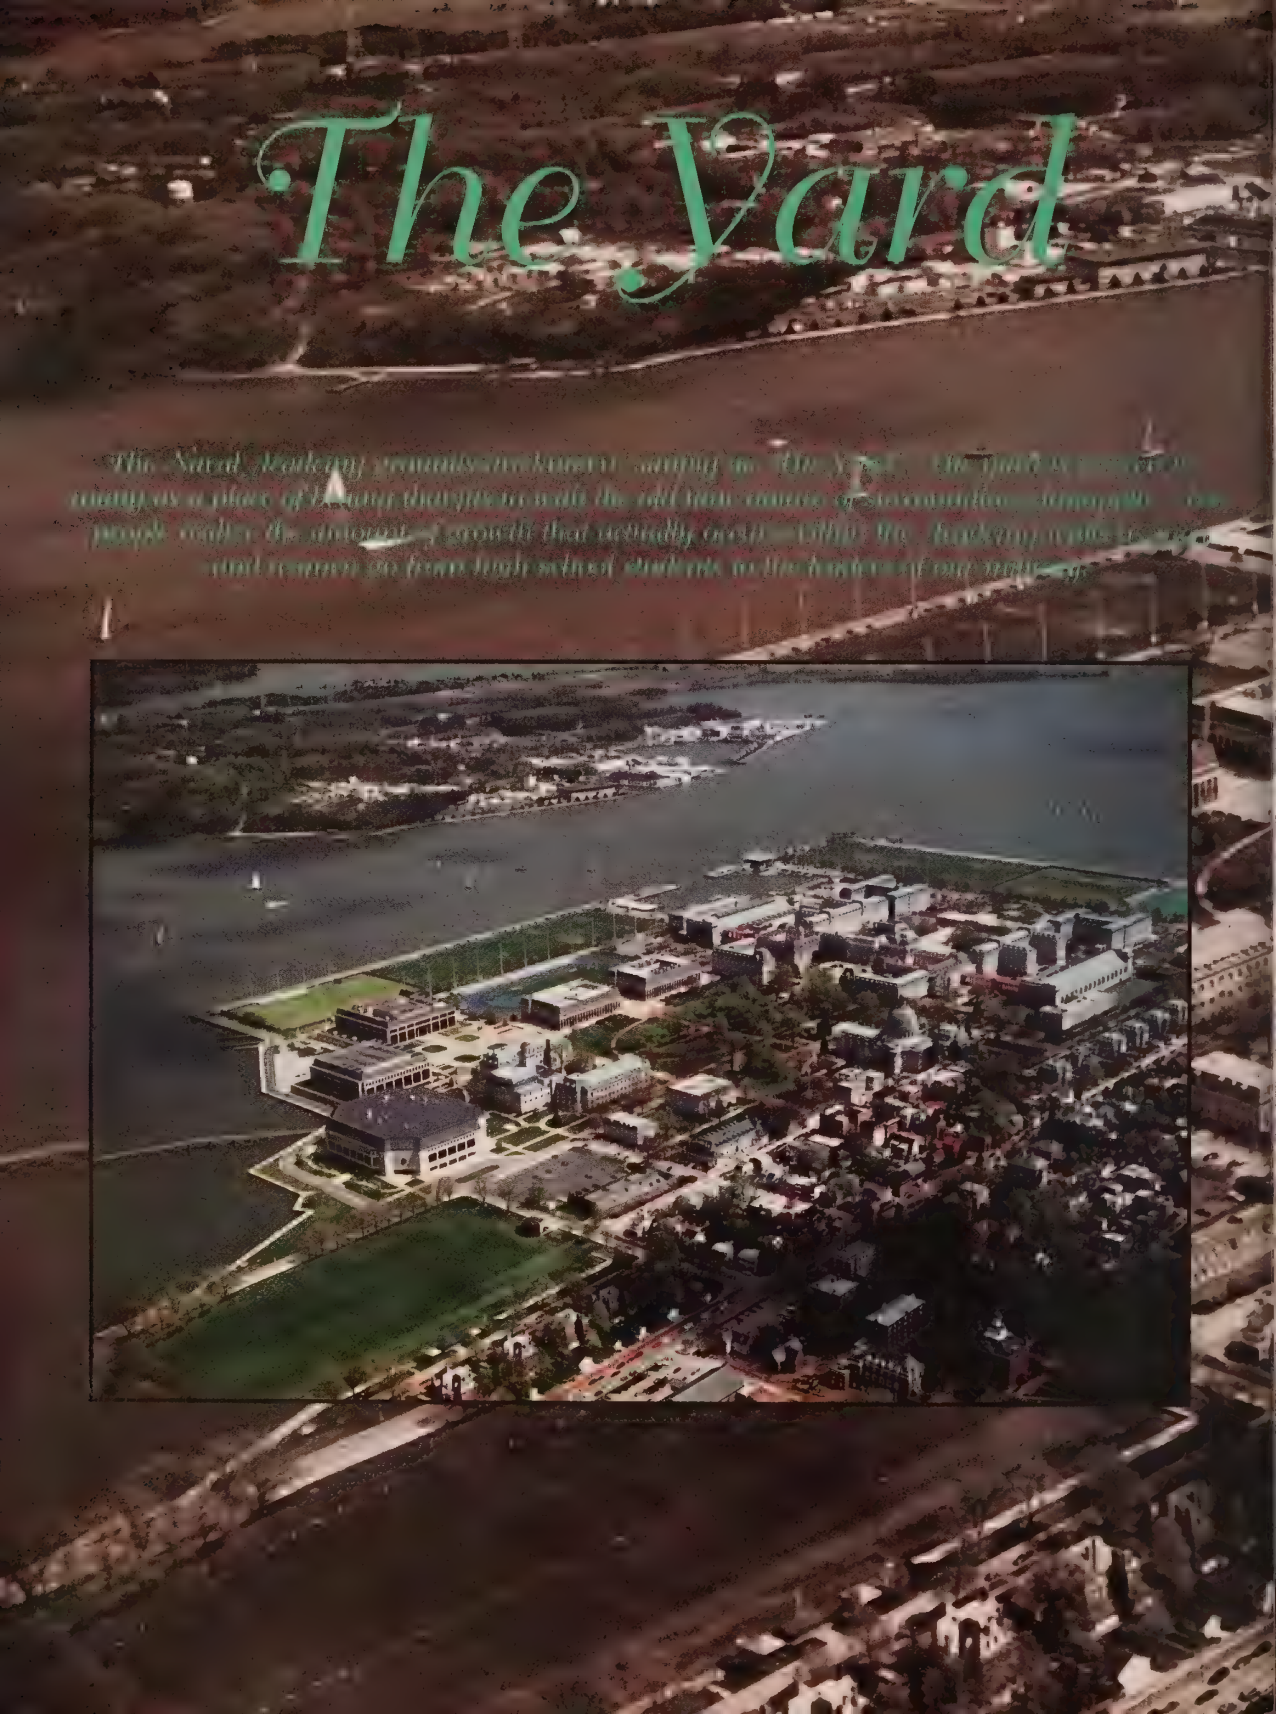
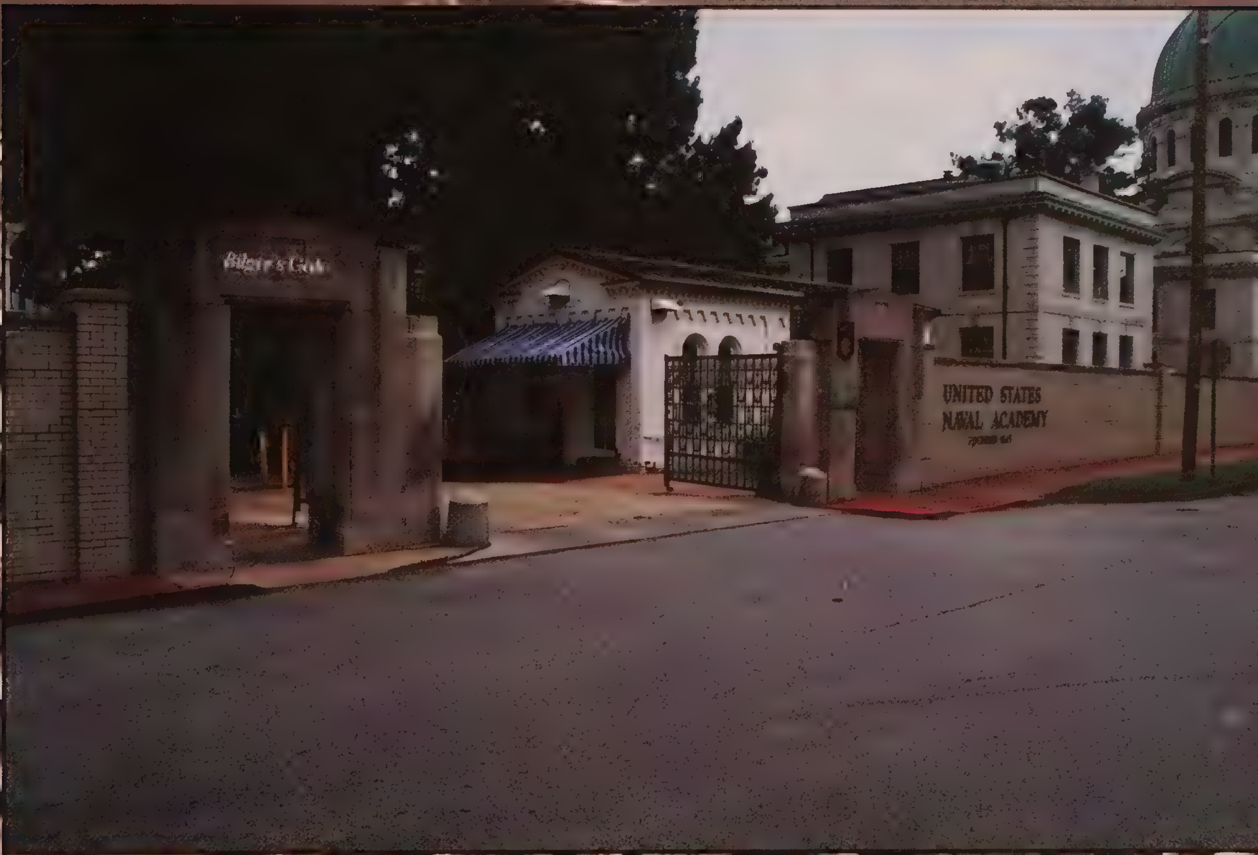
The Yard

The Naval Academy, commonly known simply as "The Yard." The Yard is [illegible] thought of as a place of [illegible] change [illegible] with the old [illegible] of [illegible]. Although [illegible] few people realize the amount of growth that actually occurs within the Academy walls as men and women go from high school students to the leaders of our military.

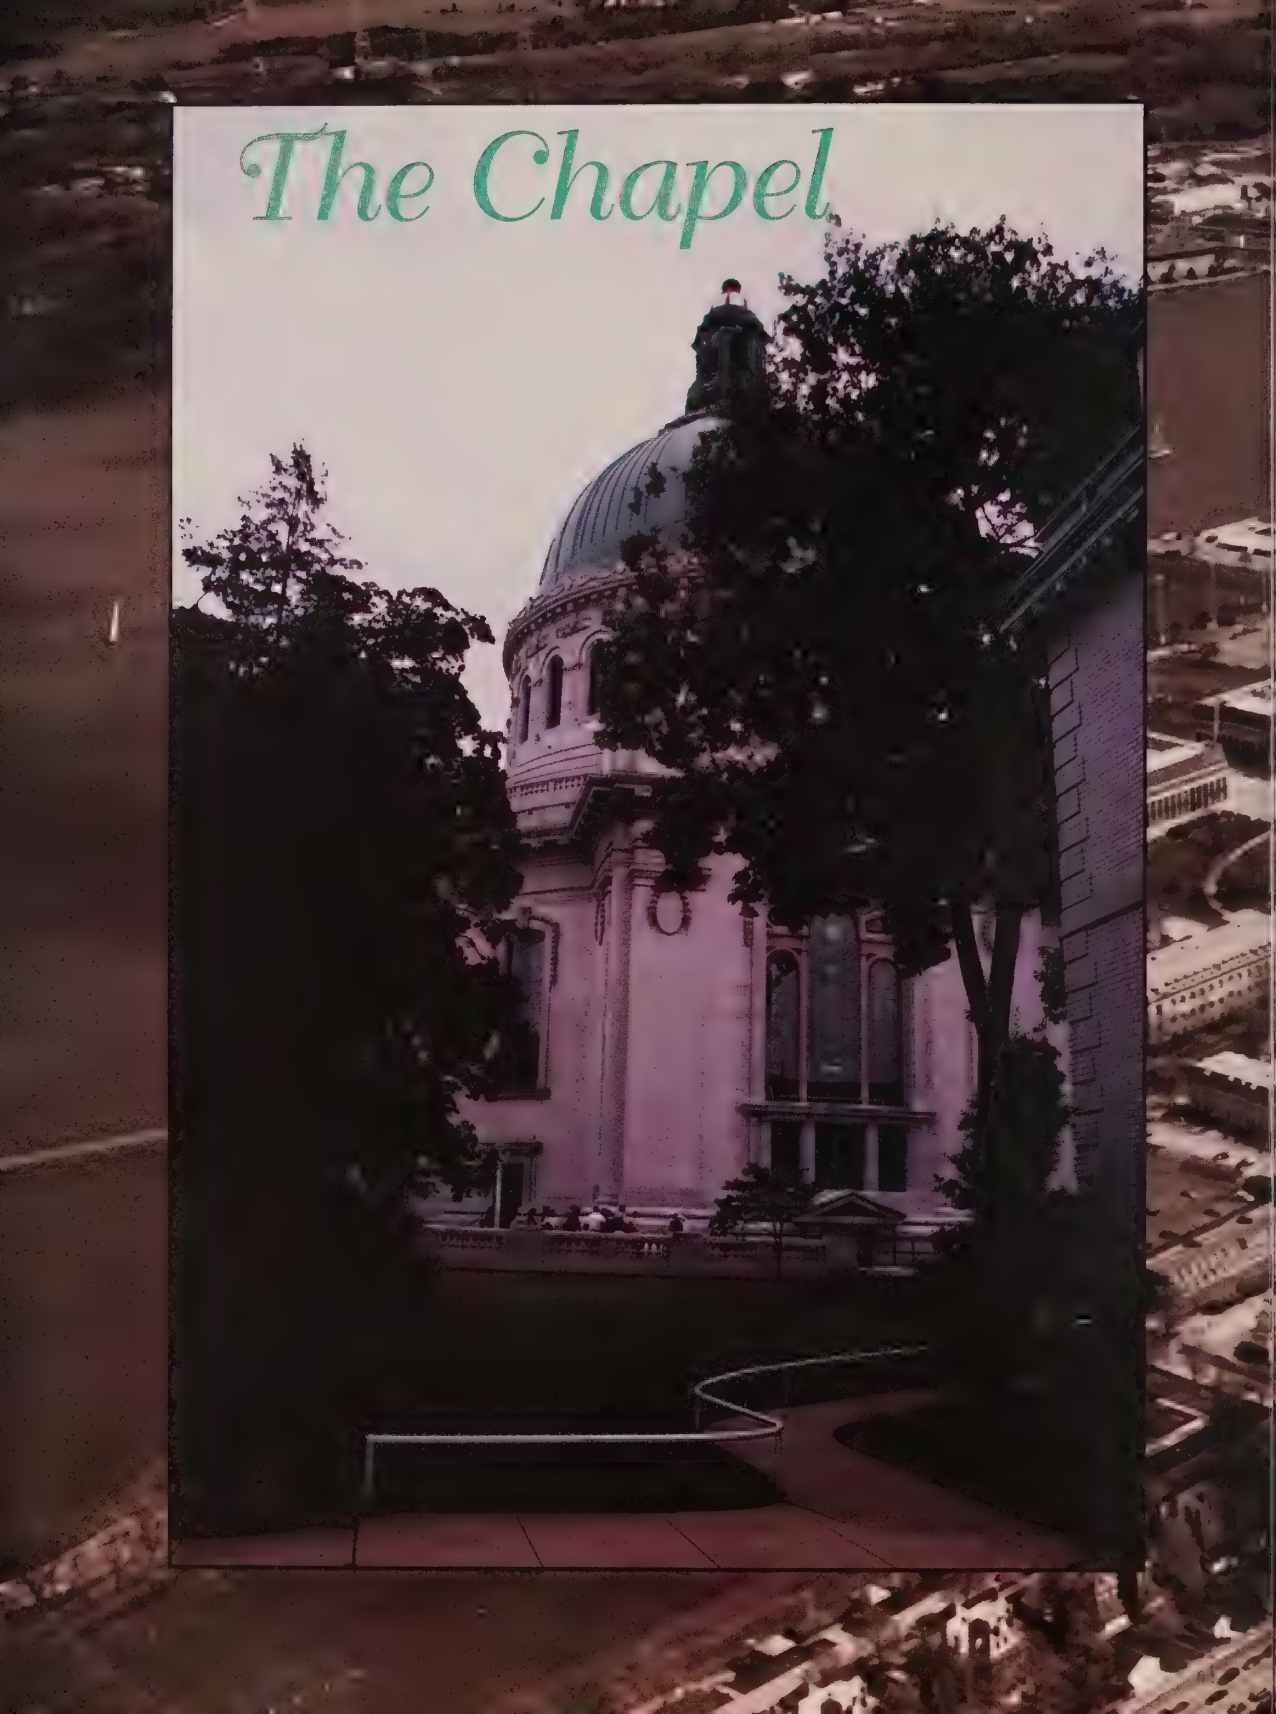


Gate 3



Gate 3, located to the left of the Administration building, is the home of Bilger's Gate. Bilger's Gate recieved its name many years ago when Midshipmen who could not make it through the Academy, would turn in their dismissal papers at the guard house next to the gate and leave through that exit. Today's tradition says that any Midshpimen who passes through the gate will not graduate.

The Chapel

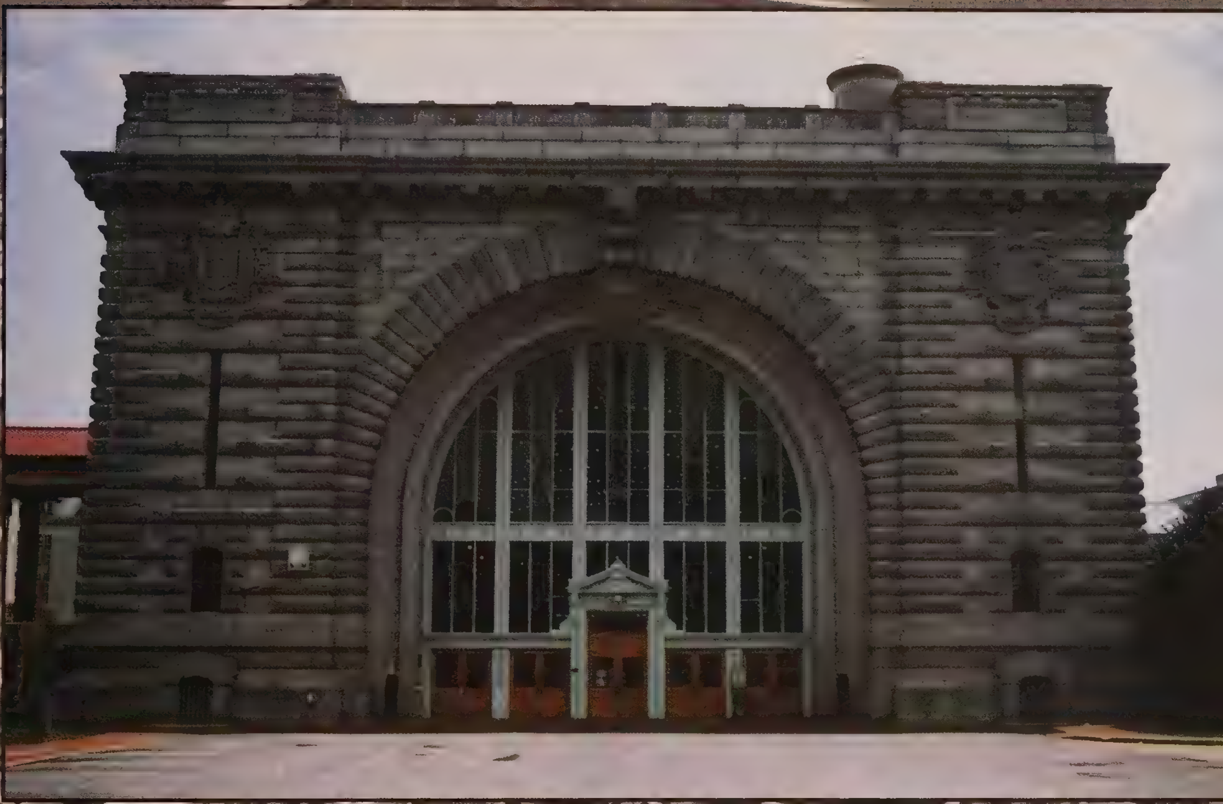


Administration Building

The Superintendent and the Academic Dean both have their offices in the Administration building. Located between Gate 3 and the Chapel, the Administartion building also holds the Public Affairs Office and the Judge Advocate. It is one of the only buildings on the yard that is not named after someone or something.

Superintendent's House

Dahlgren Hall



Dahlgren Hall, named for Rear Admiral John A. Dahlgren, was located on the water before the Academy grew to its current size. Inside the hall is Drydock Restaurant and a dance hall, reception arena, and during the winter, it has an ice skating rink.

Bancroft Hall

With 4.8 miles of corridors, Bancroft Hall is one of the largest dormitories [illegible] world. [illegible] home to all of the Midshipmen and encompasses thirty-three acres of floor space. Twenty-two of the rooms are dedicated to Medal of Honor winners of World War II, Korea, and Vietnam. The hall, as it is referred to by all midshipmen, is named after George Bancroft, Secretary of the Navy from 1845-1846.

The Rotunda

Michelson Hall

Michelson Hall, located opposite of Chauvenet Hall, is the home of the science classrooms and laboratories. It was named after Naval Academy Graduate Albert A. Michelson. Michelson was awarded the Nobel Prize for the studies on the wavelength of light, which he conducted on the Yard.

Chauevent Hall

Chauvenet Hall is the primary building for mathematical and computer classes. It is named after William Chauvenet, a famous mathematician and a strong influence in early Naval Academy education. It is located inland of Ingram Field and seaward of the Stribling Walk.

Rickover

Rickover Hall is named after Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, the [illegible] Navy." Admiral Rickover was well known for his interesting [illegible] whether or not officers were suited for jobs on submarines [illegible] nucle[illegible]ered vessels. Rickover Hall houses all of the engineering cla[illegible] labor[illegible]

RICKOVER HALL

The Clock Tower

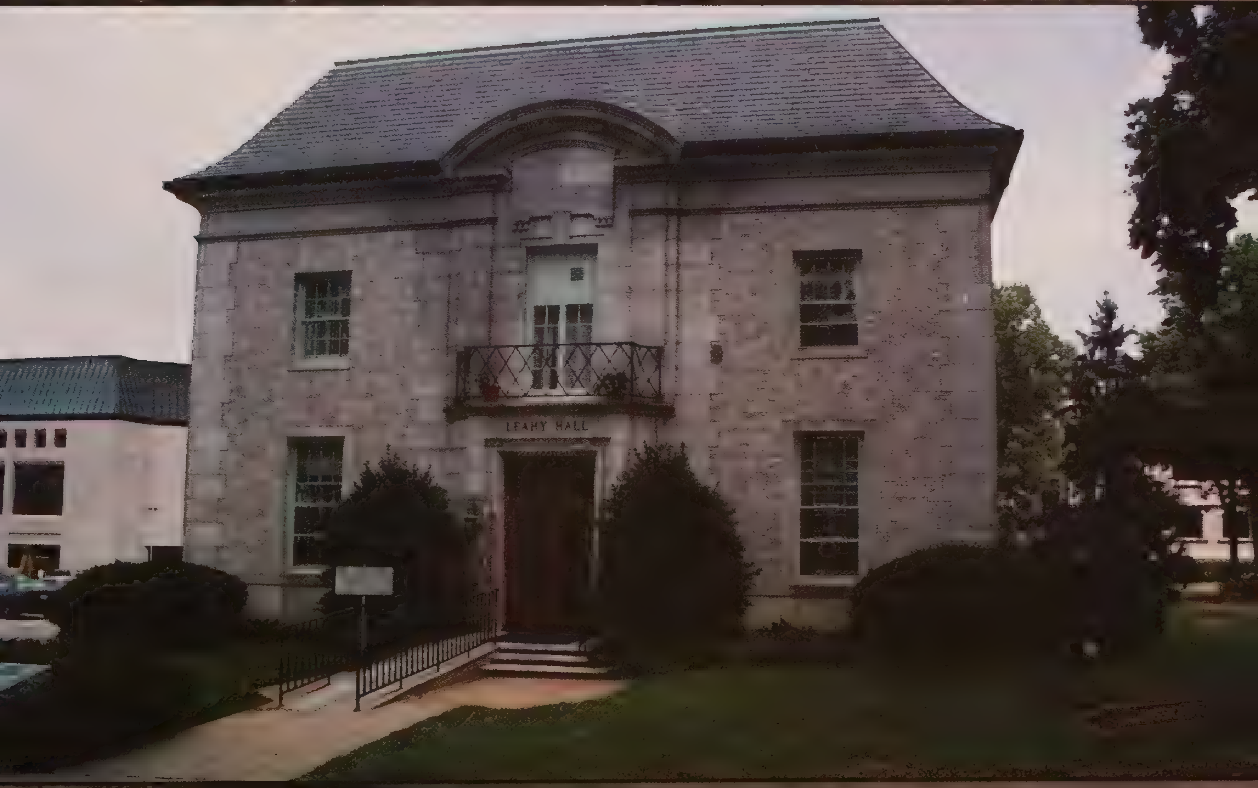
The clock tower is located in Mahan Hall, the theatrical Building on the yard. It is the center building of a trio that includes Sampson Hall, the Humanities are housed in this building, and Maury Hall which is where more of the engineering classes are held.

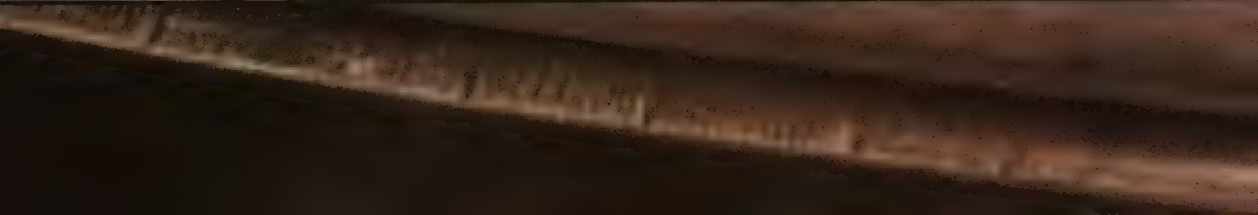
Hospital Point

Hospital Point, which is really named Forrest Sherman Field, is named in honor of Admiral Forrest P. Sherman. Sherman was a former Chief Of Naval Operations. The fields on Hospital point are used for intramurals and club sports such as Rugby.

Leahy Hall

[illegible] Guidance Office and Admissions are located in [illegible]. The hall, located next to The Tripolitan Monument, is [illegible] Admiral William Leahy, President Roosevelt's Chief of Staff during World War II.





The Officer and Faculty Club

The Officer and Faculty Club is available to all officers and faculty for a quiet meal, to sit at the bar, or to hold various receptions. It is also a popular hangout for First Class Midshipmen on nights when they have liberty.

Tripolitan Monument

The Tripolitan Monument is dedicated to Somers, Wadsworth, Israel, Caldewell, Dorsey, and Decatur, six officers who were killed in 1801. Other than Tecumseh, this elaborate monument is one of the most well known monuments on the yard.

2000 had graduation.
2001 had ring dance.
2003 had Herndon, so the only class left was 2002. The youngster Luau gave the class something to look forward to during commissioning week. It provided a chance for youngsters to bond with each other and to pull out some of their favorite Hawaiian gear. Complete with bands, swimming pools, and pink flamingoes, this year's Youngster Luau was an awesome tribute to the Academy's newest tradition, started by the class of '01.

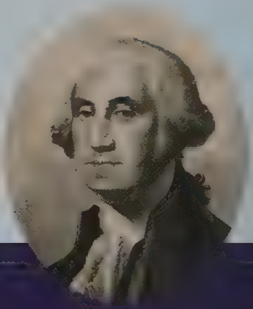
Commander in Chief

Gen. George Washington
1st President of the United States 1789-97



The President's chief duty is to make sure that the laws and rights stated in the Constitution are faithfully executed. The President is the Commander in Chief of the nation's armed forces, in times of peace as well as war. He has at all times unlimited authority to direct the movements of land, sea, air and nuclear forces.

42nd President of the United States
The Honorable William J. Clinton

Sworn: January, 1993.
Born: Hope, Arkansas.
Education: Bachelor's in International Affairs from Georgetown University. Rhodes Scholar, Oxford University. Law Degree from Yale University.
Previous Service: Elected Arkansas attorney general (1976-78). Elected governor of Arkansas (1978-80). Re-elected (1986-92).

HNR William J. Clinton

Secretary of Defense

HNR James V. Forrestal
1st Secretary of Defense 1947-49

The Secretary of Defense is the principal defense policy adviser to the President and is responsible for the formulation of general defense policy and policy related to all matters of direct concern to the DoD, and for the execution of approved policy.

20th Secretary of Defense

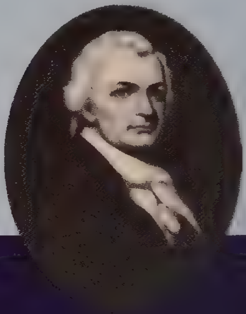
The Honorable William S. Cohen

Sworn: January 24, 1997.
Born: Bangor, Maine.
Education: B.A. in Latin from Bowdoin College. L.L.B. from Boston University Law School.
Previous Service: U.S. Senator and Congressman from the State of Maine.
Senate Armed Services & Governmental Affairs Committee (1979-97). Senate Select Committee on Intelligence (1983-91). Served as Vice Chairman (1987-91).

HNR William S. Cohen

Secretary of the Navy

Benjamin Stoddert
1st Secretary of the Navy 1798-1801



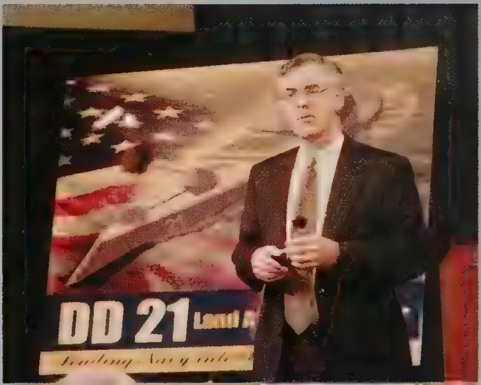
The Secretary of the Navy is responsible for, and has the authority under to conduct all the affairs of the Department of the Navy. He is also responsible for the formulation and implementation of policies and programs that are consistent with the national security policies and objectives established by the President and the Secretary of Defense.

71st Secretary of the Navy

The Honorable Richard Danzig

Sworn: November 16, 1998
Education: B.A. from Reed College. J.D. from Yale Law School. Bachelor of Philosophy and Doctor of Philosophy degrees in history from Oxford University; Rhodes Scholar.
Prior Service: Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower, Reserve Affairs and Logistics. Partner of the national law firm Latham & Watkins. 26th Under Secretary of the Navy. Adjunct Professor at Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, and a Traveling Fellow of the Center for International Political Economy.

HNR Richard Danzig



Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff

GEN Omar Bradley, USA
1st Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff
1949-53

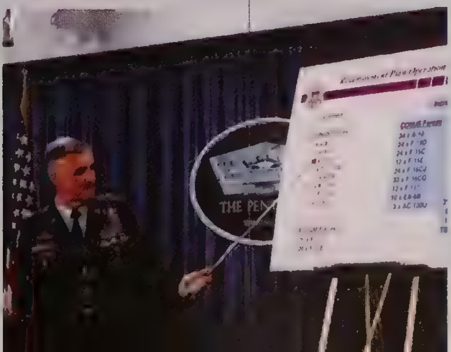
The Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff serves as the principal military advisor to the President, the Secretary of Defense, and the National Security Council. Prior to becoming Chairman, he served as Commander in Chief of the United States Special Operations Command.

14th Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

General Henry H. Shelton, USA

Sworn: October 1, 1997
Born: Tarboro, North Carolina.
Education: B.S. from North Carolina State. M.S. from Auburn University. Air Command & Staff College. National War College.
Prior Service: Operations Directorate; Joint Staff. Assistant Division Commander for Operations; 101st Airborne Division. Commander: 82d Airborne Division. Commander: XVIIIth Airborne Corps. Commander: Joint Task Force (Operation Uphold Democracy). Commander in Chief of the U.S. Special Operations Command.

GEN Henry H. Shelton, USA



Chief of Naval Operations

ADM William S. Benson, USN
1st Chief of Naval Operations 1915-19

The Chief of Naval Operations is the senior military officer in the Navy. He is responsible to the Secretary of the Navy for all aspects of the Navy. The CNO is the principal naval advisor to the President and to the Secretary of the Navy on the conduct of war. He is the principal advisor and naval executive to the Secretary on the conduct of naval activities of the Department of the Navy.

26th Chief of Naval Operations

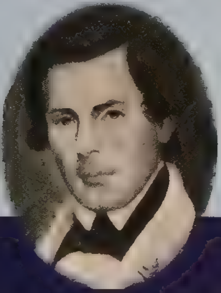
Admiral Jay L. Johnson, USN

Sworn: August 1996.
Born: Great Falls, Montana.
Education: B.S. U.S. Naval Academy. designated: Naval Aviator.
Previous Service: Assistant Chief of Naval Personnel for Distribution. Commander: Carrier Group Eight. Commander: Second Fleet. Vice Chief of Naval Operations.

ADM Jay L. Johnson, USN

Commandant of
The United States Marine Corps

MAJ Samuel Nicholas, USMC
1st Commandant 1744-90



The Commandant of the Marine Corps is the senior military officer in the Marine Corps. He is responsible to the Secretary of the Navy for the command, utilization of resources and operating efficiency of the Marine Corps.

32nd Commandant of the Marine Corps.

General James L. Jones, USMC

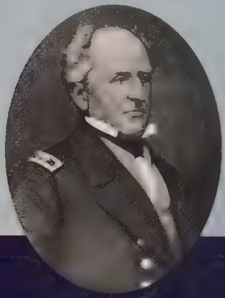
Sworn: July 1, 1999.
Born: Kansas City, Missouri.
Education: B.S. in Foreign Service from Georgetown University. National War College.
Previous Service: Deputy Director, J-3, U.S. European Command. Chief of Staff, Joint Task Force Provide Promise. Commanding General 2nd Marine Division. Marine Forces Atlantic. Director Expeditionary Warfare Division (N85). Deputy Chief of Staff for Plans. Policies, & Operations. Military Assistant to Secretary of Defense.

GEN James L. Jones, USMC

Superintendent of the United States Naval Academy

VADM John R. Ryan, USN

ADM Franklin Buchanan, USN
1st Superintendant 1845-1847



The Academy's Superintendent, a Navy admiral , is the equivalent of a college president. He oversees all of the school's functions. The Superintendent's principal deputies include a civilian Academic Dean, and the Commandant of Midshipmen.

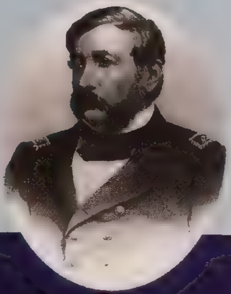
56th Superintendent of The United States Naval Academy

Vice Admiral John R. Ryan, USN

Sworn: June 4, 1998.
Born: Mountainhome, Pennsylvania.
Education: B.S. U.S. Naval Academy (1967). Designated: Naval Aviator. M.S. in Administration from George Washington University Program for Senior in National and International Security at Harvard University.
Previous Service: Commander: Maritime Surveillance and Reconnaissance Force; U.S. Sixth Fleet. Commander: Fleet Air Mediterranean. Commander, Maritime Air Forces, Mediterranean.

Commandant of Midshipmen

LT J. Ward, USN
1st Executive Officer



The Academy's Commandant of Mishipmen, Captain, serves as dean of students and supervisor of all military and professional training.

78th Commandant of Midshipmen

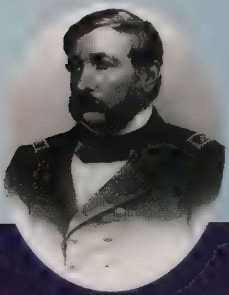
Captain Samuel J. Locklear, USN

Sworn: December 20, 1999
Education: B.S. in Operations Analysis from U.S. Naval Academy (1977). Designated: Surface Warfare Officer. Master" s in Public Administration from George Washington University. National Defense Industrial College of the Armed Forces.
Previous Service: Chief of the Regional Engagement and Presence Joint Warfare Capabilities Assessment Branch in Strategic Plant and Policy Directories of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Executive Assistant to the Vice Chief of Naval Operations.

CAPT Samuel J. Locklear, USN

Commandant of Midshipmen

RADM Gary Roughead, USN



LT J. Ward, USN
1st Executive Officer.

The Academy's Commandant of Mishipmen, serves as dean of students and supervisor of all military and professional training.

77th Commandant of Midshipmen

Rear Admiral Gary Roughead, USN

Sworn: August 15, 1997.

Education: B.S. from the U.S. Naval Academy 1973.

Previous Service: Flag Lieutenant to Commander, Naval Surface Force, U.S. Atlantic Fleet. Surface Warfare analyst in the Navy's Office of Program Appraisal. Administrative aide to the Secretary of the Navy. Executive assistant to the Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Pacific Command. Commissioning commanding officer of the AEGIS destroyer USS Barry. Commanding officer of the USS Port Royal serving as area air defense commander for the Nimitz Battle Group.

Academic DEAN and Provost

1st Academic Dean and Provost
Arthur Drought

William C. Miller, Ph. D. returned to his alma mater as Academic Dean in 1997 after having served as Associate Provost for Research and Economic Development at West Virginia University. There, he was responsible for providing institution-wide leadership for the university's research program, and for developing and guiding the university's contribution to economic development throughout the state. In addition, he was a member of the university's teaching faculty. At the same time, Dean Miller served as Executive Director and Vice Chairman of the Board for the West Virginia University Research Corporation, a private non-profit corporation chartered to support and foster the research mission at the university. He also served on the Board of Jobs Investment Trust, a legislatively chartered venture capital firm investing in start-up companies in West Virginia, and as Chair of the Avionics and Communications panel of the Air Force Scientific Advisory Board.

Before his arrival at West Virginia in 1993, Dr. Miller served in a variety of assignments in the U.S. Navy, the most prominent of which were in the areas of research and development. From 1990 to 1993, then Rear Admiral Miller served as the Chief of Naval Research in Washington DC, and chief executive of the Office of Naval Research. He also served as chief executive of the Navy's corporate laboratory, the Naval Research Laboratory; founding director of both the Navy's low observables (stealth) technology office and the DOD counter low observables office; captain of two naval vessels; and service on the electrical engineering faculty and as executive assistant to the Superintendent at the U.S. Naval Academy.

Dr. Miller is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy. He earned his Masters and Doctor of Philosophy degrees, both in Electrical Engineering at Stanford University.

Vice Academic Dean

William B. Garrett, Ph. D.

Education: B.S. United States Naval Academy '59. M.S. International Affairs, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Ph.D. International Relations, Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies. U.S. Naval War College.

USNA Assignments: '83-'86 Director, Division of U.S. and International Studies; Chairman of Admissions Board; Associate Editor, United States Naval Institute; President of the Annapolis Chapter, USNA Alumni Association; Board of Control of the USNA Athletic Association. '86-'89 Appointed Associate Dean for Administration.

Associate Dean for Faculty

Michael C. Halbig, Ph.D.

Education: Undergraduate at Albion College and University of Hamburg. Ph.D. German Language and Literature, Yale University. Commission as Ensign, U.S. Naval Reserve.

USNA Assignments: '76 Taught German in Language Studies Department; '84 Named Chairman, Language Studies Department; '89 Appointed Associate Dean for Faculty where he is currently in charge of academic cost center responsibilities for matériel and personnel resources, both military and civilian, and an annual budget, including military personnel costs, of $50M. Dr. Halbig is author or co-editor of three books and several scholarly articles.

Associate Dean for Academic Affairs

Frederic I. Davis, Ph.D.

Education: S.B. Chemistry, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Ph.D. Mathematical Physics, Brandeis University.

USNA Assignments: '68 Taught in Mathematics Department; '82 Named Chairman, Mathematics Department; '92 Appointed Associate Dean for Academic Affairs where he currently advises the Academic Dean and Provost on and is responsible for matters relating to the curriculum and the progress of midshipmen through the academic program.

Nimitz LIBRARY

The United States Naval Academy is the Navy's undergraduate college. The Nimitz Library exists to support the mission of the Naval Academy by providing excellent library service on behalf of teaching, research, and other scholarly activity. To this end the Library staff work closely with the faculty to achieve the Library's goals.

Librarian

Richard H. Werking

The Goals of Nimitz Library are to select, acquire, and make available the recorded information which is required to meet the academic needs of midshipmen and faculty.
To provide... The best possible bibliographic access to these materials. The best possible reference service. The best possible physical access to needed information. A suitable environment for research and study, and for the preservation of materials. The best possible access to relevant information located elsewhere. Maintain a collection of unique or rare materials with emphasis on the naval history. A work environment which encourages individual development. Provide and develop the resources to enable the Library to accomplish its goals and mission.

Division of ENGINEERING & WEAPONS

The Division of Engineering and Weapons is similar in organization to a College of Engineering in a civilian university. A Director, historically a Navy Captain, has charge of five academic departments. The Division is primarily housed in Rickover Hall, completed in 1974 and dedicated by Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, regarded as the father of our modern nuclear Navy. The Division is supported by an array of sophisticated laboratory facilities, with state of the art equipment not available in many undergraduate or even graduate academic institutions. Highlights of the facilities include: A complete aerodynamics laboratory, including a supersonic wind tunnel capable of Mach 4.2, a full-size helicopter rotor test cell, and a propulsion cell supporting turbine, reciprocating and rocket engines. A hydrodynamics laboratory including a 380 foot towing tank, several smaller towing tanks, and a circulating water channel to test propeller and rudder design. Four state of the art Computer Aided Design (CAD) laboratories with individual high-performance workstations. A satellite ground station capable of communicating with orbiting spacecraft, including the Space Shuttle and the Russian Mir space station. An advanced materials laboratory with a Scanning Electron Microscope (SEM) capable of magnifying objects up to 300,000 times, with state of the art X-ray microanalysis capabilities. Specialized electrical engineering laboratories supporting studies in signal processing, fiber optics, and communications.

The primary purpose of the laboratories is to support the education of midshipmen. A secondary use of the laboratory facilities is to support ongoing faculty research. This research enables the faculty to stay current in their fields, and often provides an opportunity for some of the more advanced students to assist faculty members (analogous to graduate assistants in civilian universities).

Midshipmen in the Engineering and Weapons Division can pursue eight engineering majors in a total of seventeen concentration tracks.

The Aerospace Engineering Department is structured to produce naval officers who will meet the challenges of serving in such areas as naval aviation, naval research, and the Naval Space Command. The major is accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of the Accreditation Board of Engineering and Technology.

The Aerospace Department offers two specific tracks of study in aeronautics and astronautics. Once students have completed their "core curriculum" which establish an understanding in engineering, those students who select aeronautics will study topics such as aerodynamics, structures, propulsion, and flight vehicle performance. Students in the astronautics track will focus their studies on such topics as the space environment, astrodynamics, spacecraft systems, and spacecraft attitude dynamics and control. Both tracks conclude with a design course which allows midshipmen to apply their engineering knowledge to the design of an aero or space flight vehicle.

The Naval Academy's aerospace laboratory facilities are some of the most advanced and extensive in the country. These facilities include structures, propulsion and rotor labs, various winds tunnels with flow velocities ranging from subsonic to supersonic, computer labs, the Satellite Artificial Intelligence Laboratory (SAIL), and the U.S. Naval Academy satellite tracking station.

The Electrical Engineering major is one of the seven engineering majors at the U.S. Naval Academy which has been accredited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology.

Electrical Engineering is one of the cornerstone disciplines that will shape the Navy and Marine Corps well into the future. The major offers a solid grounding in the fundamental concepts of electrical engineering, as well as the opportunity to specialize in Digital Computer Systems, Communications Systems, Microwave Systems, and Solid State Design. The Navy needs engineers trained in these concepts to lead in the development of the Integrated Electric Drive System for ships and microelectronics, the foundation of all future electronic systems.

The student actively pursues application of classroom concepts in the laboratory. The department has extensive laboratories in fiber optics, microwave theory with radar applications, design and development of solid state devices (transistors), digital and analog communications, integration of digital hardware and software, electro-mechanical energy conversion and electrical engineering design. The electrical engineering department is constantly updating all laboratories with leading edge technology.

The electrical engineering design laboratory is part of the department's capstone courses in design where the various elements of design, which are integrated into the EE major's curriculum through design oriented problems and small projects, are brought together into a significant engineering project.

Tomorrow's Navy must operate on, below, and just above the surface of the sea utilizing a variety of ships, submarines, deep submergence vehicles and diving equipment while performing a multitude of missions in defense, research, exploration and exploitation of earth's last frontier - its oceans. The essential ingredient to the success of these missions is Man. To develop naval officers capable of performing effectively in this complex environment is the goal of the Naval Architecture and Ocean Engineering Department (NA&OE). In endeavoring to prepare officers to meet the Navy's present and future needs, the Department offers ABET accredited degrees in Naval Architecture and Ocean Engineering - each an interdisciplinary field involving the application of engineering principles relating to the ocean environment. These marine-oriented programs of study are supported by the latest in facilities at the Academy and are taught by an experienced staff of dedicated professional faculty. The knowledge of basic engineering principles, their practical application and the research and design insights provided through these majors offer a well-balanced preparation for the ready assimilation of young officers into the fleet as well as a basis for post-graduate studies.

The mission of the Mechanical Engineering Department at the U. S. Naval Academy is to educate young men and women in the broad fundamentals of this discipline, while preparing them to assume responsibilities in any of the warfare specialties of the U. S. Navy and the U. S. Marine Corps. Immediate graduates, after training in a warfare specialty, will assume positions of responsibility involving the operation and maintenance of high technology weapons systems and platforms. As these officers progress through their careers, many will assume positions of responsibility as managers of weapons systems development and procurement. The facts dictate a program that emphasizes a broad spectrum of undergraduate studies. The program thus includes study in solid and fluid mechanics, dynamics, thermodynamics and energy systems, materials engineering and a significant emphasis on electrical engineering and control systems fundamentals.

The program takes seriously the need to develop in its graduates a sound understanding of the design process and its importance in the success of engineering activity through a series of four sequential courses, considered the "design backbone," beginning in the first semester of the junior year, and ending with a capstone design course in the final semester. Other courses which are primarily oriented towards the analysis of engineering science, provide direct support to the design backbone.

The Systems Engineering major is one of the seven engineering majors at the U. S. Naval Academy that is accredited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology. The Systems Engineering major at the Naval Academy has been rated number one in the nation for over fifteen consecutive years by the Gorman Report.

Systems Engineering is an interdisciplinary major whose primary objective is to provide an overall understanding of the analysis and design of complete engineering systems. This is accomplished through the study of such topics as electronics, fluidics, hydraulics, mechanics and computer engineering. The emphasis is on the mathematical modeling, analysis, synthesis and control of such systems and on their simulation using the department's extensive computing facilities.

This integrated approach means that the Systems Engineer is exceptionally well prepared to operate, maintain and troubleshoot sophisticated systems in both military and civilian environments. No matter what the system is (fire control, transportation, social-economic), the performance optimization that is so crucial to success will be increasingly due to the efforts of Systems Engineers.

MATHEMATICS & SCIENCE

Albert A. Michelson experimented on the measurement of the speed of light, initiated while he was a military instructor at USNA. These studies advanced the science of physics and resulted in his selection as a Nobel Laureate in science.

The Division of Mathematics & Science provides foundational knowledge in Mathematics and Science for aspiring naval officers. The core courses of Mathematics, Chemistry, and Physics are taught to all midshipmen to aid in their understanding of the universal scientific principles basic to modern technology and to enable them to succeed in any of the Academy's technical majors. The Division also provides the full educational value of majors for those midshipmen who choose to specialize in the fields of Chemistry, Computer Science, General Science, Mathematics, Oceanography, Physics, or Quantitative Economics.

The chemistry major at the Naval Academy provides midshipmen with training in all of the discipline's traditional fields, leading to a Bachelor of Science degree certified by the American Chemical Society.

The Chemistry Department at the Naval Academy has one of the finest undergraduate chemistry laboratories in the nation. Skilled technicians maintain the laboratories, assist the faculty and help midshipmen solve practical problems in the labs.

Faculty have a wealth of experience, not only in their academic understanding of chemistry but also in the practical application of chemistry in the Navy and Marine Corps. Chemistry majors will find that their civilian and military instructors can make the study of chemistry a highlight of their learning experience at the Naval Academy.

The Mission of the Computer Science Department is to provide high-quality Computer Science education to our midshipmen in direct support of the mission of the US Naval Academy, and to provide computer service courses as needed throughout the Academy complex.

Midshipmen who major in Computer Science earn a Bachelor's Degree in Computer Science after completing 43 semester hours in computer courses. Our curriculum is fully accredited by the Computer Science Accreditation Board. Our average class size is 15 students. Students can acquire an expertise in a specific area which include Computer Architecture, Software Engineering, Artificial Intelligence, Computer Graphics, Computer Networks. Midshipmen may also participate in summer internships providing research and professional experience at DoD agencies and research laboratories such as Defense Information Systems Agency, and Naval Research Laboratory Communications Branch.

Our faculty is exceptionally qualified. Civilian professors hold Ph.D.'s, and involve midshipmen in all academic programs. Military Officers hold advanced degrees in Computer Science and bring Fleet experience into the classroom. Both can choose to participate in their own faculty research interests.

Mathematics

CHAUVENET HALL

The Mathematics Department has offered a B.S. degree in Mathematics since the 1960's. There are currently about sixty faculty members of which about 45 are civilian professors and about 15 are active duty Naval or Marine Corps officers. All civilians have PhDs, and are engaged in scholarly activities, such as preparing materials that support classroom presentations, writing for technical journals, providing professional services, working on projects sponsored by governmental agencies. Elective offerings in mathematics include a wide range of theoretical and applied courses. The mathematics major allows concentration in "pure" mathematics, operations analysis or scientific computing. For selected students an "honor" program is available and the opportunity to conduct independent research with a faculty advisor. The Mathematics department is aggressively responsive to the diverse backgrounds of midshipmen and the new educational ideas sweeping the mathematical community. It strongly supports methods of instruction based on small classroom sections and encourages the use of modern technology. Without losing sight of the importance of factual knowledge and analytical skills, the department seeks to prepare graduates for a vital naval career by providing an educational experience that arouses intellectual curiosity and develops critical thinking.

An interdisciplinary science major, oceanography involves the study of meteorology, geophysics, physics, mathematics, chemistry, biology and geology. The oceanography major is designed to give future naval officers practical and theoretical knowledge of the ocean environment as it affects naval operations and to build a sound academic foundation for future graduate study in any technical discipline.

More than 25 percent of the major's required courses are within the oceanography specialty and cover chemistry, biology, geology, geophysical fluid dynamics, sound propagation in the ocean, the study of waves and tides and the use of satellites in oceanography.

Our Oceanography Club is a student chapter of the Marine Technology Society. All midshipmen, regardless of major, have the opportunity to participate in the chapter's activities. Club members enjoy scuba dives as well as field trips on the Chesapeake. The annual Oceanography Club dining-out is always popular.

The Physics Major

The major program in physics presents fundamental physical concepts and principles in such a way as to emphasize their general usefulness and lays a strong foundation for further work in a broad range of technical fields. The challenge of physics lies in uniting its laws and definitions, expressed through algebra, trigonometry and calculus, with the integrative reasoning so essential in solving new problems. A bachelor of science degree is awarded.

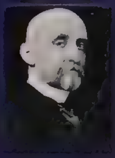
Division of HUMANITIES & SOCIAL SCIENCES

The programs of the Division of Humanities and Social Sciences introduce midshipmen to the study of human behavior in all its varied manifestations. Each discipline examines humankind through a different lens while emphasizing critical thinking, the careful collection and analysis of evidence, and the importance of clear oral and written expression.

Midshipmen majoring in the Humanities and Social Sciences earn a Bachelor of Science degree by completing course requirements and pursuing advanced electives within their discipline. Students also take a wide range of leadership and professional courses in combination with a core engineering curriculum. Our graduates combine highly refined independent thinking and analysis skills with a foundation in math and engineering that sets them apart from their peers. Upon their commissioning, our students are academically and professionally prepared to pursue a career path in any branch of the Navy or Marine Corps.



Alfred T. Mahan graduated from USNA in 1859. As author of two famous books, writing for the Navy as well as USNA, he stressed the role navies have played in national policies and world affairs clear for the first time.
In effect, he gave the US Naval Academy a philosophical reason for being. Mahan Hall on the "Yard" is his namesake.

Economics

The Economics Department helps prepare the Naval Officer in the most fundamental lessons of resource scarcity relative to potential uses… "Thinking Economically." The Economics program provides understanding of the economic institutions and economic systems each officer is pledged to defend. The department also seeks to provide knowledge of world resource endowments, industrial patterns, trade flows, and the nature and the interdependency of the world's diverse economic systems in order to provide a useful background in dealing with the citizens and representatives of other countries that U.S. officers will inevitably encounter. The department also seeks to provide a major that also provides a strong set of mid-career skills, in particular, for the midshipman who may attend service schools such as the Naval War College, staff billet assignments, postgraduate training in management, national security, and intelligence, and future subspecialty designations in management and politico-military or stategic planning.

The English Department offers a wide array of courses: midshipmen study everything from Homer to Hamlet, from Marlowe to Morrison, from Dickens to Dickinson. The English Department has a mix of 23 civilians and eleven officers currently teaching. One hundred seventy-seven majors in the department will graduate with a BS degree. The department offers an honors major as well as opportunities for independent study or graduate study at local universities.

The USNA Department has twenty-four civilians and sixteen officers on its faculty. We teach about thirty-five different courses, gathered into four topical areas. Virtually the whole waterfront is covered, although we are strongest in American, European, and military-naval history. All majors must take two seminars, which are designed to teach you the academic ropes. For the rest, you can pick and choose from among all courses, being careful to meet the distribution requirements providing you with an introductory knowledge of the main fields. Our majors are free to choose their own courses to the maximum degree possible, and I am sure you will find courses appealing to your personal interests.

History majors have opportunities outside the classroom as well. There are annual field trips to Civil War battlefields, for instance. Several teachers take classes to museums in Washington and Baltimore. The midshipmen have a History Club, and those with high averages are invited to join Phi Alpha Theta, the national honor society. Both organizations are active in sponsoring visits by various experts, who lead debates with midshipmen and faculty over topics that are of current interest. History is one of the few majors with an "Honors" program. The Honors program rewards midshipmen with high CQPRs by letting them take extra classes and write theses on topics of their choice—that's our idea of a good time!

Language STUDIES

Department Chairman

Sharon D. Voros

The Language Studies Department offers courses through the fourth-year college level in French, German, Japanese, Russian, Spanish. First- and second-year courses help midshipmen acquire proficiency in listening, speaking, reading and writing the language of their choice. Third-year courses continue building language proficiency while introducing midshipmen to the culture and literature of the language area. Fourth-year courses presuppose linguistic competence and concentrate on more specialized topics in the history, contemporary society, and literature of the countries where the language is spoken. Acquisition of language and culture is supported extensively by technologies like video and computer-based multimedia wherever appropriate.

Thanks to a major bequest from Capt. Marshall H. Cox, USN (ret.), midshipmen who have demonstrated outstanding promise in foreign language courses have opportunities to study languages in the countries where they are spoken.

Political SCIENCE

Department Chairman

Arthur R. Rachwald

The Political Science department offers the full range of political science courses plus a number of more uncommon offerings such as Low Intensity Conflict, Civil-Military Relations and Intelligence and National Security. We offer a full range of courses on American political institutions and processes and those focusing on international relations and comparative government. Our normal faculty complement includes civilian professors and military officers. The civilian professors comprise the permanent faculty, providing stability and academic expertise to our program and maintain an extensive record of publication, professional society involvement and consulting. Military officers come to the department after receiving their Master's degree and generally teach for 3 years within the area of their expertise. "Permanent Military Professors" will be introduced into our faculty over the next few years, combining the best of the academic and professional worlds. The department also sponsors a number of extracurricular activities such as an active Model United Nations Club (MUN), the Naval Academy Foreign Affairs Conference (NAFAC) and a chapter of the national political science honor society, Pi Sigma Alpha.

Division of PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

The Division of Professional Development prepares midshipmen to be professional officers in the naval service. The courses offered by its academic departments — Leadership, Ethics, and Law, and Seamanship and Navigation — develop skills in the classroom environment.

The Dept. of Professional Programs provides the opportunity for midshipman to move out of the classroom and experience life at sea with operational fleets.

The staff and faculty at ProDev are comprised of both military and civilian instructors providing a diversified learning environment for the midshipman.

Division Director
CAPT Louis J. Geanuleas, USN

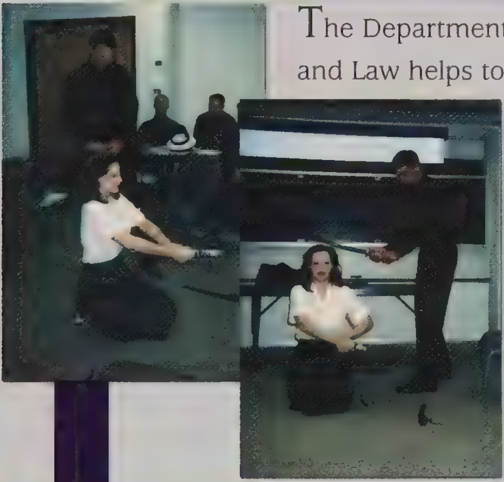
Leadership, Ethics, & LAW



The Department of Leadership, Ethics, and Law helps to mold midshipmen into future Naval and Marine Corps Officers. Courses offered include Leadership and Human Behavior, Leadership Theory and Application, Naval Law, Moral Reasoning for Naval Leaders, and Psychology.

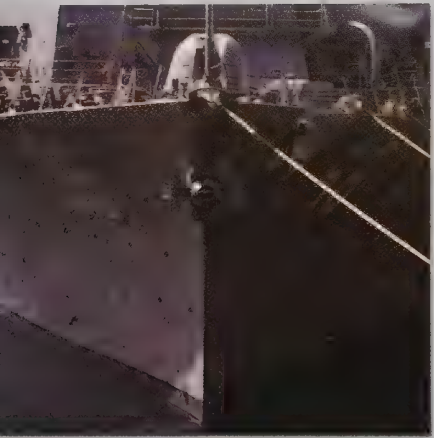
Professional PROGRAMS



The Department of Professional Programs performs three primary functions: administration of the summer training programs, assignment of graduating midshipman to Navy and Marine Corps communities, and management of Technical Programs in Luce Hall. This includes providing technical support for the Luce Hall Local Area Network (Novell and Windows NT), TASWIT warfare simulators, Luce Hall Planetarium and the electronic classrooms in Luce Hall.

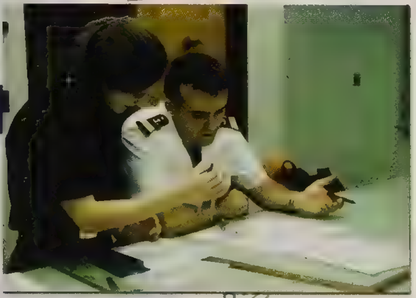
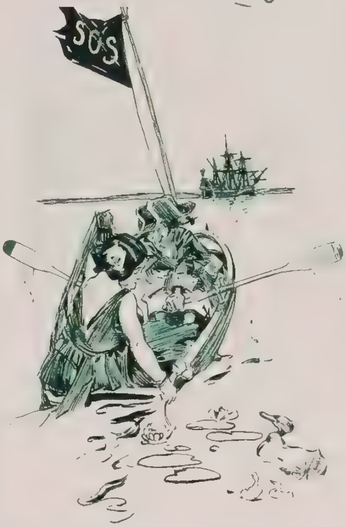
Seamanship & NAVIGATION



The Seamanship and Navigation Department is the largest department within the Division of Professional Development. The Department's curriculum provides a foundation in basic marine engineering, seamanship, ship handling, ship operations, and tactics. The core curriculum spans the midshipmen's entire four years at the Naval Academy and is designed to provide midshipmen with a broad base of knowledge, enhanced by practical summer training.



The department is led by a Surface Warfare Officer, Captain Robert Wells, USN, who joined the department in 1998 straight from command at sea. The department is manned by 26 USN officers, 1 USCG officer and 5 officers from foreign navies. All have come from operational tours and bring direct fleet experience to the Naval Academy.

SEANAV is also responsible for all Academy-related employment of the Yard Patrol Craft stationed at Naval Station Annapolis. These YP's are used extensively in the core courses and provide an excellent means for practical hands-on experience. The YP's are also used during LANTPATRAMID, the summer training program sponsored by SEANAV.

You'd be c[illegible] to wonder why [illegible] would make someone as smart as Luke pick the Academy of all places to spend the best years of his life. The girls, maybe? After all, Luke is a lover, not a fighter. In his long but wonderful years by the Severn, he's gained his love for many things: the 50's, Noxzema, buffet [illegible], puking in Bill's Burb after Buffett concerts, trying to recapture high school's Glory Days out on Rip Miller Field, his pillow, HIS half of the room, and, of course, his plebe year roommate who was nice enough to remind him why coming here was such a great idea. Now Luke's moving on to sunny Pensacola... "Oh, you're a pilot?" That's right...a Naval Aviator." --WT

Coming to the Academy, Chris was looking for something different, something out of the ordinary, something better...and this is what he found; cool chart, Dad's house, toilet, rack pisser, shoulder tap, bowling ball, "was that you?", "easy porn star", "we shouldn't do this", texas storm, turban love, "I'm not your girlfriend (slap!)", the Couch family, KA groupies, texas lottery, Cancun swing dancing, met his wife at a bar, ring dance date -0, summer scam tour, tennis balls, "have you seen this head?", hawaiian shirts at G-town, 20 MPH exit at 85, STS tattoo, Brad's slave, "I'm mad" burns, punchy suit, unnatural blonde, Maryland chicks...sweet, sleepy head, convertible, bad scene for Mrs. Mathis, White House tour, Frankie, VT every weekend, "choice of cheese", "how much do you bench?", busted by shelley, dough roller, candy striping catastrophe, Mark McGwire, top heavy, hrrrrgh, magic j-hat, delta shower, and last but not least LB, AG, ME, WM, PF, JB, CI... friends for life.

Christopher Robert Brenner
Las Vegas, NY

Dance Fever!! What is this music? Man, look at that butt! Who would have thought we'd like each other? Hey, Kel, can I have my roommate back? Where are you from, Hamburger? Do guys really like that? Let's go to the Cheesecake Factory. Hey, I really want a grasshopper! What do you do with those? Dribbling water all over your food, are you going to wear your dress? Brigade stripes, but never a striper dork.You're going to put that in a blender? Our little monkeys. The 4th. Why do we have to swim? My Mother's Pregnant!!! The ultimate lover of Peppermint patties... NY, N.Y...dancing on the dock at sunrise. Climb the stairs to see you, are you crazy?! Run Kell Run. You want to do what? Run a marathon two days from now??? Who needs to train. Army/Navy 98...You wouldn't believe what happened...I think I'm in love. Why do I have to make decisions? I'm a kid at heart! Our boys, Star Wars, and civilian dresses...Ring Dance couldn't have been better!!! You are the friend of a lifetime. You have persevered through the lows and the highs.Your loving smile embraces everyone around you. Keep your head up high, you can conquer the world. M.Y., G.C., L.A.

Lance C Day

Marine Corps Ground

Southern California born and raised, Lance arrived to spend his college youth here in Annapolis in search of Navy Basketball glory. From his humble beginnings in 20th, he quickly found his rightful home with the old 23rd crew as he adjusted to life in the "cave". Neither summer school, shades of death, shortened Christmas breaks or even Willow could break his spirit as Lance battled valiantly to the finish line. Life improved as he turned in his basketball jersey for the rack and reveled with Matt during the "high times in the roost" Ring Dance was on the highway. UMBC chicks and au pairs got him through the rough times. Luck turned at myrtle. A late-comer to the Spring Break crew he rounded out the last two years in Leedogs European vacation, then in the van-o-fun to Florida. Always entertaining, Lance found unusual uses for a riding crop, mastered the art of Karoke. A chip off the old block. Lance now leaves us to become a motivated YUT in the Marine Corps, although he will always be "Lance Day, United States Navy" at heart. See ya in 5! Love Matt, Eric, Scrabies, Trav, Blake, Leedog

Yoshi. Tenzo. [illegible] four long years here. Let's hope it wasn't all wasted time. "Wasted" or not, every minute was worth it. What a long, strange trip its been... Goofy around, Hacky- sack, juggling, snowboarding, skateboarding, surfing, video games, TV... what about homework?. Where's Yosh? Try the wardroom. You rate the rack, you know?... I'm still curious how you made it through 3/C year playing Nintendo games on your computer. Do you remember our Saturday exam that year? It's a good thing one of us woke up, even if we were already 5 minutes late. Out of the ghetto and into goat court, then in second class year we played musical rooms on 3-1. See you out there in the fleet firedog. CD, GK

What do you say about the kid who has done it all? The Blonde One, Bink, Chadwick- a man of many names, and absolutely no common sense. A frequent visitor of Chadland, where nothing, not even stopped cars, can interfere. His favorite hobbies plebe year were Sinking in 4417, sleeping, and refining his Miami work ethic.... Tried his hand at a number of different sports, before discovering his true passion- Varsity Rack. Not to say that all he did was sleep. There were also restriction musters and summer school classes to go to. The only guy who could bar hop in Manhattan and wake up without his teeth. "Hey, I think we're late for Army-Navy." "Now I don't know if its true...." A true disciple of the Big Lebowski... The king of the Eastern Shore, and the host of parties still discussed this very day. "Is there a P-3 station in Costa Rica?" One of the most kind and generous men we have ever met. He would never forget a friend- just everything else. He seems to have it all figured out-in his own mind. "Dude- It wasn't my fault!" Came into the academy a sarcastic, competitive son of a bitch. Left the academy a sarcastic, competitive son of a bitch with a few demerits. Hummell is the epitomy of practical thinking, which is apparent in his exceptional decision making. A real Southern Gentleman, Matty Garrison came to us as a locked on cadet from a respected Richmond military school and naturally became a dirt-bag Mid. Lazy from I-day minus one, this game show host was willing to share his most intimate details. "Look at this rash" and pushing his roommates out into the hallway during Plebe Summer showed us his willingness to sacrifice others. One hell of a Mexican jet ski driver. "Oh my God, you almost killed Blake!" Next year's trip, Leedog's European Disaster was much more tame. Ring Dance was made memorable by Sports Girl, the woman with a sailor's vocabulary. Without looking back, the Kennedy smile took a trip into the summer of love marked by his Sugar Momma, an Ohio duff and even a taste of the dark side(check-in-the-box). Spent Spring Break '00 in the Van-O-Fun listening to gems from The Scrabies and celebrated his birthday at a risque little cafe off I-95 "That riding crop really hurt" Good luck on your six month honeymoon with Leedog, from Plebe Summer roommates to frigatemates. Lindewho, Lindewhat, Lindewhen, Lindenau...Midn "Face" came into plebe summer on top of his game. And left plebe year with a few alpha codes. Despite his set back, he pushed forward and became the Midshipman we all love today. Going out on the weekends, we could always count on him to have someone by his side.. No matter what she looked like. "I like my women brown, yellow, puerto rican and hatian." And on the dance floor, he moved like Ricky Martin. Whether it was the moth, the gorilla, or some spur of the moment inspiration, he definitely knew the moves- he always knew the moves. We'll never forget his vodka and cranberry, growing up in Gambrillis, the rice burner, Angela, his around the way turn classmate, Robyn, his better half from exit 7, the love he had for his sister, and the first time I met him- on the bulkhead. All in all, Chris was a great friend to everyone, someone you could always count on. Whether to take you to the airport, pick you up, or even take the hit with the ugly chick....he was always there to lend the hand and be a friend in support. Coming to the banks of the Severn from the great Lone Star state, absent the accent, but not the state flag on his shorts. Simply called The Runj. Plebe year, his purpose on the track team was comic relief, but as a youngster he figured out that he could run pretty well too. Even Coach Al couldn't take the Lone Star off his chest, so he covered it with seven N-Stars instead. The Runj never missed the chance to share a joke, recite any song verbatim, or recall any movie line. Would laugh at anything but was deadly serious about running, especially on the track. Could drive through South Carolina like Petty, or pickup women like Wilt in Panama City. No matter how hard he tried, though, he couldn't make an enemy, a trait that has served him well on the Astro-track. Talked of black holes and space dynamics, but his QPR gravitated around 2.0 and was static. Pretty selective with his music: "Look Ryan, I'm not going to join the Dave Matthews Cult with you!" Not easy to tick him off, but the surest way is to badmouth the Texas Rangers. He ran like the wind and was always a friend. After four great years, he's finally gone and on his way to P-cola. Good luck, The Runj. Hope to see you soon.

Matthew, or the guy simply known as Shook, was born into a military family in Corpus Christi TX in 77. However, the family farm in Missouri is his true home. Shook first got the notion of joining the Navy as a freshman in high school and finally DEPped into Nuclear Power following graduation. Apparently Shook didn't upset the gods too much and a year later he was chopping through the halls of his home away from home. At home, Shook enjoys the outdoors and working on old cars. While at the Naval Academy, Shook was the Vice President of the American Nuclear Society, Company Training Officer, Platoon Commander, an editor for the Lucky Bag and a member of the Trap and Skeet team. Shook majored in the last true major at the Academy, Marine Engineering. As one of the last twelve Marine Engineers, Shook saw the steam plant come to an end in Rickover Lab, eagerly accepted his radiation exposure in the Radiation lab and spent many a long days during the Dark Ages in Rickover Hall.

AKA NAFAC Poster-Boy! Hey Fabio, too bad we had to twist your arm and almost cut off your thumb to keep you from going to Penn State. Who would've guessed it with all those stripes you wear from your battlefield promotion. Good luck fly boy. We wonder if you'll ever find a girl prettier than you. Doubt it. Here's some good advice to live by: don't ever eat double fudge chocolate brownie Ben and Jerry's while naked. It tends to get in the strangest places! Take care Kev. 4 years by the bay, eh? I'm just glad it's over with, not that I didn't get much out of it. "In this you greatly rejoice, though now for a little while, if need be, you have been grieved by various trials, that the genuineness of your faith being much more precious than gold that perishes, though it is tested by fire, may be found to praise, honor, and glory at the revelation of Jesus Christ, whom having not seen you love. Though now you do not see Him, yet believing, you rejoice with joy inexpressible and full of glory, receiving the end of your faith – the salvation of your souls." 1 Peter 1:6-9. My only regret is this: It took me 3 ½ years to realize that the best way to serve God among the people of this world, is to serve, love and have compassion upon ALL people that I am among. Yet, that in and of itself, is of great gain, as I move on towards the goal in my next step . . . an opportunity to excel, but more so to please God in loving those who He has brought into this world.

Knock Dogg, P-Star, Diggler, you'll probably agree he's a Southern Gentleman at heart. However, Jersey blood surely pumps through those veins. He knew how to win the favor of many a lovely lady; the Bars of DTA, the campus of UMCP, dance clubs of Acapulco, and the white beaches of Nassau. A sharp dresser who denounced his 'player' status to all that cared to listen, nightly, at Griffen's. He admits freely to, 'not being good at much, but where it "counts"' There isn't a single topic that Dirk can't at least contribute a "factual" story. The accounts range from: his deathbed Plebe Summer, wire hanger beatings, fist fights before any inspection, ten exciting hours in Mexico City, or 'that island doesn't look that far, I think we can swim there.' He should have never fallen asleep in West Virginia. This deep-rooted Georgian takes scribe to the REAL golden rule: Coughlin's Law. Focused on his career path to the status of "jet-set bartender," (or PGA caddy) this man has a lot ahead of him. A great friend to all, he will be remembered as the Diggler, poised, alert, armed with nothing but a 7 & 7 and a smile. What else could he need? "Just my friends, Mike, just my friends."

From the Great State of Kentucky, yields a small man name Keithy. Born on 8-3, in 29th Co. where real plebes were made, shot-gunned to 2nd Co. where he was sold out by Laselout before he left. Awakened at 0500, by gunny's words, "Simms, wake up!"or "Come here Simms!" while his roommates groaned. While his roommates were preparing to stand restriction for breaking and entering, he was on his way home. How did you get away scot free ?!?! As a second class being too hard of a trainer, he was forced to stop flaming the second week of school. Why was that? Were you moving to fast and ran over a foreign national or was that your way of saying can we go on a date? Or was it the e-mail that night? There was a lonely cold night at WP that some will never forget, will you? Then came ring dance and summer leave and Thanksgiving and Christmas and that was then end of that story. Well now its off to P-cola and Corpus where you might fit in to a Super Hornet if you don't shrink. It has been very fun over the last four year. I wish you bright and prosperous future. Weasel, Slim Shady, Snivel, the mad Russian from MA who went to Siberia to try and ride a bear. 60 dollars for you my friend! A master of raisin' ball, wolf-boy has long been noted for his ability to put his feet in his mouth at the most convenient times (Biz's bday - enter Workman). His noted predilection for the sister of his roommate has been an ongoing problem for which he is seeking help. Other evidence of his psychological condition is his intense dedication to the "sport" of running. Never without one scheme or another going (Say McWoozel, are you pondering what I'm pondering? NARF!) sneaking around behind "the man's" back was more than a pastime. Plagued however by the monster on his desk known as "one of them new fangled machines," AJ has been noted to spend hours trying to enlist the help of the world renowned Trafalgar. Though he left his wallet in El Segundo, we will always think fondly of this mouse-chaser whenever we admire our abs in the mirror. A good friend, preppy dresser, and never to be found at a formation, we are sure you will go far in the realm of Naval Aviation. RTB, SGC, JAM, MTD, TLR, SRS we made it.

In debt up to your head and still decided to buy more expensive toys to make sure you remained that way. Slow down Jarhead, two speeding tickets in one weekend will kill your insurance. Marine pilot and two from the bottom? Pretty impressive. You worked harder for it than anyone I know though, and you deserve it. Even though you spend more time talking over the computer than anyone I have ever met, you may still graduate. Maybe. Koon's Ford may pay you someday too. Spring Break on the bike in Myrtle Beach. I guess even Evan can get lucky sometimes. Hot tub at Nancy's. Hmm... Chose Delta company to get out of here as soon as possible? Say hi to your boy Shane on the way. "I told you I am the battalion MISLO, not the company MISLO." Do you think you could play that CD a few more times? We have only listened to it about 70 times in the past week. You've only called Teresa 15 times today? Hey Dan, can I get a haircut? It's good for you. Builds character. You have been a loyal friend, and you will be missed. - C.G., E.D., J.D.

You got autopilot on that thing? Mike's defense mechanism: deny, deny, counter-accuse, counter-accuse, bring down Roy. How did you get that rug burn on your bum? Even though you've been the brunt of most of our laughter, you've been our best friend. If you take your job as a USMC officer as seriously as you take your senior design project, the country's Marines are in good hands. We'll have a time at TBS keeping those OCS boys in line. He is so money. He's like a BIG BEAR MAN!! Unsat-still has time to date two women a weekend. So many women at once is tough. How hard is it to say his last name? Phonetically spelled, but people say Surberg. Iowa knows how to drink. Also knows how to puke on my fiancee's rug. Can sleep through anything and did. Good friend. Knows when to tell a friend to shut up or to buy him a drink. "marshak75" "Original Swinger" "IM pimp" "The Horse" Iowa's best kept secret... got corn? Man is an animal! Clint IS Kama Sutra! Cross between Wolverine and Rocco. Phil and Clint—been there, done that, TOGETHER! Po' all the time-still $MONEY$ with women... "You study for that weapons test yet?" You study anything yet?" Owns half the yard too. Where's Clint? Cleaning out his Blazer...Firstie brass, Alabama a:)? "Gene, can I borrow $700?" Bed check, freeze..oh crap! - AVS, EET

The [illegible] Three years and not a single fight; it's amazing really. Don't bother him after 2000 [illegible] Over 1,000 different cell phones. Youngster year: we lost Jimmy, and will never [illegible]. We lived in the ghetto but managed to hang 15 different Flags. Met Suzanne; haven't seen him [illegible] since. Spent many hours getting yelled at by Senior Chief. Second Class Year: went [illegible] crazy. We still had the worst room of anyone (site of a famous arson incident). First Class Year: Got EOD. Again kicked out of our room. Took more liberty than anyone in our class. It was fun dude, have fun blowing up stuff. -JY

Dirty Chicago sparky [illegible] maybe not seen - probably at P&S's with his wife. Hair-care extraordinaire [illegible], just too bad you never made the HP dive team - just not experienced enough. I never [illegible] to be a bad influence on you - swear! Thanks for being a great friend - I think we dragged each other through. Good luck to you and Suzanne - I'm sure this won't be the last we see of each other. AD

The original "Slick Willey" JT comes from the cornfields of Indiana, but you would never know it if you didn't know him. One of only two basketball players in our class to survive all 4 years. Finally got a chance his last year. JT has been around the world and in only 4 short years. Late nite rendevous with EJ at the Squash Courts. Black Lights and purple [illegible]. Indiana Girl (which one). Under the sheets with K2! TW, KM, JS, KM, GK, SS, Coastie with the mostie. Jeremy when you going to Clemson again? Double [illegible] in restriction. You been in the rack with SH lately? Slick Willey finally settled down when he met Dana... thanks Dana. Going Supply corps....was there ever any doubt? The only job for JT. NPQ'ed for being too tall....yeah right! The Supply corps has gained a real asset. We will always have enough TP and beer! Don't forget Europe. Desperados... great first night! Spring Break 99...couldn't shake the full-court press! Spring Break 2000...never been like that before. JT is one of the best men I know and will always make you laugh. Good luck at Athens. I will call them and tell them you are coming. All the best. The Group

THUMPR 117, Gene Really, I'm Hispanic, no its true! Some people say I look like Ricky Martin. I have always wanted to fly, except for plebe year, I wanted to be a SEAL but they wouldn't take me b/c if of my knee. Nah, how about a Marine Corp Pilot? Nah, how about Navy Pilot? Hey in Florida... Hey Clint, but if I could swim the PRT.... Yeah thats right, my dad did help build the lunar rover...How come nobody wants to room with me? Hey gene what did you do on vacation, "I went to the beach!" How about that fine $17K Mustang GT convertible complete with AUTOMATIC transmission... How much chocolate syrup can one person injest? I'm Cold! Mickey Dees #4, hold the cheese please! I'm cultured, well traveled... I've been to Miami, Ft. Myers, Orlando, and I love Mr. Toad's wild ride! Lets not forget the days of Daytona... when men were free, women were free, and women bought us beer. Congrats to you and Andrea, we're happy you've found the one... but always remember your pals are here for you dude. -A.V.S, C.E.S.

DSB nuff said. Born from the roughest stock in the south, taught the ways of the land, raised on the farm and grow'd up into a gentleman cowboy...God help us if he ever goes north of the Mason Dixon line. The things this man has accomplished in his short lifetime are countless. Mothers and daughter, women's soccer players, and late night wanderings through Bancroft hall, and Fridays at ACME are but to name a few. Climbing K2, shorting holes, Power vaulting, late nights in cardboards boxes and trying to defend himself on trial for J.M....guilty. JM, DK, DR, MD, MN, KR, SP, SS, DL, JS, and AT. The Marine Corps ladies better watch their backs, if you know what I mean. Seriously, the USMC will not find a better officer in DSB. I would follow DSB anywhere. Good luck at TBS and in the USMC..........The Group.

John, it all started youngster year with Jimmy. What a good time. Then crew started and never again was there to be a sleep-in. Up everyday at 0500 to get in a workout. Then Jimmy left and we were two people living in the ghetto. Then second class year and subs were the envy of your eye. Too bad cruise changed that. First class year and we were still two people getting moved around with rooms, but VGEP for both and no-one there to live in it anyway. His cure-all for computer problems was CTRL+ALT+DELETE. If that did not work, it was anyone's guess as to what was wrong. Imagine the PRT scores he could have had if it wasn't for Instant Messenger and video games. But then again, what does it matter as long as he passed. He is living proof of the proverb, "If you wait 'til the last minute, then it only takes a minute." Yet, he never realized that test scores are in direct correlation with the quickness of completion—although he still got the A's. May your dogfights be as short and successful as your tests. Little did he know that he would end up on the USS Russ D. Buckit with the Laziest Ensign in the Navy. Troubles began for Brian 4/c year with Skigate - the most costly half beer ever drank, although it was enough to provoke the Asian Flush. A true friend, he took care of the dying Kraut in Cancun for the price of a pack of M&M's. Keep drinking Two X beer for Victor! Weekends at Eric's sister's, throwing up and a broken futon. 2/c year he dragged us to Europe in search of China but all he got was the most expensive fish and chips in London. YOU ARE SO HARDCORE! Motivator. Batt-Fratt. Lawnmower man. The Recon, running into things head first, eyes down...Yut! Pardon my stink, I haven't bathed or changed in 4 days! I'm giving up alcohol again for Lent. Don't worry, I do that to my sister all the time! My underwear has holes, I have no clean laundry...can I borrow yours? Dan, no matter where you go, what their age is, who they're related to, or if they're plebes, we know you'll always GET SOME! Why go down the road when you can go down the hall? Don't forget to buy soap. At least some of us know when not to go camping. While at TBS, rappel only when instructed! D2PN the rapelling duo. "Hey Dan, get up you pussy." My name is Matthew Michael O'Donnell, of strong Irish Catholic heritage, and I am now less than three months from graduation at the United States Naval Academy. Coming from Glenelg, MD (pop. 820) I am a History major and a USMC Ground selectee. I played four years of football, and have enjoyed the friends I have made here. You really don't want to know about my personal life, cause it's dull. The thrill of my experience here was being selected for Midn Ens Gardner's squad this semester. She is the coolest woman I have ever met, and I bet she doesn't even read this. Happy hunting, and hit the weight room. Thanks and it's been fun.

I'm the Biggest MF Oogly of them all.....Mr. Bart Orr. AKA "BART!!!!" I'm the hardest damn worker there is, on and off the lacrosse field. "Damn it's hot on this bus, I sure do sweat a lot." When I'm not schooling people on face-offs and lowering my shoulder into people, I enjoy either driving my "Mid-stang" around or downing pints of Guinness at Riordans. I don't really know how to drive my Mid-stang yet, but I'd like to think I'm getting better. For $20, I'll pretty much do anything you want me to. It's hard to get girls around Annapolis with a name like "Big Oogly" so I like to get away from it all and take cruises where nobody knows me. "What do mean we're out of gas?" "It's okay, I'll just wait here in the field for you guys....Zzzzzzz." "Bart!!!!, wake up" "Man it's cold out here." Seriously though, you're the greatest. We loved playing lax with you and hanging out for 4 years. We wish you all the best at P-cola and in your future. Keep in touch. Osh, Double T, Little mic, future Commandant of the Marine Corps, never afraid to give a bark or wish a stranger happy St. Patty's Day. "Jasus, Mary, and St. Joseph." "Kill Army," "Army Sucks!" "They're still on the bus..." and you know who won that game. May they keep the big one in Philly forever. "I'm going home, want a steak?" Nah, I'll just have some wudder. Drinking under the boardwalk in Wildwood, the Jamaican 4th MEF "YUT, Mon!" "It's St. Patty's Day and I'm going all 24 hours" Well, you almost made it. "This is my good t-shirt," so stop wiping your hands on it. "0302!" Have the Dant buy you a beer after your ac board. "He said it doesn't matter!" Beautiful, man. Just remember, the head isn't in the corner of our room. Nice job "training" your plebe wells – I mean training your plebes well. When is that paper due? When not occupied with his "striper duties" (zzzz..), this Marlboro Man enjoys sippin on some courvoisier, shopping for mirrors, and applying his slickworks (he was the proud recipient of the Sam Malone Award for Outstanding Hair in 1996, 97, and 98). The infamous inhabitant of the Love Emporium, where "the love is free, but don't you dare call it cheap," Drew also enjoyed crushing his rival, Nance, on the raceway. He excelled as well as the quarterback of the Sprint Football Team, where he holds records for fumbles, interceptions, and concussions. He has a bright future ahead of him, service selecting "Chippendales" dancer as a career. Perhaps he'll realize the difference between a shower and a urinal one day ("Who are you?"). "Woo-hoo! It has been a rough fours here by the bay, but one thing is for sure, it is over now. Hanging out in nine during plebe year was a terrible way to start off a career at the academy especially if you were planning to stay here the full four years. The fact that I was joining the cheer leading squad did not make the situation any better. I remember the days when Hollenbach and Adeyemi would heckle me at chow calls about cheer leading and then Fields would make me do cheers at his chow call station. Cheer leading was great though except for Shawn.....have any more GAS left for my Mustang? For all the girls who I dropped I do apologize, it won't happen again.....TODAY.

Tony "Squid" Moore. Born right smack dab in the middle of the corn belt, Des Moines, Iowa, and hails from Perryville, Missouri. Somewhere in between he developed a taste for the finest of social beverages, played a little ball and stunned the ladies with his good looks and fine demeanor. Never been in a fight that he didn't start, neither has most of his friends for that matter. "Is it just me or am I the sexiest man in the bar?" Makes up half of the "Squid and Birdie Show"...the better half. Been in any goose fights lately? Hey Blake, SHUT UP! The mysterious strawberry blonde at the Tulane soccer game. Coach Mac..."ehhh, you're not tuff...." enough said. Spring break '99 in Fresno, Calif., spring break '00 in Charleston...both ended in suspensions. "Sir?...don't you sir me, Moore." Hey Waylon, how did we get home last night? Navy Baseball, I love you guys. Hey Mick, clean up the room. "what's with all this military b.s, anyways?" Hey Beast, "you see this face...I'm untouchable/bulletproof" Good luck buddy, hope the Navy can handle you. wgw, gdg, crd, meo, mmj, jdw

"Gosh Dangit! What the Heck!?!" Spent most of his time impersonating a corpse. "If you sleep for 12 hours a day..." Do you ever wash that sweatshirt? MXPX doesn't suck, but my squad does! I like plebes, they taste great! Fry-daddy FE Nari Oraker. 12 weeks to BUDS... for PRT failures!? Counter-insurgent ops against the Boraker; "Remember, your classmates did this to you." Road trip!!! We almost saw history that day. Wanna buy a t-shirt? Um no. Solitaire-that intense strategy game that you haven't ever managed to beat. Dude, let's go club some baby harp seals! Which one are you, anyway? "The EVIL Oraker" Nate, why do your plebes carry dixie covers and reef points in February? Must suck being the bottom Sqd Ldr and living with the Company Cdr. 360 degree feedback sucks! Thank God for bottomless nachos. I like to draw boats. Hey Nate, why is your youngster sister driving YOUR car around on the Yard? And how come you have a bunch of women's clothing in your locker? Is there something here that you're not telling us? "I think the youngsters are afraid of me." Sure. I bet Momma O appreciates the pix of Sea and Jason. I'm sorry I ate all the Peanut Butter. I'll go steal some more. Speaking of peanut butter, was that sandwich worth all the trouble!? The cheapest man at Ring Dance (only $28!!!) What, your date didn't bring her ex? Stop unplugging my #$%-ing computer! -RLP, LAW, RJS. Nathan – Quite possibly the most well-rested mid who isn't a youngster... and certainly the best read ('Shane' in college?). Always the conversationalist ... especially when his mother is ripping me a new one – thanks buddy... enough of that angry American music! Whether your favorite color is "clear" or you're eating pretzels as the main course for breakfast, lunch and dinner; you're a one and only. Surviving summer school with only about 100 demerits and going on to be the first roommate to love chit. You never really left, I always knew where to find you (probably sleeping). The bike rides were awesome, until the bike was stolen. Yes, unlocked bikes get stolen when left unattended. This world isn't as nice as you are. Slapping your forehead like the Kan Man, listening to the Hawaiian "Surf" song, constant "air quotes", picking Steve up at BWI many a times. It's tough not being a Mid in this town. You spend a fortune on disguises, only to realize that everyone's a charlatan. Should have bought stock downtown, not a mid in eight, [illegible] and Ensigns, and that's just not right. [illegible] are [illegible] full of frauds—first there and last to leave. They travel all over, to places like [illegible] Steak House and Shannon's Pub, and places like [illegible] and Snapper's...whichever way the wind blows is seems. In search of the meal, but all taste aside, it's not just a job, but the adventure inside. The Bahamas is better, never any Super Club Mid-Pesers down there, plus, it's "all inclusive." It's tough not being a Mid amid frauds; they're so obvious with their haircuts, and Marlboro lights, shots at the bar and long Tuesday nights. Should have gone to MT, no phonies to say. Crazy weekends in Erin Heights, Texas where illusions wither away, and leave you stranded 1000 miles from Dalhart, Texas, population 19. Trust me, I'd look for other work, but not being a Mid is a full time job.

The first time I met Rob, a girl with him told me that he was better than me. A year later we ran into each other at wrestling practice at the Academy, where he apologized for that silly girl's comment. Ever since then it has been bros before — between Rob and I. A devout catholic he changed religion to the Morman cult after being brainwashed by Vernon and Whitmer. Still Rob and I remained good buddies as we endured the day to day struggles associated with the Academy and Coach Wicks. Rob is probably one of the most dangerous individuals I have ever met. With his background in Judo, Sambo, and wrestling, I have seen Rob do things to fellow human beings that most us only see in comic books. Yet Rob has the biggest heart of anyone I know. He is more loyal than that mangy mut who you can kick in the face but will still protect you against an attacker. Now Rob is being brainwashed again, but this time its not into some pagan cult, unless you consider marriage a pagan ritual. LOL Tina. Good luck to you Rob, and don't change. Your Friend, Jay

Ben came to the Academy from Idaho. A country boy shoved into a modern society. When he got here he was a little behind in the ways of life and dating. Many of us tried to teach him. 2/c Pontell and Cpl Schoolcraft took care of the indoctrination, didn't help the post-phone call home antics though. However, to no avail he would still use such famous pickup lines as, "Look we got the same buckle." Needless to say that was the last time she talked to him. Tried his luck with Miss Michele Mormon, even debated converting... ("My Doctor said my Mormon") Ben's Academy dating pool: mother's, Mormons, wives & fiancles, ex-cons, dippers (have ya got a chew?), all but miss right. Always loved his birthday beatings. Doesn't tell anyone about sleeping through his plebe pro-board. In all of the confusion he still found time to cuddle up with his Manny in his holey underwear, sneak out on Wednesday nights to the Cantuna (the origins of the digit graveyard), and rock the intramural basketball court. Hope he has better luck in Pensacola, better to have wings of gold than silver. Here's to the nicest guy we know...JMC CAZ AVS FJW

I came to the Academy as a Baseball player, but… oh well. To this day I still worship the ground Cal Ripken walks on, I just hope I find a girl to love as much as I love him. We've all heard, "waiting on our classmate sir", well, that was me. Yeah I figure, if they wanted me to be here, they sure as hell can wait a couple extra minutes for me to fold my clothes, heck, its only plebe summer!! Just ask how Morhack got that rash…or tell Abu Baker he'll end up a P-3 NFO. "Errrr...What the freak?" I'm a big fan of modern rock music and of any food product containing vinegar. Usually I stick to shrimp though. I like ambulances too, did I say that already. Mini-BUD/S made me cold. What's my name again? It's Sunday, I think…Hold on, I wanna tell you about my girlfriend: Amber, Lisa, Katie, Beth, Amber II, Amber I, Laura, Shannon, oh, I forget her name. Who would date their plebe? Brian Badweather. Capt. Creatine. Darth Vader. Bri-Guy. B. - You are truly an incredible person and here's to years of friendship to follow…SJL LEB FJW

Hola Holita ~que tal catfish. Heard there's a special @ Griffen's on clam dip. Lalala. I'm gonna kill you!! Oh God what was that…whap! How about going to the redneck hangout for more hottie #'s on gum wrappers. Hey thanks for visiting Nasty on "2-4", good thing she was safe and sound in her room on 2-0. You're a pearl of wisdom-proven when you challenge that 6'4" dude to a drinking contest. Have you hugged your tree lately…woowoo!!! He broke my heart…so miims broke his jaw! Fun times we've had, thank you! We love our yut-yut & guardian angel. Holly, our roommate from across the hall who can't seem to figure out which bed is hers. Had a lot of fun cake testing, didn't think you would be doing it so soon, eh? Dancing lessons with Jerome, aw isn't that cute? The best SHFace I know, or ever will. You are the best non-Marine Marine we know and we love you for it. Don't let them change you! We'll miss you.

Evil Phill. The list of his exploits are unparalleled in Academy history. The womanizing, the alcohol, the long nights waiting with Hispanic pizza men while bumming bread sticks, the list is nearly endless. Ran by the laws of chaos, he has personally accepted a mission to befriend every female on the planet. The Eastern seaboard phase is nearly complete. Phill has always made time for his friends and family, though. I cannot think of a finer sort of being. He has his flaws, I have mine, yet Phill personally accepts all nasty things in life, shrugging his shoulders, and downing a rattlesnake. His personal transformations from pretty boy, to Goth, to Rave, hallmark a quest for self-discovery, in this fanatical, robot-creating environment. What else can be said about this abomination of man. I can still see the tears in Jessica's eyes. Was her name Jessica, or was it Sarah. . . . or maybe Megan, but I think Ring Dance says it all. Earned his wings! No matter, there are plenty of fish in the sea, especially when your standards are non-existent aka NORMA. One day I will tell your children that chilling story. Internet love rules! G'night sweet prince.

Michael Anthony Lee, Jr. came to Annapolis from Christiansburg, Virginia and has made a name for himself as a lover of shenanigans and random trips ranging from Cincinnati for a weekend to Jamaica twice for spring break. He started out as a runner but soon realized that 6'3" and 155 pounds was no way to go through life and became a member at large of the brigade and the roommate no one knew. "Do you know Mike Lee?" "No." "Maybe you've heard of Tim Duncan or Will Smith?" "Yes, but not Mike Lee." And that's the way he wanted it. Mike is well liked by all who encounter him and will do great things. To the untrained eye he may seem to have no cares in the world but that is his disguise so that you will not know you are talking to the brilliant man who will invent the first 3-D volumetric display. Of course this will all happen right after he figures himself out, buys a car, and gets a girlfriend, not necessarily in that order.(913)

Scott Schuetter
Conway, AR
Naval Flight Officer

Scott Michael Schuetter came to the Naval Academy by way of the path less taken by most. He was not sure if he really wanted to leave his home state so he tried Central Arkansas for a year and then realized his true calling was paperwork in paradise. The only way to live this fantasy was to join the U.S. Navy and move to Hawaii where he was Sailor of the Year as a yeoman working for CINCPACFLT while one of his future roommates was breaking laws just down the street. Starting in 30th company, Scott thought getting shotgunned was not enough and after arriving in 6th company took part in a self-imposed move to 7th company. As in his life prior to the Academy, it did not matter where Scott was, from the rugby field to the beaches of Jamaica, he was always excelling and providing good advice to those who asked. Although famous around the yard for his menacing appearance, behind closed doors in 5th wing his roommates know him as the "gentle giant" with a proclivity for poetry. In the future, you will probably find Scott sleeping somewhere in the Pentagon with stars on his shoulders.

Not a man to put needless amounts of work into school, Jason sees importance in life outside these granite walls. A good friend of Jason once described him in a way that was almost poetic. He said, "Jason is all about principles." Indeed, he is. A good man to the end and sensible enough to keep us all safe from ourselves. We all wonder what we would do without him. Jason figured the Academy should have a club soccer team, so he created one from the ground up. It was a team of friends. It was a damn good team, and it all came to fruition in the rain on a Clemson, SC soccer field in October when his team, our team, won it all. We owe so much of it to his hard work and dedication. He is an aviator, through and through.

Todd Thornton Whitney Bruner, Jr., aka "Screech," never left home to come the Naval Academy, he just walked out his front door on I-Day and knew that military life was for him. Todd was all smiles during plebe summer except when he got poison ivy on his hands that ballooned into something that everyone found amusing but him. Todd opened his home on Porter road to everyone and had the most tolerant parents anyone could ask for. The terrible triplets almost ruined it with the leaving behind of a "shipmate" in the basement but disaster was avoided. Do you want to go somewhere with Todd? He's on Todd time, he'll be down soon. Constant monkeying around, tossing grapes into beast's mouths, and eating glowsticks get Todd in trouble as it did in Boston when he informed the natives that he was going to another party and they proceeded to invite him over to their place. When Todd's not in trouble he helps out his friends who are. I was born on June 12, 1977, to Beatrice and Arthur Chapin, Sr. in Beaufort, SC. I have 3 siblings. For the most part of my life, I have been an athlete, as well as a student. Personally, it is hard to believe where I am now, with my track career only beginning my senior year in high school. Now, I am at a level in 5 years that could get me to the Olympic Trials if not the 2000 Olympics. Over the years, I have matured greatly and have a greater understanding of people, regardless of race and sex, thanks in some ways to life at the NAPS and the Academy. But one thing that I have found to be true about life is that, no matter where you go, it is God, your family, and friends that can get you through any hard time. Through it all, I remember that God is the source of my existence and the one that keeps me going everyday. Without him, I am nothing, but with him, I can do all things. Thank You Lord for making me who I am.

The Chief...one of those phantom football players who was rarely sighted on deck most of the year...the only thing more rare of course being a bi-annual Chavous-in-working-blues-sighting...a gentle southern gentlemen from South Carolinia who was not so gentle when he wore #9 on the grid iron...he bashed, mashed and thrashed anyone stupid enough to line up accross from him...especially on ESPN...always quick to smile, his room always among the most trashed and nasty...probably because no one was unsat more and locked up during their 5.5 year Naval Academy experience, but now you can laugh at everyone John, and say to your friends and family: "Didn't think I'd make it did ya!"

Canteja - what? Can't you just say you're from Albany? I can't believe how much you miss that trailer park of a hometown. I wish I had a dollar for every time you got me in trouble plebe summer (or for every time your girlfriend cheated on you). 6010 was an interesting place - Chappy with his alarm clock and fan. Jeff, fix my bed or there is going to be a throwdown. I can't believe they let you wear those stripes ("hey guys, what's a Brigade Commander?"). Spring break in Colorado - "don't worry Tom, you can make it down the blue slopes." CCD, where Corn Don't Grow. When it comes to the ladies, you're smoother than Billy Dee Williams with a Colt 45. "It's not my fault, she was the sober one!" Who would have thought that the dark side would have hit over a cup of coffee second class year? When you're not exerting your influence on every authority figure on the Yard, you're hob-knobbing with the political elite during a day job out in town. Word to the wise, don't try any touch and go's. You'll always get my vote. Good luck in P-cola. Thanks for the memories and being a great friend. - TDB, CWC, DMB

Tim, you went from being an anonymous youngster downstairs to most infamous 1/C. Who knew you'd ever be a first class? Around company you were the HERO, English tutor, flamer, honor rep, SCUBA diver, late-shift lifter, squad leader, car mechanic, boxer, cynic, ticket insider, and unappreciated volunteer wardroom rep. You spent the holidays with RRW Steve. The Glee Club still misses their favorite tenor. Afternoon naps and weekends in DC selling tickets helped you forgot you were a mid – something they never convinced you of (and you don't live in NC anymore). You never could pass as a civilian with your midshipman fashion sense. You were always broke, could never afford food or gas, but a steady stream of expensive toys always flowed into our room. Speaking of toys, where is that fancy Camero and who scratched, bumped, or hit it today ... we know it won't be the security guards anymore. Despite misunderstandings and daily disasters, you stood for what you believed in. You are a good friend, an honest person, and someone we all depend on. The people who know you best, like you the most. Thanks for spending your time with us – and clean up your side of the room.

This is the man who played both basketball and football. Didn't do well in either. I did learn both sets of coach's names. Not many can say that! I am however, the King of the McDonough basketball arena. No body can see me over there. NOBODY!!! An aspect of my college career never to be forgotten was how I was reminded daily that I was one of the oldest members to ever go through the academy. Yep! At least thirty one times a day I would hear jokes about my age. "You're so old, you and Jesus rode the chariot to school together." Or, "That's a nice wavy toupee you're wearing. When I get your age, I'ma use the doctor who hooked you up. It looks so real!" Thanks a lot guys. I can always count on my friends to brighten a day.

Driving a minivan, commonly known as Big Blue, doesn't help any. I get comments on that too! "Expecting kids soon?" Or, "Parents in town? This is your parent's car?" ... No! You really bought this yourself? ... Ohhh! Okay." Yep, thanks again. I love midshipman. I guess what ever doesn't kill you makes you stronger, or will just make you fell like 5#!%.

When not at the O-Club socializing, winning prizes ("oh, give him the ship"), or relocating trashcans, on 30 days restriction from an important 2 min lesson, playing a game of wiffle ball, or out on the rocks, he's always willing and able to volunteer his time to anyone in need, without expecting anything in return. Enlisting in the Navy during High School, I graduated RTC Great Lakes in 1993. After completing AV (AT) "A" school I was assigned to NAS Whidbey Island. While at Whidbey, I applied to the US Naval Academy. I accepted the offer to attend the Naval Academy Preparatory School and completed the requirements to attend the Academy. Entering the academy as an E-5 certainly was an experience. After enduring four years of the things that make the Naval Academy unique I am ready to graduate with the class of 2000 and look forward to the future.

Mr Olympia. Thanks for helping me train for MiniBUDS. You should have gone with me. Dude, what is up with your white eyebrows? Bucky IV workouts w/ pull-ups on the sappy pine branch. Putting up with Noodlespanker's nephew (snow goons!). Elevator mopeds. Uhhh, wrong key Drew. Waikiki surfing. No standing on the moped Dave. Swimming w/ Rachel & Allison...now we're heading for the big dance. Hot Chocolate mornings. Physics, Weapons I and II...who's that guy who sleeps through every class? Bugga-cheerleaders!!! -ANC

Your fro and goutee rocked, even if it didn't last, dying our hair, learning to windsurf, the bike gang in Hawaii, skinny dipping in the pool at joy-el and ripping my boxers, and so much more. man, I thank God for the chance to get to know you. You're an encouragement and an example to me in so many ways. rock on, bro. -BKC

What's that smell? Oh, Coop's in bed. I just want to have SEA, right now!!! Who the hell is Cooper? Go to bed, I don't care, its not my fault you didn't start studying till midnight. Quit talking about sex...who's snoring? damn that's loud -JDB, JTW

Destro, Cobra Commander, Serpentor, Big Brother Dave, DMD, DMXtro. Hailing from Pensacola, FL what else could this kid be destined for but - Marine Ground. An original member of the 2% Club - wait, I forgot that you're just "friends." Who are you talking on the phone with for so long? Dave is one of a kind. He is quiet, yet outgoing...lazy, yet hardworking... academically challenged, yet an overachiever...he represents both the ying and the yang. Dave is a real hard-charger. Always helping out other people regardless of what he has to do. He really abides by the concept of "Ship, Shipmate, Self."...Man you've been through it all. It started during Plebe Summer with daily assaults from Randy Cruz and two marathons, three summer schools, one rent-a-wreck, and an uncountable number of unsat semesters later, this jarhead is ready for Quantico. Thanks for 4 great years by the bay, buddy. The best of wishes for a great career in the Corps.—Semper Fi. - DMB, DEH, HCD, WDT

Intramural!!! Girl, you are amazing! Stairmaster til the break of dawn! Watch out for her at IBS... she's like the Energizer bunny... she can just keep going and going! I can't say it's been smooth sailing, but somehow we all managed to survive...watch out for that temper! Luckily Toby was able to tame you [illegible] 1997!? Or was it Marines?? Or submarines!? We had our coffee and girl talk... somehow our room was always out of the loop! Sister, I love you to death--my two life lessons for you relate to cycling because it made us even closer: 1) If you brake, you will never win...life's corners throw you for a loop--just believe in your abilities and you will fly right through them!...2) Cyclists worship legs.. chicken legs, [illegible] legs, or lobster legs?! Those muscles and your commitment to attack your goals will take you far... marathon's, [illegible]--you name it! But these are physical--to fully develop God, Mom, Toby and I have all the faith in the world that from here on out your spiritual and intellectual aspects will flourish with the commitment and strength you apply to everything you do. You're awesome Jen! SM, LF

OOooHHh, little piggy. Why all those nasty e-mails? Three years together and the black and decker decal is finally wearing off. ANGRY TJ, no weekends, rules for living, clothes from the 50's, naked weds, mom's flags, stubby fingers! study, study, study, "be professional", "the only way she would look good is with my @#$@!" , brush those teeth. "Dammit Mike!", throwing up on your stripper!, your/my blue rims, T's, etc., eagle scout ring, and now Teller! one day little JAG you'll probably defend me in court! Good Luck, MRD

Your propensity for love poems, purple dinosaurs, and happy, flowery life was something that I never understood, but I learned a lot from you Trevor. Like: "If you have something that is very important or expensive...lock it away in another Tupperware container and don't tell Mike or Scott the combo" or "the QPR a midshipman earns at the Academy is directly proportional to the amount of hazardous chemicals he has in his medicine cabinet." Will you ever finish your honors history thesis? Quit reading the yearbook and get back in the library! I Couldn't have done this without you brother, Scotty

Born and raised in the South, in a single parent home, with two siblings, I am no stranger to hard work. I have a pretty good idea of what it means to struggle for what you want. I only hope that I can be a good example of perseverance for those out there starting out the same way as I have. Live strong Da-Real, teach us how to box, how to think. Good luck in the corps.
"DaReal" the southern gentleman. Quick to return a favor and slow to forget one. Holds the unofficial record for KO's in the brigade tourney. Soft-spoken leader, talks with his actions. Ho ho ho and a bottle of gin. First assassination plebe summer on Bradford/Thomas...beautiful. Best friend on the boxing team. Take it easy...--DD

Let's see, Ensign Jensen. Dennis and I in glee club, but never knew it. Then YP's come, and, shoot, you remember that song? Same watch section. Chili for Lunch? Running to make Miss Saigon. First shot with a Tomcat. Who knew? Never forget swimming with some rusty weight, thought we would drown, but got to fly. Trip to NC was awesome, if it wasn't for the syndrome. Ring dance was cool, that jeep came in handy, for stopping the rain. Hope 2000 flushes doesn't come for graduation. You should've had a girlfriend by now, especially those in Washington, or maybe the Kodak girl. Queen of the night, little pleber Lucy was often found rooted in front of her computer with all of the lights in the room out, a manifestation of her early aspirations to be a bat in her own little cave. Her mumblings soon developed into the ultimate random number generator – I see your lips movin' but I just can't here ya! And to think there's two of you! Remember us chasing you around the room, times of throwing each others' stuff out in the hall, you completely [illegible] out in our room, jumping in the shower to beat Lucy to it, and after Herndon trying to get all that lard off! But no matter what the setting, your mere presence widened the smiles on our faces. We are forever indebted to you for the patience and kindness that you have instilled in us. The Prince didn't beat David Robinson's block-shot record, but tripled the Admiral's "Emergency MED/DENT" excuses. Plebe year Sitapha's foreign national status got him out of chow calls due to lack of English. Youngster year came and getting penny-ed in room 5210 cost us a week of classes (led the Brigade in absences with 86) 3/c year was the beginning of his basketball stardom (minus the six games thanks to Roughead.) The opening of club Oakley, beat-shops with BS, MD-100 lbs, VV. Spring break '99... bust! Interpreter Savane's beat-shop was closed in Europe. 2 Francs. Call girl. Desperado. Firstie year brought foreign relations between the Senegalese and British with occasional German interference. As the Captain of NTF (Negro Task Force,) Sitapha did 60/6/6 for saving someone's life?!?! The Green Turtle. Y2K. LuLu's. LKD- strike three. No thanks to Captain Davis, Sitapha enjoyed the best year in USNA basketball history since David Robinson, yet Ehlers stole the prize. Now that's whoa. Sitapha's unselfishness and sense of humor made him the best roommate and teammate one could have. Nick and Tote.

Ryan T. Gocke, aka the Didemon, stumbled into the Naval Academy after a year of college, where he was taught to write his own name and sit still for more than two minutes. Upon his arrival at Canoe-U, he was greeted by a friendly staff who enjoyed amusing themselves at Ryan=s expense (I am Napoleon Bonaparte sir!!). Never one to be dismayed, he resorted to amusing himself within the walled confines of USNA. 2000 memorized lots of information; Ryan memorized lines of lines from 80s movies. In addition, he could always be counted on for advice, being older if not wiser than most of his classmates (You see Shaun, when I was your age...). After scamming his way through plebe year, our little trooper was identified with a number of disorders, most notably the spasmic fits which accompanied any form of laughter, no matter how slight. Since Ryan=s eyesight was too bad to fly (or legally drive for that matter) he decided to become a doctor. Like I told you plebe year, it=s gone by like this (snap, snap, snap). Best of luck to you brother. STI

Heck, The Heckster. Came to us at NAPS from New Jersey, the original "Jersey girl." Boy, she loves that place - trash it at your own risk. Not a prior, but she sure had the salty attitude. Why did the Marines always flock to her? Who knows, but she secretly loved it, no matter how much she knocked the "grunts" and "SWO-rines." Joined the track team, threw shotput, discus, javelin, stupid anorexic runners, and anything else she could lay hands on. Stay the hell out of her throwing radius, you're likely to get hurt! Pipes and Drums, twirling q-tips, beater, not a blower. "Hey Amy, what's under your kilt?" Loves oceanography, though it sometimes seemed that she knew more than the prof. Think she liked the ocean animals the best. . . "You haven't been fried for that fish yet? It's been three years!" When she's done her SWO tour, she'll start her own art studio. Had her artwork up all over the Yard, and at NAPS, too. Don't ask her to explain it in less than two hours, though, just ask Gunny Flynn about that. "Miss Heck, would you give a ten-minute period of instruction, please?" Never seen a gunny take that kind of abuse. Gonna be a great officer, no matter how much she denies it. Best of luck, have fun in Earle. (!!) Fair wind, and following seas. JH, ND.

Heck, Heck-dog. Amy is one of the most giving, amiable, creative, and open minded people i know. Best roomie and friend one could ask for. Ask a piranna (Lorrainna B.) and visit the "Rain Forest". She was the designer and educator, you will be changed (warped?) for life). She was a fellow hippie at heart. Yeah Bug! Yeah tie-dye! Oh, and don't forget the time warp.....hehehe. Ah nature... Snake pit. Snake bite. I am the center of my universe. (Blake wrote this...arrogance is not my forte). Ironman...have you qualified yet? I could've been a SEAL (yeah right....). Founder: Annapolis Breakfast Club. Is that a bike in the shower? Coldest subwoofer in the Brigade. Meeow...feed the kitty. Detail shop. GET OUT! Noon meal?...swimming pool. Fire up a pot...Erik-you want a cup? Do your job. You've been a very bad boy. See you in the emergency room. 50 miler and a hockey game-same weekend. He's a Marine? What's an MOS? Can I just be on the marathon team? Do I have to wear a uniform? Friday Catholic Mass...which service is this? Leave the room. Jimmy Riordan's and Dunkin Swonuts...Abu runs a tight ship. Yorks...for everyone! Forticus Fanaticum. Some farm girl from Iowa broke my heart. Time to clean for inspection...where's Snake? Al's mom. See you on Wall St. 15 MAY 2005 c-ya! CBCM

Going back to kindergarten to play with the kids or just the teacher? It is the Severn River. So have you read any good books recently? Or have you just been throwing them: temper temper temper. Putting holes in the wall. Military belt with your civilian clothes, a Marine from day one. Have you been lifting weights? Is there any song you don't know? Would you admit it if there was! Never had a drink until he was 21. Broccoli, alcohol, my stomach can't handle it. A couple hours of drinking equals one whole day of recovery. Puked outside Griffin's. Carded for a rated R movie your firstie year. Shopping trip with the girls. Opting for no leave his firstie summer. Star gazing all night long with your female advisor. Matt came from the marshes of the tidewater with a prep school education and a patrician's attitude. After getting off on the wrong foot in Twelve, Matt did his last three years at the Boat School the hard way. Between his medical problems, his mediocre grades, and his lack of military aptitude, he spent a lot of time at the bottom of the heap. He went through many difficult experiences with very little sympathy or support from his classmates. All this adversity and hostility taught Matt something about making things happen by will alone. Towards the end of his midshipman career, he turned things around. Proving that tenacity can overcome just about anything, he is going to graduate with us despite the numerous roadblocks in his path. He put in a lot of effort into a bunch of difficult and important projects for which he received very little acknowledgement or thanks. He has matured greatly during his four years by the bay and has outgrown his initial reputation. Matt Haskell will make valuable contributions to the world at large, even though he will never command sailors in the United States Navy.

Steve Hershman came to us from Phoenix with a basketball in his hand and very little hair on his head. He never went looking for women... they sort of happened to him. Omaha? How the hell did you find a woman in Omaha? Yes, Steve, there IS something wrong with midget love. But you know that There Is No Sex In The RDO Shack. One of the hardest upperclass in the company, he somehow managed to earn respect from his plebes while infuriating dirtbag youngsters and second class. Did Detail twice, and never regretted either time... You slimy scumbag, get on your face and give me 25! You've never seen me very upset. With a frightening knowledge of movie quotes, Steve always had a line for every occasion. Bound for Subs, despite one of those famous NR interviews. Have you figured out how to define underachiever yet? A favor please: while we live with you, could you please stop taking divots out of the tile? Sorry, I have a tee-time at two. Just what does the future hold for this suave character? "D" doesn't just walk...He grooves, with that one of a kind sly swagger that is he and he alone... head tilted slightly forward...an eternal allusion of a smile etched about his features... he is his own adjective, a countenance of raw and exotic sensuality cloaked in a twist of down home... the unbridled flagrancy of his Italian lineage betraying his hot-headed and steamy-blooded heritage... anyone with testosterone levels so far off the charts should have to carry around a license yet, somewhere deep down inside, the beast within his soul is tamed by a dazzling imbuement of culture and refined sophistication, but don't let him fool you... if this one were food he'd be a passion fruit, if he were an animal he'd be king of the goats, if he were an organ he'd be a .... oftentimes alienated by his superior intelligence and isolated by his own insight, the Buff-Man... the wit we love and the mouth we love to hate... would do anything for a friend, or an exceptionally fine date... Truly a lone ranger led by his own light, D's future mark on mankind is certain...standby!! -GLW

Matt came to us from Sparks, Nevada, just a stones throw away from Reno. Thankfully, Jenny followed soon afterward. Whether it was providing us with a place to stay or a home-cooked meal, she made our stay in Annapolis better. Proposing on top of the Empire State Building was the best thing Matt ever did. We know that his loyalty, honesty, and integrity will see him through his days in the Marine Corps and beyond. And if that's not enough, there is always the brass bar. If you ever start to take yourself too seriously, just remember the burning pumpkins, the white russians, and the Thursday night dress code for study hour. From I-Day to Graduation, you taught us that with a good friend and a few laughs, nothing is impossible. Thanks for being that friend. — MRD, EAM

Matt arrived in Maryland in 1996 coming from sunny Southern California and was immediately welcomed by the very best that the East Coast had to offer: heat, humidity, and sweat. Systems!? Hey Matt there's a call for you...General somebody....oh, its General Engineering. Well at least we graduated. Life was fun in five but fate and fortune RANDOMLY landed him in the bosoms of 13. It was in the lazy days of youngster year that Matt was uncontestedly corrupted by the Guild. He's down at the SQUASH COURTS...we tried to keep him straight....now we hope Robin has better luck. Robin...oh yes, Matt was fitted for that ball and chain second class year...and he proudly keeps her around his ankle today. She was perfect for you even if she did deprive us of one more rowdy friend. Where do we go from here? YP MO anyone? Riiight.... Who wants to Bond? O-club after this brief? Who could imagine the Terror as a Navy Pilot? Hell, who could imagine it any other way? Matt's indifference taught us all to take it a little easier...just maybe not quite as easy as he did...Summer school anyone? We know now that wherever we go from here we are all better for having known Matt as our friend. We admire him greatly and envy him a little bit too. Get Pensacola ready for us and best of luck to you in the future. Keep the burgers hot and the beer cold. CMD MRC

Surface Warfare Nuclear

Adam R. Horn, known affectionately as "Horn Dog" and "Shorn" to his closest associates, came to USNA from picturesque Mill Valley, California. The first member of his family to take on life "full speed ahead" wasn't quite sure what to expect upon arrival at Camp Tecumseh. Adam faced his first challenge early when he was injured during Plebe Summer. Never one to give up the ship, Adam pressed on undaunted, passing the time in the training room admiring some of the Navy's more picturesque recruits. He is a man who seems to have been born lucky, be it with his summer cruise assignments or with the sled dogs who are constantly trying to distract him from his Systems Engineering homework, a major he has done well in despite an inordinate amount of time spent with CAPT Morgan. Adam has excelled on the athletic field as well, having been a pivotal member of the club lax team since his arrival, and serving as its President and Co-Captain during his Firstie year. Following graduation, Adam will pursue his goal of becoming a Nuclear SWO, after which he hopes to return to San Francisco and promote a Cat Stevens return. MSK.

Chris Knaus is a philosopher by nature. Through his endless hours of reflection, he is able to put an obscure twist on any life issue. Whether it deals with girls, morals or life, you can guarantee to hear a unique perspective. He is quick to forgive the shortcomings of others, but puts exceedingly amounts of pressure to correct his own. Chris often decides fate through a roll of a dice. The aviation community is lucky that their number came up that early morning in January. He will bring personality, intelligence, a gentle spirit, and a whole lot of fun wherever the dice of life takes him. Although Chris tends to shy away from intense environments, he thrives in mellow ones. He loves to be the center of attention at any social gathering. As the night progresses, the Knaus show will, without fail, come to life. A video camera only amplifies his performance. One day spent with Chris will change your life; his close friends are blessed to have spent many. We?re only doing this because we love you- A whole year with Chris, and the only thing we really knew about him was that he had a bald butt. ?I?m not your dude.? ?Who?d you pick up in Acme this weekend?? ?OK, so there?s this sheep and some piano wire....? "How does one describe Slewy? He's loud, he's random, he's just Slewy. If you had to take a double take, it's probably because Slew opened his mouth. If you couldn't find him, he was the one making a scene (or working out). This comical little imp of Mother B hasn't changed in four years, but he's changed all of us. He made light of a stressful situation, and alleviated the frustration with absurdity. His energy is limitless, and he used it to brighten our otherwise gloomy days. Slew never let life get him down, and he never let it get anyone else down. His satirical demeanor made us all look past the trifling details that seemed so important and helped us to see the bigger picture. He has an inner strength beyond understanding. Ever the shipmate, if you were lucky enough for him to call you a friend, then you couldn't have asked for a more devoted, selfless, inspiring acquaintance. Have a tequiza on me, Slew, and thanks for all the good times.

Jack Benfield. How-dee- pard-in-er. He survived the redneck, the midnight curser, quiet homicidal hyphenated one, and somehow stayed sane in the presence of the poetry writing insomniac [illegible]. The only midshipman with three stripes and no real job that I ever respected and a hell of a roommate. Always on the lookout, this crime-fighting bat impersonator and his winged cohort are known to frequent the streets of Baltimore with a gang of cross dressers. Amazingly enough he is still able to fulfill his vitally important roll of backdrop, the only interesting part of any p-rade. Jack proved to me that sailing is definitely not for the feint of heart (or hand). RTB AJT

Trigg, Traflager, Tigger, Two-tone. The kid who came from Lubbock to be a gymnast--and turned out to be a damn good midshipman too. Who? Oh yeah the guy who did the flips plebe summer. So it's like 20 degrees out and snowing, can we please close the windows now? It's a new game, all you need are raisonets and a coat hanger. Where the hell is my chem lab? You set the room on fire? Give me the picture of my sister back! Are you going to take a shower? Thanksgiving in Mass--goldschlager anyone? How much pie did we eat? I just need to beat this new computer game. Has anyone seen my leotard? Pizza night. How'd you almost knock out your own teeth again? You and that damn snooze button! Who didn't you date in high school? Drivin the stang back from TZ--are we there yet? Handcuffs? Ring Dance--why am I wearing a tube top? You look marvolous in Becca's dress. We better get a cab. Why am I in Norfolk again? Murray. Bruno came to USNA convinced that the world spun around the Meadowlands, New Jersey food, Catholic Italians, and P.F. Spent all of plebe year on restriction. Good times at Brad's were plentiful. Always in pursuit of the pork chop, fri-mediums, beers, shrimps, boobs, chickens, champagne. Ran the South Padre 5K- but can he run the USNA 1.5 miler? Met his future virtuous wife in Toronto with his buddies- thank God there is an ATM machine nearby. ATM-overuser, Penn State exploiter, D-dropper, and Billy Joel's only fan. Can bench press a house but can't run around it! Plebe detail- JABRONI by the Seabee memorial with his rifle. Secret Santa and future Jolly Roger who is also known for his singing of Neil Diamond and Frank Sinatra. "Gentlemen, this is an event 21 years in the making—does anyone have any kitty litter?" "Who?" Abbrey's and mongrelizes with Brubonics. Carries on Fife's tradition of the papacy. Rogaine, V8, de-evolution- dresses like he's 6, acts like he's 60. Yeah ok Ror, if we live not to hear another "One time when I was drunk" story, it will be a good day. We knew you would make a great friend when you walked through the streets of Tijuana, zipper down, and flood gates open clapping incessantly to some random beat ringing in your head from Club A. The big Irishman with a small Irish Johnson thought his tolerance was what it used to be in High School, but his face was green with Stoner Envy the next morning. When we finally made it to SD, we decided that you weren't as much of a dork as you seemed like in the hall. Gotta study!! Each SB we became a little closer, whether it was a T-shirt contest in Cocoa or a naked water slide ride in Jamaica, we were together through it all. A broken wrist didn't stop your love to throw, which is what made our friendship so strong. Who started that Jell-O fight anyways? I think it was Jon, but you had the balls to return fire, ten fold. Thanksgiving was definitely a time to give thanks for the love you and your family have shown us over the years. We all had a chance to go our separate ways, but being together in Wyo for Yuengling and Turkey was a given. Thanks for being the mediator, you saved our threesome more than once. - Jon and Jeff

During her life here at the Academy, Chantelle was always a hard woman to catch. She was constantly busy doing something – singing in the Gospel Choir, volunteering for MAG projects, being UTZ chips number one consumer (preferably, barbecue), and investigating honor offenses. In addition, the infamous Ms. Nagbe is one of the fastest women to have walked through the doors of the Academy, leaving behind numerous records that many people will have a hard time breaking. The end of plebe year, filled with chaos, regrets, and anxiety, yielded a feeling of hope and perseverance. Youngster year seemed doomed at first because of the company (er, she kept). However, it was this year that she found her T-Bear and finally, her reason for continuing appeared. Ss brought new friends and a busted stereo, in addition, to moments of plebedom. The year of the Big Dance brought drama into the "Motherland" but also created an appreciation of differences. During Firstie summer, she accepted a permanent commitment and had too much fun out west. In the last segment of this four-part drama, there was lots of fast track action. The final episode proves to be the greatest of all, as she shows all the haters (Mr. Lee Jeans and Mr. Liberia) that she can and did succeed.

E - 8128..bagels, big cookies and Kool Cats..was that wax or bleach?..tape wars...there was never a dull moment. Thanks for the smiles, the laughs and the tears...I could not imagine this place without you...[illegible] decorations from Harry P. Ne[illegible] to the diamond shamrock..death at South of the Boarder and [illegible] spuds on the head floor...And let us not forget a pepper buried 2000 miles in a boiling trunk for HOT FRANZ...NZ and FC...she survived the killer workouts from [illegible] to hold the 4x800 and 1000m records. But the social bug ignored Karen long enough to go skiing, gambling and downtown to find those great Margaritas. Don't worry, though, she learned that there is nothing wrong with drinking pony beers and spending all of her money. Through it all Erin's smile has given everyone around her a reason to be thankful for such a great friend...AB..2E, we've been through it all and have the pictures to prove it. Anyone seen Erin and Ann? Oh, they are probably lost AGAIN...30 minute runs turn into hours, didn't know that you could STAY in the ghetto so long. Aftershock and Yaegermeister, only the beginning of that summer. London, sure, why not? 2E, watch out for that stopped car, don't worry, the supt really didn't see you run into that parked car. Almost banned from my table cause you spilled so much...not good that the only thing you can cook is pasta with RED sauce. I will survive (who was that song for, me or you, just can't remember these days) I will give you a cookie if you win the race...always one to take a bribe..Did you say Margaritas? Its past noon somewhere right? Watch out, 2E found the ice cream, so much for the rest of us getting any. Dig in to that Vermonster...EARL MUST DIE and Passion, what a combo! I am looking forward to the millions of other adventures we are sure to have. You are one of my greatest friends. Love you, ALW

Oh, rainBOWS!! How would I have survived the past three years without you? I am a Division I varsity athlete with a Division I varsity track meet tomorrow!! "You aren't the guy that got kicked off YP's are you?" "No." "Okay, good." Jeff Foxworthy in the mornings..."Here's your grandma...$#!%, don't do that, I ain't had my coffee yet..." Hey, are you about done over there? Yeah. Good 'cause you've been pissing me off all night over there with the noise you've been making. Clouds of right guard make a good alarm clock. Who else would you trust taking your contacts out? Who's the BC? Gabby who? Getting married together...moving Kristi out here...playing cards all night, wouldn't trade any of it...RJW TPA Rule #1 If you got a Haynes manual you can do anything. Bowling in S.P. with the ladies. Three country boys and one wannabe in one room, it don't get no better than that. If you've lived with us for a year we'll make you an honorary redneck. See ya in hickville. MWC

Jesse is a GOOD DUDE! The mullet was in full effect and he loved to "robby" in the POS. Whether it was the monkey punch in the fire extinguisher or the B-side blowouts at Nancy's or the lemonade rum, he was always UNREAL! Asexual most of the time until a few G&T's take over, loved partying with B.J. and his weirdo friends. Kissed Tim James, NHL 2000 is still his favorite hobby, and he thinks he is the heir to Mick Jagger. All he wants is his AWESOME motorcycle shop and to be close to his brother. Good dresser (Celtic tearaway pants for all occasions, Hawaiian Xmas), excellent room cleaner (F*- thanks Carsten), loved the class of '98. Had the non-midshipmen chit for a solid year (White works? No formations?). Image makeover- company XO for 3 weeks. Loves monkeys and the B-Side. Robby will not know how to go on once he leaves Jesse. Lookout T-bo's cause Jesse is on the loose with his G.I. mullet. "What'd he ever do to you?" Wu-Tang Forever! PRE, AJB, EAL, BJM, JPH, RTN

Have you ever seen the dust on a butterfly's wings? I have. Japanese American butterflies are rare in these parts, but I know of a flying creature whose Mathematic skill, patience, love, and faith touched a flower in the heart of many men and women. Flighty and grounded, Marianne nourished our faith in ourselves, in our religions, and in each other. For the life of me, I cannot remember what life was like before I saw the dust on this butterfly's wings. I stood close enough to see that it wasn't dust at all, but golden flakes from angel tears. After the dances, the costumes, the fights, the aerobics, the waxings, and the pina coladas, she remained as beautiful as those same golden tears. Through the hard times and the impossible times she held it together. FLY AWAY, BUTTERFLY!!! FLY AWAY!!! But remember to visit.

Poor Greg what did you do to deserve this? The only sane man in a room full of lunatics, the only clean person in a room of slobs. The [illegible] you were forced to put up with crap "above and beyond" the call of roommate duty. Oh well, you still managed to clean house as a NAPC, learn to fly (even though you chose SWO, in a twist of irony), sail every day, NOT DRILL, and keep up a great relationship with Boni who you aren't engaged to, but if you were you'd be marrying on October 7. Best of luck to both of you, especially in Japan. Lay off the saki and the Sapporo, and keep in touch with us lowlifes from 7419, Dude, Phil, and Dave. For many years she knew what to do. Like Marine Corps and Matt and Math major, too. And most of the time she cheered as Captain of the illustrious Cheerleading Team. Kissimmee's brightest star, she changed her mind about Matt, about Marines, about roommates, and ...well there wasn't much that she hadn't changed her mind about. Even in the heat of the summer, through the hurricanes and mice and gerbils(Charlotte and Busta'), and with that Texan (Ok I'll mention his name: Cade) who she decided to marry against my best wishes, but since I'm the maid of honor and she's paying for the dress, I retract all those harsh statements.(And the Voodoo curse, although I went to confession about that.) Incredibly bright and a great friend Myah, not the bee, although she smelled like flowers from Victoria's secret, has always been an inspiration and though I don't now anyone who showers longer, a great roomie. She's going to be a great wife and naval officer, if chaos doesn't get her first.

Hey lady! You awake?? Sorry... Darn. Why is it every time I come by, you are asleep or gone? Even with your amazing penchant for disappearing for long periods of time, you managed to touch so many lives. We at Canoe U have been so lucky to blessed with you, our own Memphis belle. She survived Chem 2, Physics and living in a 4-man room with 4 women and only one shower. This phenomenal woman not only endured this place, those men and that terrible Ring Dance Fiasco, she became a better person for it. Together we shared hopes, dreams, anxiety, disappointment and joy. From watching late night movies in the wardroom to partying hard at the house, she was always fun to be around. Could all this be over? Of course not! You had better take a break from the Devil Dogs to come hang out with the old gang. You wanna know something... it's your life!!! Take it back!!! Live. Laugh. Love. Work hard but play harder. To Juan, our token amigo, who was too short for the Marines, too color blind for the SWOS, and too liberal for the Mech E Dept. You have changed our view of Texans and wowed us with your knowledge of the useless (movie trivia). The only Mexican adopted into an Italian family, and one hell of a matchmaker. Your nocturnal study habits, Eddie Murphy-esque comedy, and untamed doo (or lack thereof) have kept us regular. We missed you senior year while on your hiatus to the Swedish Ikea outlet. Buena suerte en la Armada = Keep it real in da Fleet, dawg = May your occupational endeavors in suppological operations bloom like the algae on a phosphate and nitrous enriched reservoir (depending on if you're with family, track friends, or your roommates). Give me my damn blue-rims and headphones! Don't wear your cover in the shower, it'll get gross...oh, you're cleaning it. So, how did Ring Dance go for you? Don't you ever go to class? Dean, grampabean, big daddy bean— Have you seen the llama? I need to talk to him. Would anybody like some coffee? Auburn, Alabama… shit… someone signed me up to be in the Navy. An Engineer?— Better luck next time… stick with philosophy. BERMUDA OR BUST!!! 5 straight days at sea, enough said. I met this Irish chick. She digs me. They all dig me. Where the hell did I leave my moped? Sailing on the bay… George, you're fired! … I'm never wrong…. Captain Bligh, perhaps? Contrary to belief, sailboats do get broken… A couple words of advice—Never tell the bean story, you are always wrong, rum goes better with coke than nothing at all, chicks will dig you if you talk about travel, and port tack starts can work. Macchu Picchu - I'm coming home. Got something small to munch on? You bet he does! Good Luck— Turtle.

Wow!..I am completely overwhelmed by the thought of trying to fit everything I would like to say onto this blank page in an attempt to describe the most wonderful person I have ever met, and will ever know. Albert James Prebula III...or as many of you probably know him, simply- PREB. Well, if you know Preb, then you may also know Girth. Girth is AJ's lifting buddy-AKA weight belt. Powerlifting is the name of the game. But lifting is definitely not AJ's main passion in life...(I would hope I am up there on the list too), but the one I am referring to involves seeing the world from a completely different perspective. A completely HIGHER perspective. Flying is AJ's niche. He is so good at it. I am so proud of him that he is making his dream of being a pilot into reality by being completely dedicated to it. Flying and powerlifting are only a couple of things to describe what AJ does, but they don't begin to describe HIM. I don't even know if I can do that. The first few things that come to mind are AWESOME, CARING, FUNNY, SWEET, SUPPORTIVE, SEXY, HARD WORKING, THOUGHTFUL...(am I over my word limit yet?) If not, I could go on forever. My hope is the same for AJ and I. DNC

In the beginning, he was just a man. But years at Canoe U created the man we call Rendez, Country, Jimmy-K and RJ's favorite roommate, and JG, Lord of Pennant One. He learned to hurl books at roomies, to convert BLT's to All bacon, while still maintaining his girlish figure ("East, does my butt look big to you?"). He would also learn the importance of the front side fall on ice (yes Jerry, your wrist shouldn't be bigger than your thigh). Trailer Ghetto folk would cower in his presence. Fueled by tons of gummy bears, he never relented in his battle against RJ's dark music (White Zombie on the left, Kirk Franklin on the right). Late at night… Frazzled hair… Pained expression on his face… Odd sounds emerging from his mouth… Must be an aero major! Who else could leave his stuff such a mess and vaporize everything I own in under five minutes? You survived the projects. The originator of 4-2 bowling. The constant supplier of cookies. Constant source of amusement. "Guys I'm really drunk!" Witness to the drunk possum. Owns more tools than a contractor. Always the Boy Scout. The father figure at Israel parties. Jersey girls are crazy! Never forget your friends - Sally, Eeyore, Monty. Where's Eeyore? Hanging from the ceiling? Flying out a window? Noooo… Head harder than my ironing board. Three years in Casa de "J" and you still have not cracked. Or maybe you were always cracked… Where's your wife now? Still want to rappel off Bancroft? Going off-road? Always remember tow straps. Who needs a parking spot? There's a mound of snow… Nobody could have had better luck on watch - taps, bed checks, who's missing now? "Chez J"

The kid from northwest Pennsylvania came to USNA with a fire in his heart and high goals in his mind. The depths of the ocean taught him to appreciate the light from above... Stu's become a kid of mythical status... his name's larger than he is, known as the guy who dominated the PFT, setting the school record. BEEFStu's untouchable... in physical competition, commemorating honor and memorizing Shakespeare. Focused & reserved during [illegible]... "[illegible]" Stu never turned down a party. An honorary member of the crews of the Island Hopper, Marley Farm, GB, PR, and Beef Bonanza... taking road trips to far away places or DTA and the place that bears his name — when Zurn walked into a room, heads turned. He always brought his wisdom, energy, and amazing thoughts. What does the future hold for the officer and gentleman? Who's to say...a history buff in a math majors clothes, he can never avoid the call of the Union to drum up the troops. When this sandblower leaves the gates surrounding Bancroft, a void so great as to encompass the poles of the world will be left and shall never be filled again. Liz is the most Irish woman I know. Her brutally honest advice has attracted several orphan midshipmen who would all agree that the world would be a better place if people would just listen to "Momma Liz." Whether she's fighting her way to the stage at a punk concert or off-roading in a rented Mexican Jeep, Liz is a fun girl. Got carrots? She has a variety of talents such as singing, dancing, and seduction. "Good morning Mr. Burfield, Sir!" "What was his last name again?" Bouncing on her toes and sprinting gave Liz the edge in the calve portion of our weekly pose down extravaganzas. Those Cat Slippers have seen better days. Paprika is a spicy spice. Endorphin-loving Hellion. How many people can you fit into a closet? Boys are messy! Dustpan snow shovel. You're either with her or against her, and she knows the score. If you have the privilege of being on her "good" list, Liz is the most loyal friend you'll ever have. Liz is not one to compromise herself. Don't waste your time playing Quake against him, he's logged more hours shooting computer enemies than he has trying to impress teachers with his homework, it came in sine waves anyhow. Don't follow his directions. He took 95 to Baltimore! Although when he gets lost he's always got a loudspeaker on his car to call for help. Chad (AKA Frank White) could write a book on his life at the Naval Academy............ The "Whitengale" Song. His legacy will live on from 6th wing to 7th wing, from King Hall to the Mid Store, from Hagerstown to the nation's capital, from Pittsburgh to Clanton Alabama. He is truly a world traveler. This NSBE chapter VP took his call of duty to the next level. He often attended late night sessions at the University of Delaware and John Hopkins while the president was eating a midnight snack. Midshipman White also won an award of citation for his gallant efforts in the siege of Mermaid Hill. The soldiers of Fort Mead attacked the Pittsburgh Militia in a bloody battle. If it were not for the great heroism that Midshipman White displayed, the Yankees would have surely perished. God bless America. To J.W. M.S. M.H. J.B. S.W. B.B. here is the torch. Don't drop it. I guess if it wasn't for me you'd still be eating that pizza by yourself in Dahlgren right now. The first year saw some very interesting moments like getting "sick" at Stacey's, "working out" with Alisa, playing football to Bon Jovi, and the infamous trip to Pickles Pub. "I'm all wet." Youngster year involved our beloved Cyndi and Spring Break in beautiful exotic Kalamazoo. Al Shake em Up in the trenches with the bed reports. Late night action behind Halsey and dumping your girlfriend and having me drive her to the airport. Telling the W&M girl you were sick after getting her picture in the mail. No more Dave Matthews concerts for you. You took insane to a different level in Jamaica. Giving free Journey concerts on the balcony. Speaking of balconies, what exactly were you doing that one time on Kristy's balcony?? "Shake or malt...or one of each?" Only one word needs be said to describe the Dave George USNA experience: Sleep. The eternal youngster rackman. But, he was creative. Yes, he did manage to get an A in ethics, even when cussing on EVERY paper. That really pissed John off. Wanna watch TV Dave? Yeah, tell John to leave the room, and I'll get the cord from the ceiling. And then came Ralph....who countered Dave's brilliant sleeping style by staying up all night. When he wasn't sleeping, he was doing inverted push ups in the hall. That is if it was his monthly PT week. So what you doing this weekend Dave? Umm...going to my sponsors to watch TV. Wanna go party? His drinking career was quickly sidelined by incidents of sleeping in vomit. What about when he sat in Alan's chair and peed everywhere in the room? Why you PTing Dave? Adam has the PRT this week. Yeah, he's going back to Nuke school to nerd it up for a while. Then after a quick stint in the Navy, he's headed back to Alliance....maybe to sell more tools at Sears. Chas. True country. All these damned people out here don't know sh*t. We had some good times. Met during detail. We roomed together 'cause everyone else sucked. All we had was anger and a huge stereo. Crashed at Hallisey's, wish she still had a pool. Camping, getting lost, and swimming at Swallow Falls. Friday night porch parties and Saturday morning march-overs. Weekends at Kate's, getting free food and beer, sending her into debt. Me waking up when you pulled me out of the pool at that house after Buffet. West Virginia, drinking the night away. You being the ladies man, me attacking the virgin bottle of absolute...almost made it, too. Damn, am I glad you cleaned up after me. Got you some points, though. Spring break, driving to Atlanta to see Becks then to Miami. You and Nancy drank a bit of wine. Ring Dance sucked, but what the hell...You ate leathernuts up...didn't like the navy pilots, though? Not visiting your sponsor till "they" left, then schmoozing there right afterwards. Fuc* As*! Craig's landing gear? Damn, I'm glad you are a friend. Once a Marine, always a Marine. CAC

No, but let's ask...," spring break in Florida, and endless hours of laughter, tears, chats, memories, and dreams. You were (and will always be) the beautiful, intelligent girl with an infectious laugh, a warm smile, and a room full of flowers. It's "girl's night out"- Polly's anyone? All I want to do is dance! There's another guy that likes ya Tomi-damn! How many is that? But, "who cares?!" 24 hrs. for 7 days- What an awesome adventure! I'll never forget it. Did you hear a bear?... Was that a tree that just fell? Victoria and Vancouver, Lisa and Natasha, flaming Dr. Peppers, noises in the bathroom (we broke that sink), and our secret that will go to the grave. Hey, was that five kids or five CATS? You are the "bestest," Tomi Ellen. Thank you for your loyalty, devotion, energy, and kindness. It has been a true pleasure for us all. You know!... Super Bad Ass Sweet Daddy John was lucky to survive the ghetto of Vancouver and get to us. As a youngster he was up BEFORE REVEILLE to properly square himself away for the day. Living in the tubby room has cured him of that, what a SHOCKER. And now, he's a pimp y'all. Rolling DTA or hitting Polyesters (whatever happened to Prohibition??), looking and SMELLING all suave and de-boner, this James Brown can really tear it up on the dance floor-just ask to see one of his original dances. Napoleon did do a great job as CC first semester, always leading the company from the front, especially in the area of tailgater festivities. We all learned that it is possible to keep a good man down, it just takes 3 people-get out of my wardroom you!! Johnny does have a promising film career to look forward after he gets done his CNO tour; one day we'll all get to see him in remakes of Big Trouble, Marlboro Man, and Swingers. From the west coast of the United States comes Jeffery Aaron and he brings with him his drums for his band. Born in "Tool-time 10" raised in "Free-19." There is nothing better for the soul than a Marine Roommate. We met youngster year, where we became roommates, and boy were we different. The CMFU room-the good, the bad, and the ugly. We all had our own ways of doing things, however, we are the only room that lasted for three years. Throughout his four years, many things have come up, for instance, during youngster summer at a Christian Camp, Jeff found the love of his life and boy did his life change. Army week on 1-1 with some motivated inverted training in the head. You're using my racquet more than me. From early morning Sunday services, escorting the admiral and his wife to leading the men and women in skirts, Jeff has truly left his mark at USNA. Perhaps on some distant planet there may be a race of chappys, but earth is blessed with but one.
He brings sound advice, hardened loyalty, and unparalleled humor. We may harass him for his propensity to pinch copper pieces, but of his heart and his time, he is never shy to give. -PH

This self-proclaimed "fastest woman alive"can be easily discerned from the rest of the population by a prominent fro and an attitude reminiscent of Scarlet O'Hara. As a "Midshipman 3/c, she would NEVAH stay out past 10:00", but she did learn to loosen up. So much so, in fact, that she could be caught mooning people in T-court from the Spice Rack and hooking it up with a beef cake from the company. Although she claims it was assid-rain, one could almost be certain that the unusual odor that sometimes permeated from the perpetual P-way pull-up queen was due to her weekly bleach soak. Whether verbally abusing an "obviously drunk" dog or jamming on a drum set that does not belong to her, Ms. Hawkins is never at a loss for inventive activities while intoxicated. From her unbelievable performances as a rugby player to her butt- wigglin'-award-winning Austin Power's dance, she's always the most motivated in any competition and has definitely earned her title as Ms. Yut America. Although she goes to join the ranks of the permanently locked on, she'll never lose that spark that made having Lindsay around one of the best and most memorable parts of my last 4 years here.

Pete, Mike, Peter the Monkey, came to the Academy from Los Angeles (Fullerton) with hopes and aspirations of the highest degree - to Golf and Surf. He became the image we always wanted of California and his abilities in many different areas were legendary. Anyone who smoked and drank and was still able to win the Patriot League Tournament in golf and surf on the weekends in the dead of winter gains some respect around here. When we got down, he played us a tune on his guitar, best player in this place. My mom says - You're The Devil. Could you please pass the BBQ sauce. Steph kept him a little closer to life and to that she gets a little nod here. "Will, you have a DAPA room? - oh canada". Pete (Mike) always spoke of the fam and will still always be Momma Lauder's boy. He's going to be one of the first Captain's we get from 2000, and the Navy will be better for it. Pete knew the games here and played them well. If you knew him you were lucky, if you were his friend you were golden. But friend or no friend, don't try bum cigs, BYOSmokes. Good luck flying high, if ever a man should be a Navy Pilot, it is Pete, all you have to do is look at the hair, yes lady's that's called "feathered". WKR, PRK, JPK

It has been a long and difficult four years here at USNA. I thought Commissioning Week would never arrive. Graduation could not have been possible without the support and love from you all. I wanted to dedicate this portion of the Lucky Bag to you. Four years ago, I entered this institution not having a clue as to what to expect. A lot has happened over the last four years, but despite all the challenges and obstacles, the light at the end of the tunnel finally arrived. Four years later, I am ready to receive my commission and become a happily married man. Thank you Mom, Dad, Nevin, and my beautiful wife-to-be, Esther. I love you all very much. Your Zuben

Born with pilot's wings on his chest, Michael comes from a conservative family in small-town Georgia. He has many friends, due to his agreeable nature: he never hears a word that you say. ("Neil," "[illegible]'s cool dude") A master-debater and physics major (until youngster year), at age twenty he has a mid-life crisis. He adopted Political Science, picked up guitar and piano, wrote a novel, several screenplays, and invented the postage stamp. He is most productive between the hours of two and four in the morning and is occasionally mistaken for a vampire. Although deeper in debt than the national budget, he blows his paychecks at the closest rave, where he wears his newest shirt like an exclamation point. The self-assumed alpha male, he has marked his territory: anything female.

Mr. Augenblick - what more can one say. He has grown a lot in the last 3 years. He learned to say "I was wrong." His is just like his car; loud, short, and close to the ground. 'Alligator arms' Augenblick is so inflexible that he cannot put sun tan lotion on his own back. Or maybe you have seen our fearless leader on the basketball court. My grandma falls out of her wheelchair higher than he can jump. But in all honesty, aug always takes care of his friends. He knows how to make anyone feel like family and has open his home to many mids. Hell, who hasn't been to AUGtown, PA. No one can think of Army-Navy without thinking of a party at the Augenblicks. I think everyone has either broken something there, told Mrs. Aug a personal story that they probably should not have, tried to make a little extra noise to keep Mr. Aug awake, or had the time of their life. Most people call him Arleigh without even knowing his first name, just don't call him Junior. Not much bothers Clay. If it doesn't enter into the two foot circle around him, it doesn't affect him at all. He is a great guy to have around because he takes care of all those things no one else even thinks about... like what's for lunch. He has an affinity for rolling dice and painting little green men. "Watching" computer games and playing women in different states is his past-time. Recon-daddy has been quite busy these past four years with racking, D&B, racking, Gorkamorka, racking, e-frying, and he even made time to rack every now and then. Good thing he's a GE now and not an Aero anymore because homework just gets in the way. If it weren't for the POD, the Stepchild would always be out of loop. He never fails to put in fifteen country CD's, leave the door wide open, and his desk covered in junk before he leaves. At Army-Navy, he stole Matt's Ron Rico and threw away an entire case of Miller! Lenny's more distinctive characteristics are his POS Topaz and the desire to argue when he's obviously wrong. And if you're looking for him, he'll be back at 11:59... JAM, JSM

And it's great to see the look on peoples' faces when this kid who doesn't look or sound like he can even spell Naval Academy turns out to be a genius and an athlete. Lots of the people I know here drive the "right" cars, wear the right clothes, hang at the right bars, date the right girls, and say the right things. But people with heart and honest emotional depth are tough to find, and that's why Steve Cook is going to be liked that everyone that takes the time to get to know him. Things I associate with Steve...Dan Mattingly, tech stocks, poker chips, bad haircuts, tattoos, pants that are two inches to short, shirt sleeves that are three inches too short, Cherry Coke, Ice House, odor eaters, Area 51, jackal, karate fighter, weekday liberty, Monday night football, spicy chicken pizza, the miracle no-look flipcup shot, gray t-shirts, Ebay, and arguing for the sake of arguing. You've gotta like a guy whose said that if he didn't get Marine Corps he'd drop out and enlist. You've gotta like a guy who's never been given anything in his life and worked his ass off to get where he is. You've gotta like a guy who can call a spade a spade. You've gotta like a guy who puts his family above every other facet of his life. The world may underestimate Steve Cook, but if we're not real careful, he might just rule it someday.

Token, On the five year plan and we are all thankful for it. You came in and took charge on ST Patty's Day and haven't looked back. I guess its no big deal to roll with five of us and be the only one to make it back. 2 for 7 and everything after that has been the best thing ever. Are you using that shed for anything? Saki bombs, bike parade, mangias, badminton team tough, thanks habib. If any of us from the dream teams makes it big we owe it all to you the backbone. You've made us laugh, warmed up our hearts, and colored up our lives, thanks for everything same brain. Thanks mom, dad, mike, gretch, jeanne, jon, lori, kath, tony, maggie, and matt! Grif came to us from the priviledged life of the "Admiral's son's club." He got to do special things, like ride in F-16s, get operational with SEALS, and get chicks. Wrestling in G-Town, showing girls the stairs in Ocean City, observing taxi cab confessions. . . The career that used to be defined by early morning erg tests took a gross turn for the worse come retirement. Grif and B-Laub's tag team effort to get it done has become legend second only to Magellan. Whether it was taking on F-150's or Nebraska lineman, Grif always put his best foot forward. Honor and integrity was always high on his list and that was what everyone respected the most about him. A fierce competitor, especially on the golf course and squash court. This more than made up for his sappiness away from the playing field. Authored such fine works as: "Taxi Cab Confessions," and "The 11:45 Caller." Although he may be best known for his heroics as an accomplished artillery officer, we have yet to see whether he will choose to be a scratch golfer or a jet pilot. If we had to guess......."Maritime Patrol" TO'C, B-Laubs, and Dirty-B.

Kitz is gifted, but not in the traditional sense that you might expect. His gift is an approach to life that is pretty rare, especially here. I've never seen him angry, never seen him raise his voice, never seen him in a bad mood, never seen stress get him down, and never seen him take his frustration out on someone else. Dan Kitzmiller is an emotional genius. He can make an ultra-conservative 50 year old couple laugh to the point of near incontinence with his one liners. He can make a group of girls we met three minutes ago feel like our old friends in no time. Kitz is the guy you love to have on your team, but never mind playing against. He never misses that open field tackle, he's perfected the pool ball stiff arm, he's always the top scorer on the powerball team, he's good to have around for that crucial flip cup game, or maybe when you want to know what the poker gods are thinking. Kitz is the guy you follow up the hill every time, and he didn't need shirt stays and shoe polish to make people feel that way. Kitz my friend, you do however need to work on your drunk, wrong-handed, ping-pong skills...I've got you there every time. They say everyone has enemies, but I've never met anyone who doesn't like Dan Kitzmiller. Good luck with your family Kitz, maybe our kids will play on the same team someday.

I was born in Farmington, N.M. in 1978. My father worked as a Public Health Service physician on a Navajo reservation in Shiprock, N.M.. Situated 14 miles northwest of my birthplace and having a population of approximately 400, Shiprock exposed me to a wide variety of cultures. These experiences coupled with my family's influence, instilled in me a certain sensitivity towards diversity. My mother worked as a french teacher and often traveled abroad. I have an older brother by four years, and he is a constant source of inspiration for me. Having been both brothers and friends for the past 22 years, we have shared many experiences together-some tragic, some great, some not so great-but all unforgettable. He was a graduate of the United States Naval Academy in 1996, and I hope to follow in his footsteps as a Medical Corps physician. My family now resides in North Carolina where I will be attending medical school in the fall.

Michael J. DiGangi came to the Academy from Yonkers, NY...got a problem with that? Mike went through a four year identity crisis here, often mistaking himself for a Mafioso Don...and Steve Padhi. Always the wise guy and neat freak (Fellas, it's 2:00 am, let's clean), Mike could be counted on for a laugh...at his roommates' expense. A natural leader and diplomat, he hosted Ashik, the Bangladeshi student (Don't you rate serving your upperclass?!!). Mike spent time at West Point 2/C year, nearly failing Bartending 101. His time was spent reading, writing, and defending freedom against immature prots who dress like the village people. This suave bachelor always pleased the ladies ..."Mike, I'm starving like a hostage!" In New River Mike learned to fly but couldn't keep his Cobra out of the Maple tree. He'll make a great Marine aviator, since he'll never have to work for a living. 1/C year brought the CC position along with the greatest roommates a guy could ask for; Mike kept busy fighting off women and Sllaby Laup. Remember Mike, Marines have standards...we know you'll make a great one. Semper Fi. JCL, STL

Goby, midget, famous for the Goby song... "Goby, why are you always holding on to your d-ck?" "It wouldn't be very gentlemanly of me to leave it danglin' all along the ground would it?" Goby has come a long way from eating his squad mates.... From his two day stint as platoon sergeant at Quantico to Navy NFO. "Goby, what are you doing in the shower?" If you can't get a good girl get a Hood girl. She was psycho, but she sure did like to...(Altoids) p.s. Stoney swears he's innocent. Marcus liked variety, from being Zule's keymaster to trying his mojo with the CC's sister (hmm, bloody hand, broken window-what?), "every girl wants a piece of the Goby." Tri a Sigma Carrie, everyone else has... A training officer with sound morals: "Mr. Gobrecht, here's the deal..." "No thanks, I'll take the restriction," and the soccer Acoach was a-runnin'. Goby is a good man and a good friend...just ask the biker chicks, they liked him too. -RNS., ASN, DMD

Remember your rules of combat at BUD/S: 1) Always hit the grinder with a burrito in your pocket, 2) carry about 30 knives...all the time, 3) If you're overseas and don't speak the language, "ha ha ha" works just fine... I'm American!! 4) Any volcano is always climbable, and 5) Never do anything w/o a dip, make sure you spit really loud. Um, whatsit...I was just gonna say... Shaun Lieb (AKA Mr. Bitter) brought his string of horrible luck from Lakewood, N.J. via NAPS, where he was a plank owner of the NAPS Rappelling team. His luck did improve when he became our Reg CDR . . . or maybe not. But at least he can down five pints . . . or maybe not. At least his first book "How to Walk in Lower Manhattan," flourished before his second book "A Few Things I'd Like To Get Off My Chest" flopped. When not leading high school tour groups, getting concussions on the fieldball field, or playing Rambo on CPT, Shaun liked to sulk. And sulk he did. His secondary interests include mutilating the Greek's stuffed animals, playing with Ashiq da' freak, and surviving gorilla attacks in 6334 and 6324. Shaun put these hobbies aside when Kelly came along and took away our little leprechaun . . . but at least Mike won "the bet." Remember: Shaun do I do this to you; ass in the fan; argh-the water is kold; drop-face the water; all I have is this filly; you don't ride no f@#kin' horses; toe surgery in Sicily; how much MD sucks (although your girl is from there); and how your two roomies are working for a living in the fleet! Joe Mc[illegible] came to us from the small hamlet of Abingdon, VA. After toiling for nearly 4 years under the Cantrell's school of distance running, Joe's pursuits turned to attempting to capture the elusive big bird and out wit the jimmy legs. With a hefty sub bonus, Joe traded in the battle Pulsar (which he was guilty of trying to steal from himself) and bought himself a ride suitable to steal any youngster away from their boyfriend. Cancun 2K brought out levels of debauchery and mischief rarely seen, and a peacock, broken $150 table, a shot glass of sand, and countless episodes of Soy Las Comedrejas are all that remain...along with the cries of EAT ME! Countless roadtrips to Dave w/ the Runj, Bird, and Weasel provided hours of diversion (an no AJ, there is no beach in Roanoke). Trading Paul expanded from a part time to a full time job, and this teflon mid almost made it - had it not been for the munchies and 3 parking tickets. Too smart for his own good at times, but always with a plan. Say woozel, what are we going to do tonight? Little tipsy shaking the admiral's hand on service assignment night eh? El Shrimp Bucket. AMorgan@ came a whompin and a whampin from South Kakalaki, sweating like a bulldog eating pizza. Soon to marry the only non relative in the surrounding 150 miles. The distance from home didn't stop him from making the 2% club, but making the 2.00 club was another story. Ran and ran some more, ended up in Indiana at the 1999 NCAA Cross Country Championships. A man of true endurance, Nigglet ruled the cross-country courses and met his goal of 23 times in one week. Go easy on the BHS, its the only one you've got. Many fond memories in the in the Hollers and Hills of pleasants Co. A genuine marksman, he could pick a deer off the run in less than 10 shots; but he was always a good sport and offered the animal a beer when it was all over. Have another round with the deer. Well, aye-aye there sssailor!!! What? Me—a SWO? Hell no!! When Nick arrived at the Academy back in the great summer of '96, I knew he was destined for greatness. Hailing from the sunny scenes of Orlando (the only place to live, as I was reminded many, many times), Nick checked into Alumni, and after the best six weeks of his life (as the Turdman's Special Project) found himself a lowly inmate of The Bastille. Despite falling under a Shade of DEATH, being painfully introduced to BOHICA courtesy of the Aero Dept, and coming to the startling realization that perhaps, just maybe navigation was not his forté (however, cleverly disposing of charts via 5-4 windows was), he valiantly persevered to carry on the tradition and make us all proud. So many great memories—overflowing lockers ... YP cruise ... late night jaunts to the ledge ... Plebe Year Army Week ... losing your hair in a game of darts (Brad who???) ... partying at Thetsa's ... Spring Break '99 (hmmm) . .. golfing with the dads ... a little Bondage ... Jose, Corona, Malibu (to name a few) ... and who could forget the moms? The Navy is lucky to have a guy like you leading the way, Nick, and I am honored to call you my best friend. All the best!

Mike Connors, originally from Clifton Park, New York, will be living the "good" life in the surface warfare community when he graduates. During his Four Years by the Bay, he changed from a short, quiet young man into a short, not-so-quiet young man, in all respects a shocking transformation. He found his calling with yard patrol craft, the unofficial "corvettes of the fleet," even though he skated the thin ice of academia...He "excelled" in such battles as Plebe Chemistry, Calculus, and of course, Boats. Unusually, he actually managed to be one of the select "few" with an average just above the storied Two-Point-Oh guarded so well by Tecumseh. Life was good to him in his first class year: he finally met his One-And-Only, and they've been inseparable ever since. May they be together forever. As Kipling so eloquently described the destroyer over a hundred years ago, "on the strength of twice three-thousand horse" he enters the fleet, butter bars and all, ready to serve on the ocean that has called to him for his entire life, for 5 years at least...

When James Gus Demitrack graduated, the Academy lost a true hero. Eight-Track is a saint, a genius, and comedian in one. The only Gus in town. Plebe year= calm and cool, no sweet for this former high school warrior. This man was a comedian's best friend. Do go fasters really go with civies? The honorable doctor. Everyone turned to him for guidance. The smartest man alive. Always looked on the bright side of life. Didn't enjoy the enlisted game. Once he gained his stripes, he forgot the little people. Demitrack = marathon runner (in hot D.C. smog for two years straight, what were we thinking?) Always willing to help a friend out. Can I borrow your car? Sleeps at attention. Have you ever seen calves that big? Always #1 in our hearts. You are a great leader and an even better friend. TAD Mike, the best CC in the brigade. A friend behind closed, locked doors, ask Dief. Tough to the corps. Weekends at USNA. BRP, CC, JDB, FYI, BUDS. Any time you need something, just DIAL him up. Kung foo theater. One of the best leaders to walk these halls sine 1845. Good luck Mike. Hey Einstein (point man of Seal Team 6254)! Did her neck throw up? She is sooooooo drunk. We weren't running, it was just cold out. Maybe we were waiting for J-Rod or the Funky bunch. Let?s go plant flowers. You did not just pee in the garbage- Chris would never approve. No more bets for you- Andy already has your undies. What would we do without our dear friend Katie? From Court's'How To' emails to Farfrompuken you came a long way from plebe year with Mr.Eller and cleaning puke from Bradford's car. You only made it halfway through the gates but at least we made it all the way to the 7-11 without missing the boat. No more Luca- (he lived on the 2nd floor) and F&*$ marines! Tell Pat hi in the fleet. Remember, there is no high like having command of your own Naval vessel (well, almost). Hit the deck plates running!!! We love you CMS, BIS, BCB, JMJ, KNP

Drango, it all began in the valley and where it will end nobody knows. Life is an adventure and we have made the best of what we were given. We had the best of times in some of the hardest times with the best friends. Farm party with camping equipment, to Europe, continued in San Diego, Hawaii, Aussie, Costa and completed everywhere in between. Long talks plebe year when we should have been studying and Capt breaks for physics until four. Buffet concerts, trips to D.C. and Ocean City. Girls have come and gone, but Caren is here to stay. New Years 2000 Tahoe, need I say more.4 woodward is always in the house. Your a brother not a friend and I will miss seeing your high and tight everyday. This has all been wonderful but know we are on our way....... 14-22-25, navy golf, go falcons, 60 ponies, 60 days, punters.. I loved it all. to everyone who helped me thanks, to all my friends my door is open forever , to everyone remember every day a holiday, every meal a banquet, the journey is the destination and ill see you there.

Standing across the hall from Zach on July 2, 1996, he looked like he was going to be a little arrogant, a little self-interested. What a false first impression. Zach would have laid down and died for any of us on I-day simply because we were in his company, and his loyalty only increases when he considers you one of his 'brothers.' There are two things that are precious to Zach; good friends and doing the unusual. He is an adventurer and an explorer. If he hasn't done it, you can bet he wants to. Zach scared us as a plebe because he seemed to actually enjoy it all. He seems to have a touch of craziness that sends him searching the limits of human existence. He climbs mountains, flies gliders, jumps out of planes, rides bikes, breaks legs. A many of many names (Zach, Zeke, Zeus, eod, Ray) and a jack of all trades but the master of...? Extremely talented, it is impressive that Zach remains humble, ultimately concerned about his friends, and always chasing the next hair-burning experience.

There's a few more lonesome cities that I'd like to see while the wine of wandering is still inside of me. There's a few more pretty women that I'd like to know, a bridge or two I'd like to cross a few more oats to sow. I can't believe it's been four years already. Has this been fun or what ? Too bad I have to leave now- so much to do. Four years by the Bay (more or less). People and places I will never forget -New York, San Diego, Japan, Protramid '98- I deny all the charges. In July of '96, my world changed. Hot summer, screaming detailers. Then came plebe year- the rest is a blur. Fun times and not so fun times. Perhaps this place has changed me. I now renounce my monastic oath. How I've longed for the moment- can't begin to tell you. Tough times- not a model midshipman. Forget the past- on to the future. People to thank- Jake (Sleeeep !), Keith, Eric (not on the chair !), Erik, Roger, Terry (you are a funny man- no, really), Griff, Jeff, John, Ben, back home- Nathan (Obi-Wan to the fairer sex) and Mike (make it three yards mother___ and you got yourself an automobile race), and most of all- the Madre. Thank you all for believing in me when I didn't. Paging Dr. Freud.

A song writer, athlete, and scholar, Aaron isn't satisfied with normalcy. He just isn't satisfied with the boring side of life. There is a strong sense in him to find fun and excitement, and his propinquity for the higher side of life rubs off on those around him. Always quick with a laugh and a high-five, Aaron makes "being with the boys" a continuous party. Aaron also fares well with the fairer sex, and when the girl he talks to in a bar has several cute friends in tow, it is nice to be able to call Aaron a friend. Although his "no worries" philosophy on life sometimes gets him into trouble with the girls in his life, he somehow seems to avoid any real trouble with any real authorities. Aaron was a boy that entered the Navy on a dare, and as a man with talent and a carefree take on life, he will certainly make better any wardroom that is lucky enough to enjoy his presence.

John Daniel Sullivan came to Annapolis from San Diego, California with a stop along the way in Newport, Rhode Island, where he learned the basics of seamanship and navigation at the Navy's finest prep school. He was a stellar plebe and was rewarded at the end of the year with restriction for not relieving the watch promptly. After learning from this valuable experience he was always punctual on YP's and even knew the vessel so well he gave a tour one night and his LT was happy to hear of his dedication. JD became a member of the fantastic four 3/C year and was known to be in 5th wing more than in his own wing and this trend continued throughout the next three years. The O-Rep for the yearbook will find him as an honorary member of 7th company and the punter and backup QB for the Sprint Football team but all other officers had a hard time finding JD anywhere but the always helpful corpsmen always found JD when he wanted them to. As a great cook and a great friend, JD is indeed a renaissance man and will be a great asset to any wardroom. (913)

Well, the long, strange journey has finally come to an end for us 5 year, special kids and if I had to do it again, I wouldn't. Ryan hails from the frozen wasteland that is Michigan, also home to another damn fine college. Go Spartans!!! "Lets just go to MSU next year." A Force Econ major from the start, this kid has FIVE AND DIVE written all over him. Hope you share the millions you make. "Brendahl, Brendenhalle, Bredaho, oh whatever" was always up for late night Playstation benders or trips to College Park. "I just thought he lived there." Hey, party in club 8439. Little Slice of Heaven. "Come on guys, Panama City is THE PLACE this year." Never one to refuse free beer. Spa Soliel – "Wanna talk about what just happened?" The type of guy that made this place bearable, I couldn't have gotten through here without him. "What's the designation of the CH-69?" "What's Ryan doing this weekend?" "You mean what's Christy and Ryan doing this weekend." "Anybody want to go to Friday's tonight? 'Free' beer." "Have you Naired your back lately?" "Ain't no use being subtle…." "Get off me". Good luck on the High Seas. CRR, DVN, JWR, APH

Rob Burns-aka Burnsie. Navy Pilot. You were sweatin' almost as much as Bacon was. Priorities-Sleep, Video Games, Eat. Are you really a systems major? WOW, you sure sleep a lot! Hey, can you keep a secret? I'm not complaining, I'm just sayin'. Watch out, it's WAHOOOO BURNS! The first one to get hitched, don't forget that you are the lucky one in that pair. Mr. Investment, you'd be a billionaire if you didn't spend all your money. How's that new corvette treatin' ya? Trying to keep pace with Doug? Watching Grube work out from your rack won't get rid of the love handles. Pick me man-I'm Good! Going to formation today? Didn't think so. Grades, PRT, Performance, Profs., I always get screwed. Always watchin' out for his shipmate, way to clean up after Grube over and over again. What was it you called Mathis, I forget? I know, it's Vernon Wallace's fault. No, I'm not busy, tell me all about it. We were a bit wary, you bein' from Georgia, but you're a great addition to the clan. Those nights at Griffin's, that wasn't the booze talkin'. Once a redneck. Always a redneck. Evan hails from the backwoods of Virginia and was without a doubt going to be in the Marine Corps. Evan was not the brightest kid and decided to devote most of his energy to sleeping, partying, women (too many of whom were already mids), and enjoying the wardroom. A little too much partying landed him with 30 days and a tape ball from hell. Remember the lost restriction cards? More hard work eventually earned him a black "N." BJ put up with a lot, like his sleeping on the floor (and in the shower), piles of clothing, and dirty stories. Whatever you do, DON'T TELL DAN! She's a dancer. Not a stripper. Five hours late. Where were you? I was having sex. After working his partying out of his system, he goes forth to lead Marines in combat. God help those Marines. GOD HELP US ALL!!! BJJ, IAB

The 'Vitz, Schnoz, Bones, Hurvnutz graced us with his presence from his palace in Sunny So. Cal. Adela raised him well, with plenty of queso and love. Had a choice of surgeon or SWO and chose the latter. Andy's barrel chested and loves Chihuahuas (and queso.) His tolerance is higher than most of his peers and he's not even, um, right. He didn't have the best of luck with the fairer sex but, always got back on his horse. Or behind it. A secret weapon on the squash team, so secret they didn't even know about him. Played so much he needed surgery, or was that from that fall when he was...right. His senior year he tried out a futon mattress for comfort, but decided it was too limp. So he blew that. Well not literally at all. Does a killer Michael Jackson or anyone else in his unique style. Could have made it as an interpretive dancer if USNA didn't work out. Battled Montezuma's in his lair AKA Taco Tumbras and lost badly. But Bimbo Bread heals all wounds. Andy is the kind of guy everyone wants as a friend and we are lucky to know him. Brian was one of the few who truly loved the academy. "Who knows the Mission? No one. I do, Sir." The "600 lb tower of power" began 3/c year and continued to grow till graduation. Starred in a music video in NY on YP cruise. The hour long ride to the steakhouse... it's around here somewhere. His 21st led to a few phone calls and a new trashcan. "Hi Grandma do you know where Mommy is?" Get un-naked! 2/c year he got his baby, his Camaro. BEATRMY! Ring Dance... nevermind. Lost his cover ten minutes into turnover, but led the company to color company plebe summer. 1/c Labor Day he became a "child of the corn." Turn the radio off!! I don't think "she's" going to sleep with me anymore. At least you were honest... VINNIE!!! Black diamond slope. No problem. "Car Wash Part Deux" and stunt driving into a sign. Who knows someday he might find a girl and get lucky.... naaaaaa. What about the mad games? Met at the end of plebe summer. Endless weekends of sleeping, munching, & catching up on the outside world. Couldn't wait for our hair to grow back. I had trouble at first with the NY accent, but can understand anyone now. Herndon, cars, commissioning week parties. 1 yr down. Investigations, adjudications, 61 days, & PE gear. Glad you survived. Tailgaters, Micah, & Ring Dance. Leatherneck, what happened to SWO? Trips to Q'town. What was this about never falling in love & getting married? July 8, 2000; enough said. It's been a long 4 yrs, but I'm glad that we've gone through it together. I'll miss you. Rena: Getting in trouble together all of plebe summer, chopping in synch. Doug likes puppies and hates mean things. He had good times and played golf, but wish the two went together more often. He swears the pins are recycled javelins, but lacks enough track and field expertise to know for sure. He'll keep swingin' all the way to sunny San Diego, which, surprisingly was still an available choice when the Dude picked his ship. So what if it was commissioned during the Nixon administration. Doug will, if nothing else, make the Navy a more relaxed place to be (as long as things go his way.) He survived USNA as a stepping-stone to major nightclub management (is that right?) Christopher Ryan made the journey from Virginia to continue the Rose legacy at the ole USNA. Although his parents also took up residence in the immediate Annapolis vicinity, Ryan was not allowed entrance without supervision. So he shacked up in the Little Slice of Heaven. Rosie didn't have the best luck with his cars and is now on his third, while All Tune and Lube is trying to sell him another $2,000 transmission. He was the roommate to have for Playstation, a VCR or live concerts. The concerts happened anytime and usually took precedence over any other activity, academic or otherwise. Ryan is a maverick and usually has his own agenda. Spring Break (Spa Soliel, huh!) is no exception, as he was often "just right here" one minute and gone the next. The guy to know when you are out for the Dining-In pregame. He graciously picked up the $117 bar tab after the 30 min. bender and we were off to the Marriott. Later, with a light wallet and vomit-saturated uniform, he took up residence...in the bathroom. Chose EOD, so we may/may not be seeing him at the reunions. Best of Luck in the Navy and always. Paul hails from southern California and personifies it to a tee. "Man I was so sad when Bradley from Sublime died, what am I gonna do with these tickets." 3/c year was the beginning of the end. "We're just gonna help clean up, right Sut-Dog?" He got an early taste of restriction before the 30 day sentence. "Ian, look at the dog!" 2/c year he paved the way for us at Castlebay, and we have never forgiven him for that. "I have gotta get off the ice or I'm gonna kill some kid." The many fishing trips where no fish were caught but Denny was almost returned to the Bay. How's the hand doing? He started 1/c year with a promise, it was soon broken. "I swear I study better this way." The 5am hockey games soon came to an end as he was mesmerized by the twinkling Christmas lights. "Nathan says 'Beat Army!'" like Bud, steak and eggs at 8am!" No one knew what he wanted to do until he received that $6,000 pay day. You're a better man than me, just remember 100 men go down....50 couples come up. IAB, BJJ, JTK

Ladies and Gentlemen....it is my great pleasure to present to you for one night only, Mr. Douglas Michael White from the backwoods of Edina, Missouri service selecting Naval Flight Officer. He looks good!! The originator of the "Junk in the Trunk" and enough hand grenades to keep it going all night. After four years you still only have two speeds, Doug and stop. El Nino couldn't handle you as HCIC for a semester. World War II may have been over earlier if you had been there, but sorry, no pretty gold badge. What car is next to purchase? A convertible – Keep it off the yard!! Livin' La Vida Loca, Ricky Martin's wardrobe's got nothing on you, but don't put of Rogaine too much longer, just ask fat head. You almost had another Ring Dance date, luckily Amy saved you from the salon boy. You sure can pick a squad, what's the criteria, from Missouri – rrrright. We will get back to the Badlands one more time and initiate a "Bench Clearing War" to solve the world's problems. The youngest of our new brothers. Any time you need to check your 6-go ahead, we will be right there for you. JAP, NBD, PDP, RHB

Master at quitting quitting. Tiger Shark. Paul Revere bicycle ride at Notre Dame- "Floyd's at the hospital and Paul's eating cookies and drinking beer!" How's the tequila treating you? Where is that cat? Great at pointing out the negatives, but living the positives. Right brained with a tough left hand. Quiet in voice, obnoxious in spirit. Yell at him and he'll smile back, smile and he'll yell back. Got beer? Internet [illegible]. "I can make it to Delaware and back by taps!" Nighttime drunken visits by the Buddah. A true friend. Thanks for everything, like burning for 8 hours from Boston. You move so slow we think you're dead. Thanks for being you. It's been a long road, but you've made it more enjoyable.. El Don Juan de Aero.....what a player. Four years by the bay and the military has left no imprint on his Rico Suave personality. It's only been a ride man. Surfing through this place, huh Don? So what is the outcome of this adventure...A NAVAL AVIATOR....nice choice. You promised a back seat ride for Rok and I. Remember that. More heart than he knows what to do with. Don has always been a friend to those in need. I'm sure Bo, Marshall, and Rok could attest to that. I have experienced more laughs in traveling with Don and his sidekick Marky, than with any other duo. Dynamic....yes.....focused.....no. Uhhh....Typically you will see him often give or take a few days.....ehhh...but whats a few days amongst friends...could use a little Sarlaas humor for the road. Look back Don. You've put a lot into this place...have met more people than the average joe and managed to brighten the day of many a soul. Just a reminder though...Plebe women are not for dating or getting to know on a personal level.. Speaking of women.....found one matching the six criteria? Maybe you've got a shaggin' wagon II for the encounter. Especially after everyone told you not to. Rok wants to know if you tapped a keg in the back of the van lately. HFS Festivals are the shisnit. Man talk about CMC Presidential bennies. Now get him near alcohol on the other hand...ohhhh watch out..not a pretty sight. TOP GUN....most likely memorized. HOLY GRAIL definitely memorized. "I told zem wee already gaut von." Roomie you're the man. Just remember to be easy goin' out there as much as you were in here and life will be one great wave. Don't let this guy drive the golf cart and don't expect to see him the rest of the day if he's got to visit the office. The only guy to pass around pictures of his abs to his entire class. Late nights trying to get aero done, where did Mike go?

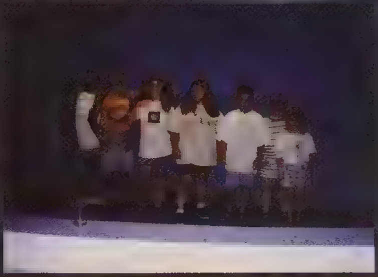
Jarrett Davies, Austin Texas, known as Russ, loves to double fist V&T's, 1:00am solo trips to A.C., "I quit drinking" (yeah right), Sarah and her smelly cats, Sing and his failed S tat (what does that 3 mean?), "Budde, who is this Lankford guy?", "CORL, great tip Lank", "Is that Davies guy in our Company?", Spilling beer on nasty "Dancers" at Ratigan's, Budde+Sing+Russ getting thrown out of Ratigan's, Chiefing Elverum at 1 way, spilling beer on Juli (twice), Popular saying "Russ get off that Bushpig!", Stealing Hatz's bushpig at UCON, Russ give that girl the Claw!, Rubberneck, the Blue Goose, Washed up Navy football player. I can't believe you let the Werewolf stick it's tongue in your ear at the Irish Pub in Portland, How about a round of pool at GALAXIES in Sasebo, "I choose LHD-7" (not deploying until 2003), The Iwo Jima has assembled the most notorious crew in Naval History. Good Luck you sarcastic SOB it wouldn't have been the same without you.

David Ryan Donohue
Donelsonville, GA
Naval Aviation

Ryan came to us from a podunk town in South GA. He could be found with his legs up on his desk, a book open, guitar out on his bed, clicking on the Internet and contributing his opinion, spoken as fact, about every issue known to man. Never shy to let people, even strangers, know what he thought of them, Ryan had the innate ability to find your one annoyance and push it to the extreme until you were so worked up you couldn't see straight. He had a new kick every week- Taoist, guitarist, author, Buddhist, artist all depending on how he felt when he woke up in the morning. Dr. Donohue switched from English to Political Science, and from the Grateful Dead to Phish: sweeping changes. He's a promising musician, and though showing a bias for the didgeridoo, may some day live up to his idols Jerry and Trey. Ryan never ceases to be money, especially now that he has achieved his lifelong dream of becoming a pilot. Donohue 2012

Michael Jay Gordon, Jr.
Fayetteville, NC
Medical Corps

Mike Gordon, the self-proclaimed "Poster Boy of the Navy," came to us from the Army town of Fayetteville, NC. He left the friendly girl-to-guy ratio at NC State for the bad shores of Annapolis. A tar-spittin' member of the last class to take cruises on coal-fired ships, he spent Plebe Summer with our classmates flaming on them. A two-year stint on the sunny beaches of Cali later, and he's apologizing to his new "classmates." A day-student at USNA (his fiancee spends more time in the room than he does), Mike has never shaken the college attitude. Report dates are as "optional" as "mandatory evolutions." How is it your girlfriend spends more time preparing the room for a Class-A than you? When he's not sleeping in the car on the side of the road (right) and missing taps, he's probably making money hand-over-fist as a day-trader. Utah Mike is the most unlikely drill officer the Club has ever seen ("Come on, guys, you know drill makes people proud!"). The most patient member of the room, and the last to physically assault Ryan, he was the butt-end of more "fat" jokes than a Jerry Springer guest. Never one to pretend he's in the military, Mike turned down the parties and antics of flight school for the six-digits of dentistry. Congratulations on a six-year haul, and good luck, buddy. Hey Mike, how goes that Aero Project? Thanks for being there bro. My my portfolio consultant, my aero partner, my friend. Keep your strong faith bro. God Bless. DRD, CKM, TCP, ROK & DJC



"Old Man Gull" came to Navy when ships were made of wood and mids were made of iron. After a two year stint in lederhosen, he returned as a member of the class he'd trained. Originally from the bad lands of (where else?) Utah, Matt is the most ratey Mormon you'll ever meet. He may not drink coffee, but Mountain Dew split its stock at least twice because of him. Turn-ons included curling up in front of a warm fire with a 2-liter of Dew and a book about Nixon . . . he speaks more languages than a Pentacostal on Easter (German, French, Russian and Latin at last count). The only member of our class to service-select "Germany," Matt returns to the land of David Hasselhoff and bratwurst just to delay his day of reckoning (SWOS). He's a welcome addition to our class and we're proud to have him. DRD, SCM, SLH, WKM

Warren G, Nito Bandito, [illegible], Little Buddie - so many names for this sexy man from Menominee. By far the whitest man in our diverse room. A self proclaimed master of all things 'chronic' OA. The same size since the 8th grade...still taller than Leeroy. Has the legs of a supermodel and arms of an 8-year old girl...even his little bro is bigger. So many fond memories: the 'Pae Head-off-bed Incident', 'I'm like budde...a little Budde!' NYC: La Margarita, Raswan, and the American Pussy. 'Just watching raccoons' at Ring Dance. Fall '98 nightcaps for finals. We all wanted to love like Warren, run like Warren, and pull off the same grades as Warren - but there is only one mastur. A cunning linguist and a Jeopardy King. Carried on a successful marriage over the phone for three years with the help of borrowed cars and Hospital Point. The longest tongue in the room...the company...the Brigade. Mr. Tactful. "Just look at you!" You've come a long way! From wanting me cremated to being able to live (and possibly miss) my weird ways? What a room, EH? You're an awesome roommate and I feel privileged to call you my friend. Living with you two has been the most rewarding experience of this whole USNA stint, I feel we have a bond that will stand the test of time, B. From pistol to turning your back on the team and joining hockey, to never being able to play for one reason or another... I'm sorry that you missed a stage of evolution. You're the only one I know that can grow a full beard between morning and noon meal. Thanks for the co-op sweater. "I'll fix my windshield when I get pulled over." "Dude, it's only 5 over, they'll never find out." Rear-ending the Z, a ticket, and a ditch made your driving experience an example for our kids. When the h*ll are you going to get your own stapler, 3-hole punch, paper...? It was a memorable time living with you and B. It will be something I look back on and miss dearly, c. John came to us from St. Louis as an Air Force brat, leaving us as a Yut-yut. What a change. Who knew he was a native Texan? That's probably why he switched from Poly Sci to Physics. Croquet '98 ensured a fun-filled summer at USNA (who needs leave?). Took one for the Club. "She's not my girlfriend!" Yeah right Vader, she is now. Where's John? Look on 3-4. Several sets of roomies finally stuck you with G-Money (a match made in heaven, or at least somewhere). Farted so much in his sleep he had to get a new mattress. "$#!@ open a window!!! So, chest hair does light. "Wiltitus": friction-induced bloody nips, sexy. Uh, John, SWO sweaters are not authorized. "Garrett, does my * really SMELL?" Play anything as long as it's Rage. So angry he curses in his sleep. Hey there, Fatty. "Anyone got something rich in protein?" Platoon Commander to Training = no CDO. Andrew comes to us from the mean streets of Daytona Beach. A tryout for Systems Engineering, Andrew found his niche in Political Science and later added Economics. Sri-dog has never been one to rush so the Academy cramped his style a bit. He circumvented the restrictions here by taking "Bravo-Lima," growing his side burns below and beyond the call of duty, and turning in late papers (sometimes too late). This relaxed demeanor occasionally resulted in confrontations with his favorite Gunny who, unphased by his Bambi eyes, swore she'd quit the Marine Corps before serving under him. "Shree" was a budding Renaissance man between SEAL PT, architecture, guitar, three languages, and wine tasting. The last man ready, he wasn't rushed to get out on liberty, but once out he was never coming back. The one thing he could thank USNA for was his German girlfriend and subsequent trips to Deutschland. Brass, a member of the Original St John's Crew. Memorable nights of Jim Beam Bowling & crazy nights with the Johnnies. 'We're *ing Mids' thanks for the advice on the new CDs. A night of swing dancing ended with a Red Hat of Shame, which Kraut earned for good by dancing with a fat girl. He came here to play baseball, but decided he'd rather be a mid. Found his love of history and was always there to bore his roommates with this love. Fun nights watching Matt's DVDs, much to Pete's dismay. His desk was a shrine to Buffet, his feet a shrine to stank. The only person to buy a cell phone for the purpose of yelling into it, he'd rather marry his car than a girl. Under the palm tree at Cheesecake Factory. Head Gouge will never be the same. Envy of the whack shack. Semper Fleetwood. Someday you'll win a game of darts, learn how to throw a knife, and appreciate ART...

OLDMAN! Grandpa. How many ways can we tell you that you are old? "Get your hands off my baldspot!" How many surgeries is that? What are you mad about now? Get off that game and do some work or sleep! You really do love this place. "I don't like the way she chews...I can't see her again, I didn't like her sweater." "I have the highest standards in the brigade." How's your little brother? All talk, little show...where are all those girls anyway? The thirty-five year old doesn't count! "Can you shave my back, I've got a big date?" Kim...can there really be such a thing as a BSG? Ramel is still looking for his cd's, do you own them now? Asians. Did you enjoy homecoming at your desk?...looks like Bryan has two girls tonight. Stop asking us to hook you up, we have no one your age. The Arnold Poster and muscle magazines...because you like to pump iron, right? Fry em drew! Get em on an honor offense! How many guys have you written up?...what's that, none? "Hey ma'am, can you take that bag off your shoulder?" At least you get 0-1E. -JJR, DAH, JPB, MPS, BMH, HJE, RGB

Graduating 3rd in the class was no surprise to anybody... except for Pete himself. A Systems Engineer and former Lucky Bag Sports Editor, Pete dedicated his last year to academia and his Trident Scholar project, and did a damn fine job. Hey [illegible], tell your girlfriend to quit writing me!! Home-wrecker!!! How old was she? Can't wait to visit Atlanta... What did Savannah do for a living? How did your raft ever make it all the way to New York? Sailing guru, the eternal Bowman. Need us to pick up any more CONTRABAND for you while you're on lock-down? The Bear? The Captain? Sleeps..... everywhere..... including Rt. 50. 92 days, going strong! Driving style resembles Dale Earnhardt on meth. Why are we sitting in back? Oh yeah, cause we're gay, sir. Anything to say to S.C.? Careful, he's pretty manly, GO TEAM!!! Dances much like he drives. All nighter? Again? Talk trash or gamble, what's it going to be? Vegas, baby! Blackjohn, a true mans game. This Maryland native didn't travel far to get here, but seems to have regretted every day since (and lets everyone know this). Earned the misnomers Happy and Sunshine; deep down I know he's glad he signed his papers. 2/c year made a list of pros and cons; the cons filled two pages, he persisted. Kyle mediated pretty well in the room and for some reason I think he wanted to kill his other roommate (April Fool's) thank God he never succeeded. After rooming with me, he can survive anything the Navy has to offer him, including urine on the shower floor. 1/c cruise he finally found something in the Navy he tolerated, NFO. Who would have thought he'd be in the same squad as his nemesis with no problems? I guess we can be friends, but just not live in close proximity. He is truly one of the most intelligent people I know but sometimes he should lighten up a bit; follow the Retarded Kid Philosophy. It's been good knowing you. Best of luck in the future. See you at the reunions. Eric

CLASS OF 2000

The Class of 2000 executive committee has worked since elected with one intention in mind; To lead the class of the century to go where no Naval Academy class has ever gone. Since their election, Murph McCarthy (President), Art Terry (Vice President), Nick Lalota (Treasurer), and Tim O'Connor (Secretary) have taken tradition to the extreme and beyond. Much to NAAA, the Class of '58 and the Annapolis Police Department's dismay, 2000 gained notoriety at their 2 for 7, which was by far and away the largest and most ridiculous tailgater the Naval Academy has ever seen (27 kegs).

They continued their trail blazing with their class mess night, featuring the first cocktail hour for a whole class in Dahlgren Hall since 1982 and Colonel John Ripley, USMC (Retired) along with other distinguished guests (and more beer, of course).

After organizing Parent's Weekend and marketing a new line of clothing, these four have devoted time to fund-raising efforts that will help fund many years of tom foolery, nonsense and debauchery.

Standby...

CLASS OF 2002

After a bitter campaign for office, these four Midshipmen beat out their opponents to become the default representatives of the class.

The class of '02 officers are given the task of organizing anything "FUN" that happens for their class. Our "relentless" efforts plebe year were much in vain, but on deck for the near future....a 2-7 tailgater, a spring picnic, and possibly, a class trip to Cancun (budget permitting).

Using their combined age of Hannah Martin, the wisdom of Greg Chapman, the physical prowess of C.J. Simonsen, and social excellence of Tim Kain, our beloved president, they will lead the class of '02 through the trials of "Four years by the Bay."

The Ski Team really excelled this year in both Slalom and GS Racing. With the help of freshmen Moo-moo, Ski Goddess, and Skip "I'm a thug," the Navy Ski Team finished with the best combined season ever. Awesome snow this year made for great racing... and snow battles. Not to mention the "Oh my God, Parker's been run over by a snowcat"... or was it really just a 10 year old that gave him that concussion then walked away. Through the ambulance NASCAR race and the hours at the hospital, Lt. Stamper can still say "I can't believe I'm getting paid to ski on the weekends- I love the Navy!" His patience and personality will definitely be missed next year... Both teams did quite well, with the women placing three in the top 10 for the season and the men having Skip place 4th overall, and both finished a strong 2nd to Penn State, defeating top programs like UPENN, Bucknell, WVU, UMD, WCU, Villanova, and more. Advancing to Regionals once again, the Ski Team proved the Navy can hold its own in any situation... With no seniors, this young team will definitely have high aspirations for next season. Undoubtably another few months of tuning parties, sledding at night, freak snowstorms, snowball fights, wrong turns, spectacular crashes, broken skis, getting lost, team dinners, TOD? Who has TOD?, Where are the Navy gatekeepers?, "I dedicate this run to Caaaarter," "Are you two twins?" and of course "Nope, Parker's dead- snowcat got him." Looking forward to another great season.

Ski fast, go Navy!

HIGH POWER RIFLE TEAM

The Naval Academy's very own High Power Rifle Team is an organization that develops long range marksmanship skills among its members.

The Team shoots the M-14, a 7.62 x 51 mm service rifle, although we expect to be switching to the match grade M-16's soon.

We participate in matches in Delaware, Quantico, Fort Meade, and the East Coast as well as competing in the All Navy Match at Dam Neck, VA.

Past awards have included 1/C Mike Cernuska, 1/C Tim McGeeham, and 1/C Tavis Powell going to the East Coast Matches and all finishing in the top 30%. 1/C Tavis Powell brought home a bronze medal.

TRAP AND SKEET TEAM

Another interesting year for the Trap and Skeet Team.

Our 1999-2000 competitions kicked off with an 8 hour run to Long Island, which included three trips over the Brooklyn Bridge, a scenic tour of Times Square and a three car collision on I-95. Although we suffered a narrow loss to Air Force, we did succeed in BEATING ARMY!

Following this was a 10 hour excursion to the Hog Heaven Gun Club in Tennessee. After expending 3500 rounds of ammo in 9 hours of straight shooting, laying waste to most of the birds, the team set out for some rest and relaxation in Knoxville (Thanks Robert Earl Keen). The season was concluded when the team traveled into unfamiliar Yankee territory to square off with the gentlemen of the Philadelphia Gun Club. After two days of grueling competition against the snow, wind, and the experienced shooters in Philly, the team walked away with renewed confidence in their shooting abilities. Although our proposal to go to Nationals got shot down even faster than our birds did, we'll continue working in the coming year to enjoy ourselves and maybe, just maybe, we'll make it to San Antonio.

TRIDENT BRASS

The Trident Brass is the Brigade's big band style jazz band. Made up of twenty members, we perform at various functions in support of the Brigade.

In addition to our annual Herndon concert, we also play a variety of dances and social functions. This year, we put on shows at brigade dances, the Navy-St. John's Croquet match, the I-ball, and a final annual concert on the day of Herndon.

The Golden Key National Honor Society is an academic honors organization that was founded to recognize and encourage academic excellence in all fields of study. We also strive to unite faculty with the administration to develop and maintain high standards of education.

Golden Key emphasizes volunteer service as a means of promoting scholastic achievement and altruistic conduct. Membership is offered to first and second class midshipman in the top 15% of their class academically by invitation only.

AMATEUR RADIO

The Amateur Radio Club is an FCC-licensed organization, started at the Naval Academy in 1918 to transmit voice, Morse code, and later, digital messages and data world-wide to other Navy and amateur radio stations.

It has the international call sign W3ADO, and is also a part of the Military Affiliate Radio System as call sign NNN0NNN. The club operates on HF, VHF, and UHF bands from a room in the 7th wing mezzanine through towers on the roof of Bancroft Hall and out by the sailing basin. The club is active in furthering the technical education of RF electronics, skill at traffic handling, and community and emergency communications to charities and local government and necessary services. Another popular event is the Army/Navy football game, where W3ADO keeps people world-wide informed of the play-by-play action. The club also broadcasts and provides mobile logistics liaison with radio-equipped chase vehicles for the annual tradition of running the football to the Army-Navy game just before the game day, using the Global Positioning System, the Amateur Position Reporting Network, digital camera imagery, and the Internet. Beat Army!

SEMPER FI SOCIETY

The Semper Fidelis Society offered many activities to its members this year. Aside from the usual 0530 A.M. workouts and PFT, there were many enjoyable and motivating events for every type of Midshipman. For the prior-enlisted Marines and the motivated type, we offered a weekend away from it all. Our Field Exercise took place over the weekend of November 19-21. It was a great success with many learning opportunities for Midshipmen interested in becoming Marines upon graduation. We traveled to MCB Quantico, VA where we trained in the Military Operations in Urban Terrain (MOUT) Facility. Classes were taught by several Midshipman who drew on their prior-enlisted experience to help teach their peers. Capt Smith, USMC and GySgt Grimes, USMC were both present throughout the weekend to offer their expertise as well.

For the partying type of Midshipmen, we offered music, food and beer at our yearly picnics and tailgaters. After the Tulane game the Society threw a great party. It fell together slowly but surely and we were fortunate to have a LAV to show off. However, we were unfortunate in having to buy a tent that day due to missing pieces and unstable building procedures with duct tape on the previous tent. For the type of Midshipman who enjoys listening, we offered speakers ranging from our very own GySgts Bullard and Sullivan to the SgtMaj of the Marine Corps. Topics included leadership and the transition from Midshipmen to Officers in the Marine Corps. Both the cake cutting ceremony and the Birthday Ball were very successful and looked great. On other nights it was nice to just sit back and watch a movie with the society in a more relaxed environment. So, we chose to feature two movies on Marines in WWII.

And of course, let's not forget our little clan of runners who somehow find their way around the woods of any forest. Orienteering is becoming a much larger ECA here at the Academy. Each year the society rents more and more busses to haul the gang out to surrounding areas where they compete against other schools and local groups.

Anyone can find an enjoyable activity in the Semper Fidelis Society. We strive to bring the Academy whatever it finds useful in order to transition Midshipmen to Marines.

SWE

The Naval Academy's chapter of the Society of Women Engineers gives midshipmen a chance to learn about engineering opportunities in the Navy and beyond after graduation. Throughout the year, SWE invites guests to speak about their experiences in their respective field and give advice to midshipmen. Club members receive both a better understanding of the engineering fields in the fleet as well as the opportunity to interact with the students and professionals in this national organization. Since the chapter was founded in 1988, it has continued to serve as both a center for information and as constant encouragement to excel to high levels of educational and professional achievements. These midshipmen also attend meetings with SWE members from other universities in the area.

The Scuba Club is alive and well at the Naval Academy. Aside from providing midshipmen the opportunity to earn a civilian qualification as a scuba diver, it allows midshipmen the opportunity to learn more about the sport they are qualified for. Through lectures and trips to local dive areas, the club is able to broaden for its members their depth and knowledge of the marine environment. The club also provides trips to the midshipmen during their leave periods, notably to Key West and the Cayman Islands.

The club looks forward to a good year to renew the Academy's interest in diving and to educate its embers about the ocean world all around us.

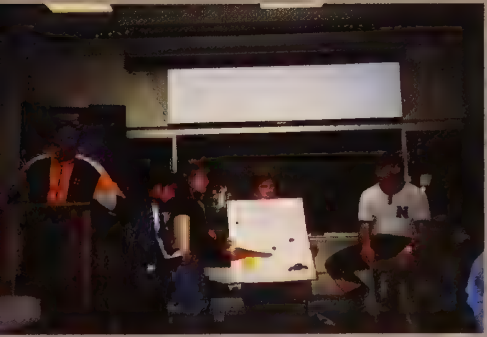
ASTRONOMY CLUB

AD ASTRA. To the stars. Well, maybe not yet. We still have a few semesters left before graduation. However, the Astronomy Club at USNA is trying to do just that as we endeavor to bring the stars to the Brigade of Midshipmen. In this pragmatic world we call the Naval Academy, many Midshipmen take comfort in the surrealistic and fantastical environs of the heavens.

The Astronomy Club gives Midshipmen a chance to retreat from the bounds and pressures indicative of this leadership laboratory. This year the Astronomy Club's goals included getting more involved with the Annapolis community as we journeyed to the stars with the kids of Annapolis elementary School. Our understanding of the universe was challenged by the contemporary pioneers of astronomy that ranged from Astrophysicists to Astronauts; while Professor Albert, the Astronomy Club faculty rep challenged our imaginations with her Greek and Roman mythological planetarium show. Beyond the yard, we traveled to places such as the Goddard Space Flight Center, U.S. Naval Observatory, and Smithsonian Air and Space Museum. Above all we learn that astronomy is not an esoteric science to be enjoyed only by the scientific elite. Astronomy is for anyone that has ever felt curious about the unknown.



MOUNTAINEERS

This has been without question, a year of growth for the Mountaineering Club. Raising the club enrollment to close to 10% of the Brigade meant adding new departments and running more trips. We as a club were successful in running at least one trip per week and some weekends we had as many as 3 and 4 trips going for different activities. Our backpacking/camping guy, 2/c Luke Whittemore, was able to organize numerous trips taking advanced groups and begineer groups into the wild. Our climbing guy, 1/c Brian Jaskot, headed up the climbing department and was extremely active taking trips to Great Falls, VA, Seneca Rocks, rock gyms in the areas and even up to West Point for the annual Service Academy climbing competition. 1/c Jimmy Lee Burruss, the whitewater guy, organized multiple trips to the Gauley River and other nearby rivers for kayaking and whitewater rafting. Our bike guy, 1/c Joshua Johnson, made great strides getting the club bike room in top condition by constructing bike racks and organizing the room while still taking mountain biking trips on the weekends. 2/c Patrick Doyle headed up skiing and snowboarding for club and was able to get trips running every weekend to the slopes during the Dark Ages. Our newest addition to the club was Fly Fishing, led by 1/c Benjamin Becker. As the years progress and we accumulate more gear we hope for this to become and integral part of the club. The men behind the scenes making it all possible might deserve the most credit. 2/c Brad Wolf, the club gear guy, 2/c Dennis Doyle, the club secretary, and 1/c Brian Fairweather, the club treasurer, were instrumental in making sure the club ran smooth and progress was made to build on for the following years. Now we journey into the wild...

PIPES AND DRUMS

The USNA Pipes and Drums underwent a rebuilding year after losing a majority of their performing bagpipers. Though the band did not perform as often as in previous years, it did stay busy. They hosted both the Royal Military College of Canada and the West Point Pipe Bands. Solo pipers performed at numerous weddings, mess nights, and other special occasions. The full band performed a concert in the rotunda for St. Patrick's Day. They also played during commissioning week celebrations. The Pipes and Drums was able to grow this year and is looking forward to next year and continuing to privide the Brigade with highland music.

"Navy Ultimate/Screamin' Demon Seamen/Revolution/Rear Admirals continue to struggle under the yoke of the Man. Two consecutive trips to Regionals and victories of Army and Coast Guard prove that not even the best of oppressors can keep the devoted disc slingers down. With a little luck, and keeping out of conduct trouble, perhaps the once feared Navy Ultimate Frisbee team will soon return to greatness.

Good luck, get ho, get vert, and peace out."

ULTIMATE FRISBEE

TEAM BILL

Team Bill is a brigade support activity that is open to all midshipman. The purpose of Team Bill is to care for the Naval Academy goats and to represent this great tradition of the Naval Academy at sporting events, naval ceremonies, and other events in the area. Midshipman are selected for the team at the beginning of their youngster year by means of a thorough interview process and soon afterward are indoctrinated into the team through the ceremonial cleaning of the goats. The two angora goats that currently represent the Naval Academy are a father and son duo from the farm of Field McConnell, USNA Class of '71. The father, Bill XXVIII, came to the Naval Academy in 1995. His son, Bill XXX, arrived on October 21, 1998, and soon afterwards joined his father on the sidelines of Navy football games. Team Bill is a proud tradition of the U.S. Naval Academy and hopes to continue this tradition well into the 21st century.

Team Philo was there to charge up the Navy fans this year.

We were at the Boston College, Air Force, Akron, and Tulane home games. Army/Navy was a riot. This team of dedicated Hoo-Yahs got that stinking bug to work. It wasn't easy but with the motivation of 3/C Wilson, the dedication of 3/C Novak, it was possible. 2/C Wilk kept us in check and 2/C Carter kept us in touch with reality as they brought new meaning to 2-4-7. 1/C Brown, well, he was just enjoying the ride. Thanks for the good times, without the Brigade, none of the fun would be possible.

TEAM PHILO

LUCKY BAG

The Lucky Bag Office is known to very few people at the Naval Academy. Only the 20 or so members of the staff dare to venture into the catacombs.

These staff members, however, more than make up for the amount of time other midshipmen spend up there. The Lucky Bag Staff puts together the 900 page yearbook by spending several hours a week in a room that has no concept of climate control. They don't complain though because it is well worth the reward knowing that the book they publish will be looked at by thousands of people for many years to come. The all digital yearbook includes a CD-Rom supplement that contains video of companies, sports, and other events that happen throughout the year.

The United States Naval Academy Lucky Bag is currently the largest all-color yearbook in the world, and will probably remain untouched for many years to come. The staff took its yearly trip to Texas to design the cover and learn more about editing a book. Hopefully all those who read it will enjoy it as much as we enjoyed producing it.

ANS

The USNA Chapter of the American Nuclear Society, led by President Travis Haire, assisted by Vice President Matthew Shook and kept up to speed by Secretary Jaime Hanlon, was established by interested members of the Bridage of Midshipmen and the NAOME Faculty to provide interested Midshipmen a gateway to the civilian nuclear realm. Today, the American Nuclear Society is composed of over 13,000 individuals representing over 1,600 corporations, government agencies and educational institutions. Nearly 1000 members live overseas in 40 different countries. The American Nuclear Society is organized into 51 student branches and the Naval Academy Chapter has approximately 115 members.

The main objective of ANS is to promote the continued advancement of nuclear engineering and technology which relates to atomic energy. The Society's other purposes include integrating the multitude of nuclear sciences and disciplines-from Atomic Energy Conversion to Medical Procedures, encourage information sharing, and establish scholarships for future nuclear engineers. The main purpose of the Naval Academy American Nuclear Society Chapter is to provide world-renown speakers to midshipmen interested in a wide range of nuclear topics such as new designs of reactors, improving efficiency for existing reactors and a little history on Naval Nuclear Reactors in both the American and Russian Navies. For more detailed and comprehensive information, locate the American Nuclear Society online at www.ans.org.

DOLPHIN CLUB

The mission of the Dolphin Club is to increase the interest in submarines and the availability of submarine information to the Brigade.

This task is carried out by acting as a liaison between submarine officers assigned to the Academy and presenting opportunities for club members to attend functions such as Naval Submarine League luncheons and special guest speakers.

The club is also responsible for welcoming the crews of submarines that visit the Yard by escorting officers to King Hall and helping with receptions. The Dolphin Club also coordinates trips to the USS Torsk, a World War II submarine permanently moored in Baltimore Harbor as a museum, during which midshipmen get the opportunity to get hands-on involvement with true naval submarine heritage while helping the community at the same time. In short, we just remind the Brigade that "bubble-heads" can have fun too.

KARATE TEAM

The Karate Team is one of the least known club sports on the Yard, but there is not a harder- working, more dedicated group to be found anywhere at the Academy. Since its inception under Sensei John Critzos, a sixth degree black belt, our team has produced individuals that enter the Fleet with the honed spirit of the warrior. All you have to do is attend one practice and you will immediately see what we are all about.

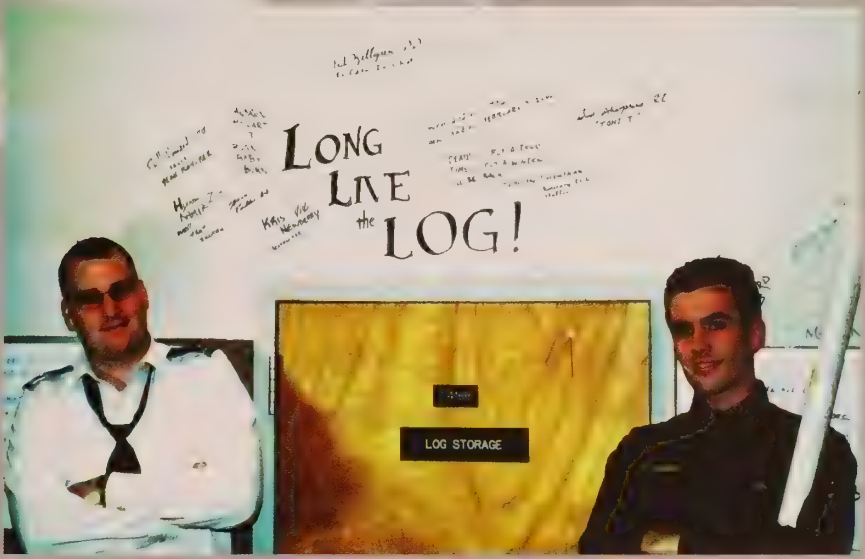
The Karate-Do Team competes in several tournaments during the regular season. We always are highly respected at the competitions we attend and have a high number of winners in every division. Sensei Critzos will be the first to tell you that the trophy we get for winning means nothing. Sweat, blood, and tears shed in training are the true rewards. We train in the same tradition of the early practitioners of karate, and attempt to maintain the purity of the art in an era where it has been transformed into a sport.

The reality of our training is far different than the common portrayal of martial arts in motion pictures. Through our efforts, we hope to spread the important lessons and skills we have learned while being part of this team. Members of our team come from many backgrounds, with a wide range of experience in various styles of martial arts, and bring experience to those who might just be starting out in the martial arts. The Do in Karate-Do means the "way." Karate is more than a system of fighting, but a lifelong path filled with the spirit of the humble warrior and, once you walk down it, you will never be the same.

Expect more great things from this team because we have a large amount of talent and are fired up. Plan on seeing a lot more of us this year!

THE LOG

The LOG, the somewhat periodic publication by midshipmen, for midshipmen, and censored by "The Man." Those who gathered dirt about USNA had to brave killer pigeons and shabby rundown conditions on their way to the LOG room in the catacombs to bring about justice. What troopers! Often attacked within the pages of the LOG were King Hall, the football team, and the always present fry-happy Officer...



That is until February 7, 2000.

On this date in history the LOG was dissolved, perhaps forever.

The class of 2000 was the first class to have the LOG back in '96, and maybe the last class to have it for awhile. Long Live the LOG!

"Death is but a door, Time is but a window, I'll be Back." -Vigo The Carpathian

CANNONEERS

The USNA Cannoneers are a Brigade Support Activity which aids in promoting the spirit of the Brigade during football games. The job of the Cannoneers began as the Brigade marches on, spelling G-O N-A-V-Y, F-I-G-H-T, finishing with a fire from the cannon.

Throughout the game, the Cannoneers support the football team, firing a Dahlgren model 1863 Boat Howitzer, for touchdowns, halftime and the end of the game.

They also fire a smaller cannon for extra points, field goals, the end of the 1st and 3rd quarters, and at any point to promote spirit. The Cannoneers were joined at the Army-Navy game by a support group of Marines from Quantico and a 115mm Howitzer for the victory over Army! The Cannoneers are an essential, yet little known part of the Brigade spirit!

Go Navy Beat Army!

SILENT DRILL TEAM

The USNA Silent Drill Team, also known as the Jolly Rogers, is an exhibition drill platoon composed of members of the Brigade of Midshipmen. Their mission includes performing at various Naval Academy sporting events and official ceremonies. They compete at individual drill meets around the nation and represent the Naval Academy and the United States Navy in a wide variety of public appearances, to include local dress parades, and other special performances as dictated by the Commandant of Midshipmen.

The Jolly Rogers carry on the legacy that is the very heart and soul of our military's most time-honored tradition: close order precision drill.

This year the team is commanded by Midn 1/c Jake Venema from San Antonio, TX. The Executive Officer is Midn 1/c Chris Kendrick from New Orleans, LA and the Operations Officer is Midn 1/c Keith Schroeder from Besonville, IL.

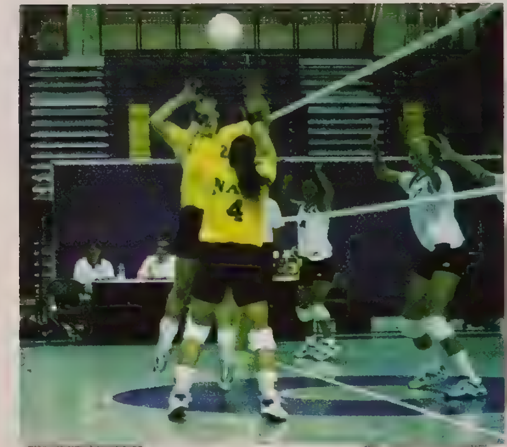
PUBLIC RELATIONS COMMITTEE

The Public Relations Committee supports Navy Sports by assisting the Navy Sports Information Staff.

Besides serving as the eyes which help record official stats, the hands which compile and collate these stats, and the legs which deliver the completed information to reporters, one of our major purposes for maintaining a uniformed presence in the press box is to serve as liaisons to reporters, who appreciate the midshipman's perspective we provide them with on the Naval Academy as much as our assistance in navigating Navy's athletic facilities.



Although we arrive at football games two hours early and often leave forty minutes after "Blue and Gold," some of our younger members (4/C Crabbe) find that the opportunities to mingle with the enthusiastic, if not youthful, concessions staff more than compensate for the lost liberty time.

COLOR GUARD

This year the Color Guard once again represented USNA at many different venues ranging from home football games to Drill competitions at Tulane and Villanova Universities.

The new members from the class of '03 are 4/C Demuck, Desantis, Villanueva, Enderlin, Sipp, Davenport, Schaengold, Webber, and Jennings.

Under the supervision of 3/C Wagner they supported the Brigade at all home football games and all parades. Returning veterans, 2/C Cadle, 3/C Smith, 3/C Kain, 3/C Buck, 3/C Pass, 3/C Cobos, and 3/C Nilsson traveled around the country to represent the USNA at away games as well as drill competitions and local events.

Next year the 4/C members will be moving up to the traveling team and the upperclass members will be moving on to other activities.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

"The United States Naval Academy's Men's Glee Club is one of the largest and oldest extracurricular activities on the Yard. Under the direction of Doctor John Barry Talley (and the supervision of LCDR Larabee, USN), the group has gained local, national, and international acclaim.

Though known in the Annapolis area for its support of various Navy affiliated functions and its involvement in the Distinguished Artist Series, these trubadors also perform for a national audience in their annual production of Handel's Messiah and NBC's Christmas in Washington. The Glee Club performs several times a year for officials in the national and international sphere, traditionally singing at Presidential Inaugural Galas and providing for the musical entertainment of senior Naval officers and distinguished Academy grads- the list includes Ross Perot and former President Jimmy Carter.

The Men's Glee Club had a very busy schedule for the year. With over sixty performances and two state-side tours (one to Georgia and South Carolina; the other to the warmer climate of Florida), ranging from a First Class Parent's Weekend Concert to singing the National Anthem and the Maryland State song at the Preakness. The Men's Glee Club is proud to represent as the "cultural backbone of the Brigade."

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

The Women's Glee Club is an organization dedicated to our country, our school, and our love of music. We are women who find joy in making other people happy through our singing.

In September we put on a splendid show for our parents and traveled to the Army War College in Carslie, PA.

During end-of-semester finals, we pulled together three impressive performances: our traditional Christmas concert in Memorial Hall, Messiah, and the nationally televised Christmas in Washington. Our highlight of the year was our trip to Hawaii during spring break where we all got tans and charmed the hearts of many. It was wonderful to have LT Traum working for us again, but we also welcomed LT Mitchell, and our deepest appreciation goes out to you both.

We can't forget our two specialty groups: the Stowaways and the Sirens. Their extra work and dedication provided us with two quality groups with potential to reach for the stars. Our season concluded with the Commissioning Week concert, where we said farewell to Kayla, Karen, Jen, and Sonya. May we continue to strive for excellence in all we do, keeping the fond memories of Glee Club in our hearts.

BSAC

The mission of BSAC is to provide dances, swing balls, concerts, and social functions for the enjoyment of the Brigade. BSAC is comprised of a group of sociable volunteers from all 30 companies of the Brigade. From each company, there are three 4th class representatives that help setup each event, conduct their proper running, and provide these events with security to enjoy each function. The upperclass staff of BSAC comes from previous members who desire to continue the work they began as 4th class. There are many positions in the staff, including President, Vice President for Concerts, V.P. for Dances, V.P. for Publicity, Swing Ball Coordinator, Duty Driver Coordinator, Adjutant, and Representative Coordinators. The President of BSAC holds the position of Brigade Assistant Operations Officer in charge of Social Affairs. The Ring Dance Committee is a sub-committee of BSAC and it's President comes from BSAC's staff.

MASQUERADERS

The Masqueraders produced their first show, The Lady of Lyons, by Edward George Bulwer-Lytton in 1845. The stage was improvised, and just as in Shakespeare's day, roles of both gender were played by male mids. These days of course we have enough talent both male and female that the guys don't have to get up on stage in drag anymore. Whew!

This year was one of the Masqueraders' busiest in recent memory. The Fall show was Othello, and it presented us with some serious challenges. Our usual demesne, Mahan Hall, was being renovated and was little more than a cave in November, so we were forced into Mitscher Auditorium, a singularly inhospitable locale for a troupe of actors. Yet despite the deteriorating material condition of the hall, the dearth of proper stage facilities, and terrible acoustics, our hardy band persevered. Every day the cast could be found hard at work, running lines, blocking out scenes, and catching the occasional quick nap when not on stage. The techie guild provided us with a sturdy set which blended seamlessly into the ambiance of the room.

In addition to Othello, Masqueraders produced an unprecedented two other shows. With Mahan Hall down the Glee Club didn't put on their traditional Musical this year. Having already braved the depths of Mitcher for Othello, the Masqueraders were undaunted however, and took the opportunity to produce a pair of one-acts, this time getting creative and using one of the lecture halls in Rickover as an impromptu theater. The Marriage Proposal by Anton Chekhov, and The American Dream by Edward Albee, performed over two weekends in February and March were both immensely successful, and provided a welcome comedic interlude after Shakespeare's heavy drama.

Then in April, Masqueraders produced the winning plays of the Jasperson One-Act Contest for their third show of the year. These plays were written and directed solely by midshipmen, and prove that Masqueraders has been quite successful over the years in its mission of stimulating the brigade to become interested in and learn about theater.

INTERNATIONAL BALL COMMITTEE

This year's International Ball was held in Dahlgren Hall on April 8, 2000. The Ball is held annually to recognize and honor the Naval Academy's international students, international officers, and their wives. This year's Ball was an even greater success than previous years, with over 2700 guests in attendance.

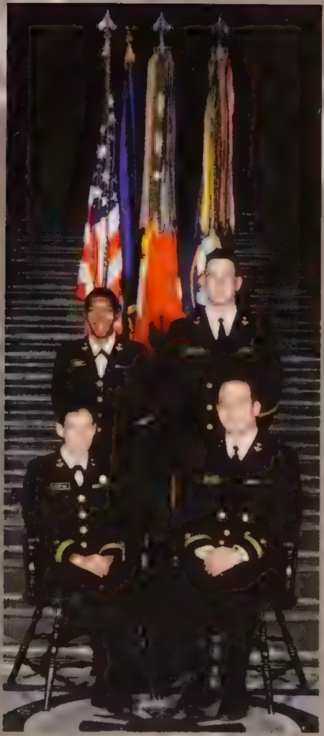
CHURCHILL SOCIETY



Huzzah! So begins every new day at the Maryland Renaissance Festival, and with that every new year for the Churchill Society. For a movement order to the Festival is traditionally the first outing that the Churchill Society undertakes. But it is only the beginning...

The Churchill Society is a cultural Society that seeks to afford midshipmen, staff and faculty the opportunity to take advantage of events of cultural interest in the greater Washington and Baltimore area. The Movement Orders to theaters, galleries, festivals and the like, usually take place on Sundays. The regular biweekly meetings take place in the form of the "Classic Movie Nights," which take place on Friday evenings and are free and open to all. Also, the Society hosts Poetry Readings out in town. Here midshipmen read from the works of great authors, or their own original compositions.

The Churchill Society is an ideal forum for creative expression of every kind, and thus appeals to a wide variety of people. A weekly Newsletter is distributed via e-mail containing information about the Society itself, and a listing of any other events of interest in the area.

MIDSHIPMAN ACTION GROUP

ROLE ROTARY CLUB B.I.G. BOOK DEPOSIT
NAVY

MAG has been very busy over the past year. From Baltimore to Washington DC and all points in between, the group has organized many community service efforts to better the area communities. From "Mids for Kids" to Habitat for Humanity, we as a brigade have helped to volunteer more than 20,000 hours of community service to the surrounding area this year. Mids, officers and faculty have worked with children, senior citizens, hospitalized and homeless people. Working closely with the Public Affairs Office and Character Development Office, the group is constantly doing more and more service for the greater Annapolis area. As one of the most rewarding ECAs, MAG takes pride in our partnerships with the community. Thank you to everyone who has volunteered to make MAG what it is today.

YP POWER SQUADRON

The YP Power Squadron is composed of a gung-ho group of Midshipmen in the Brigade that make the utmost use of the Naval Academy's fleet of Yard Patrol Craft (YP's) to provide them with hands-on training in seamanship, navigation, naval tactics, communications, naval phraseology and standard procedures. The YP Power Squadron is an ECA unlike any other at USNA. The YP Power Squadron is a professional (support) ECA. The Power Squadron currently conducts local operations out in the Severn River and bay every Tuesday and Thursday. Additionally, the Power Squadron undertakes three movement orders per semester which are mandatory for Power Squadron members, but are open to the brigade at large as well. Baltimore, Philadelphia, Norfolk, and Washington DC are the Squadron's favorite ports. Plebes are highly encouraged to either join the Squadron, or at least become a rider for a movement order, so that they may get a first taste of shipboard life before they embark on LANTPATRAMID during 3/C summer. The Power Squadron does teaches seamanship, navigation, communications, and other professional skills, but MOST IMPORTANTLY- Midshipmen in the Squadron learn confidence, presence, and assertiveness in real-life ship handling situations. Power Squadron builds leadership skills. Although Power Squadron is often associated with SWO it provides Midshipmen an environment to build leadership, teamwork, and military organization skills which is ideal for any warfare community. Most Midshipmen in the Squadron are working on attaining the qualification of YPCO. At graduation, the YPCO qualification turns into a full-fledged OINC qualification, which can be worn be by the bearer through out his or her Naval career. On average only three Midshipmen per graduating classhold this qualification. It is however a requirement in order to assume the highest position in the Power Squadron, that of Commodore.

MODEL UN

Model United Nations is a forum in which students can act in the role of world leaders. Each midshipman represents a country at collegiate level conferences and must act in the best interest of that country.

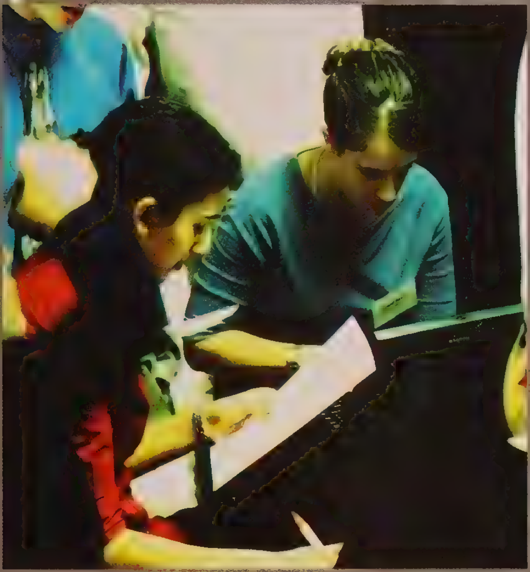
Participation teaches valuable knowledge of foreign policy, understanding of United Nations structure, comprehension of cultural and international norms, and skills for critical thinking, negotiation, and leadership.

Midshipmen annually travel to conferences in Montreal, Canada, Harvard University, and University of Virginia.

NAFAC

Delegates from over 100 universities across the nation and 24 foreign countries gathered in Annapolis in mid-April for the fortieth annual Naval Academy Foreign Affairs Conference.

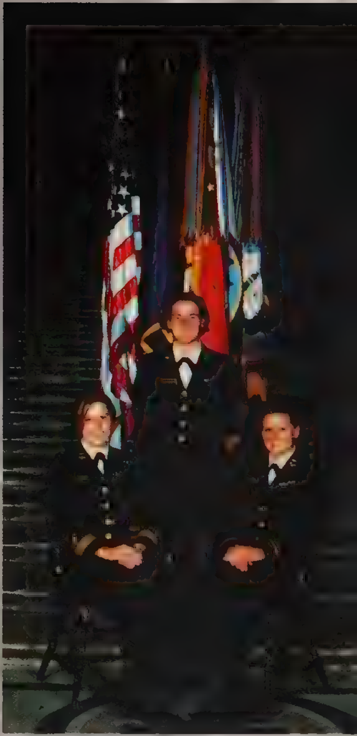
Delegates participated in a wide variety of activities ranging from panel discussions relating to the changing roles of militaries in the 21st century to attending the Forrestal Address featuring the Secretary of the Navy, The Honorable Richard Danzig. There were speakers of international renown such as Ambassador Robert Hunter, Colonel Charles Dunlap, USAF, and Mr. Warren P. Strobel. The NAFAC delegates were also treated to a social banquet and sightseeing on the waterfront of historic Annapolis.



NAFAC is the largest academic activity at the Naval Academy, with nearly 200 midshipmen participating each year. Midshipmen serve in all capacities ranging from round table moderators to logistical support. Unlike most any other activity on the Yard, NAFAC is planned and executed entirely by midshipmen.

WPA

This year marked many changes for the Naval Academy's Women's Professional Association. Realizing that a larger outreach was needed, WPA became a subcommittee in the newly formed Joy Bright Hancock Group. Each month this group met for lunch with a regular attendance of 180 midshipmen and, with a new theme each month, exposed midshipmen to role models within the fleet and here at the Academy.



Three committees were formed under the new JBH Group; these included the Professional, Service and Social Committees. The Service Committee focused on serving the community through work at Lighthouse Shelter, a Baltimore soup kitchen, reading at local elementary schools and singing at a nursing home. The Social Committee organized a pep rally for the Powder Keg Football Team and dinner at the annual DACOWITS conference in Washington, D.C. In addition, the Professional Committee, previously known as WPA, hosted Captain Long the Special Assistant for Women's Policy within the Bureau of Naval Personnel and Captain Beeson, a dynamic speaker on courage and leadership in the military. The Professional Committee also hosted and sponsored a Veteran's Day trip to the Women In Military Service for America (WIMSA) Memorial and Arlington National Cemetery where we watched President Clinton address the nation.

RING AND CREST COMMITTEE

The Ring and Crest Committee organizes and designs a unique class crest. The design is created by a member of the class and distinguishes the class from any other. The crest is part of the official Naval Academy class ring and a part of many other decorations which may be purchased by members of the class. The committee works with the ring company chosen by the class to ensure that all products associated with the crest are efficiently distributed.

The SNAME club works to promote the learning of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers. The club has enjoyed a large membership that is excited by the subjects and a faculty that adds fuel to their fire. SNAME has organized many trips over the years to add practical knowledge and excitement for all members of the brigade who are interested in the subjects of Naval Architecture of and Marine Engineering.

SNAME

MARINE ENGINEERS

The end of the millennium might have brought an end to USNA's Marine Engineers, but we sure didn't go quietly. Wether we were in the classroom practicing our religion of Tuttleism, or in the Nuke lab irradiating ourselves with Uranium rods, we always seemed to be causing some kind of ruckus. Before we brought the last operational Steam Lab in an American college to its knees, we set a few records that will stand for all time with our coffee can combustors and copper heat exchangers. Being the Last Class of Marine Engineers, the Class of 2000 takes pride in knowing we were the only class in history to get the big six inch piston to move with our boiler; we were also the only class to get the coils system heat exchanger to work; and we managed to set a record weight lift of 135 pounds on those pistons. It's surprising what a can of Sterno will do when it falls into the wrong hands. Although the Dirty Dozen never quite succeeded in Operation Goldfish-in-the-Reactor, we did manage to break a diesel engine and a gas turbine in the test cell of Rickover Lab-deck. While the completion of our four week steam lab during 2/C year proved to be an impossibility, we completed more of that lab than anyone else ever has.

And here's just a quotes that sum up what the Marine Engineers learned while at USNA...‘This is different than a textbook, this actually tries to help you!’ ‘It's hard to find a volunteer to go into a burning engine room.’ ‘You need to know how much torque is twisting your shaft.’ ‘You can't exceed the max torque unless you hit a log.’ ‘If you've done one shaft, it should be easy to do another one.’ ‘A boat is defined as a hole in the water, lined with fiberglass, into which you pour your money.’ ‘When you have a fire on a ship, you have to put it out. You can't just go out into the parking lot and wait or you'll swim home.’ ‘We'll send an envoy. If you don't come back, we'll follow you.’ ‘Attorneys don't like to go to jail, it ruins their careers.’ ‘You have one more shot at not getting it built, so you gold-plate everything.’ ‘There are a lot more horse's asses than horses out there.’ Have you been on the bridge of a ship? Do they trust Mids up there? I thought maybe that had changed.’ ‘Depreciable life isn't how long it's gonna last, it's how long you tell the IRS it's gonna last.’ ‘I was in Coronado SERE school learning how to speak Vietnamese and throw hand grenades.’ ‘BMW never built a bad car, and Datsun never copied a bad car.’ ‘Your nose is a pretty good filter—points downward, has hair, etc.’ ‘If you can work this heat engine problem and everything else I put on the exam, you'll be fine.’ They'd let me teach Nukes, but they wouldn't learn very much.’ ‘One half of 16 is 4.’

TECHNICAL PRODUCTIONS CREW

The Technical Productions Crew is a NEW group formed for the purposes of providing light and sounds for varying events around the yard. Regardless of the variety in the levels of experience upon entering the club, the members of have been able to improve their skill and gain more knowledge about the operation of the equipment and of the many aspects that must be considered when working a good show.

In its first official year of existence, the Technical Productions Crew has already proved itself as a huge help to the activities around the yard.

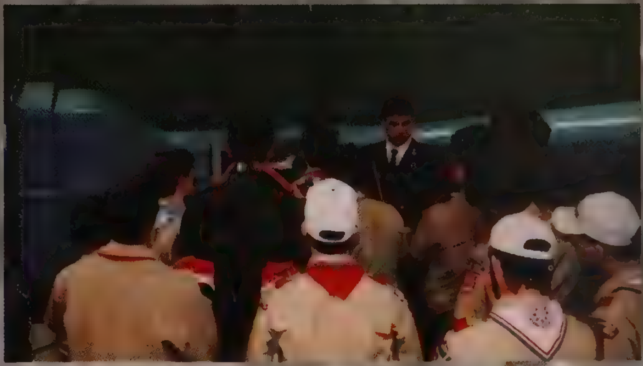
They've offered their assistance in the Brigade Concerts, Halloween haunted house, the annual International ball, Halloween organ concert, the Masquerader's production of Othello, various tail-gater's, pep rallies, glee club concerts, and many other spontaneous, publicity events.

Last of all, the TPC is nearly more fun than any of us can stand!

NESA

NESA is a national organization of Eagle Scouts supported by Boy Scouts of America. Midshipmen who are Eagle Scouts can join the USNA chapter. The mission of the USNA chapter is to conduct activities with scout troops of the Boy Scouts of America, and provide leadership training to members in accordance with the Boy Scout Oath and Law.

NESA
seeks to promote scouting at the Naval Academy, and promote the Navy and Naval Academy to all Boy Scout troops. Programs to do this include the annual Scout Day at Navy Football, an annual aquatics weekend for local scouts who recently became Eagle scouts, an annual merit badge jamboree and camping with local troops. The contact with local boy scout troops aims to further Midshipmen leadership, in roles as teachers and mentors for scouts.



CAMPUS GIRL SCOUTS

The Campus Girls Scouts are a part of the Girl Scouts of the USA but open to both men and women as adult volunteers. Our current President Alex Roloff is an Eagle Scout as well as an active CGS member for four years. We provide leadership and community service to the Scouting community in Maryland as well as troops visiting from other areas. Mids assist with community encampments, flag ceremonies, campfire programs, international awareness events, Navy Scout Day (football game), and wall climbing to name a few of this year's activities. We again hosted our 4th annual "In the Looking Glass" day for 270 girls. They had an opportunity to explore the world of science and technology with chemistry experiments, planetarium show, computer workshops, a YP tour, lunch in King Hall and a program with Cdr Wendy Lawrence, NASA astronaut, about her missions in space. This year we also sent some mids to the first national Campus Scout conference in New Jersey -with reps from throughout the US.

DIVING CLUB

The US Naval Academy Dive Unit, more fun than a pool full of monkeys.......

Dive School is one of the hardest warfare electives that someone can do here at the Naval Academy. Those who make it through the pre-screener and screener get to reep their rewards at the Navy's Dive and Salvage schools in Panama City, Fl. or Pearl Harbor, Hi. Call it a paid vacation with your friends, but there, you will meet some of the best instructors in the Navy. After that, you're part of the tightest group of guys at the Academy.

That's the Dive Unit..... We host the dive pre-screener every fall and pick the top 60 to go on to the screener. After the screener we fight the administration trying to get billets, and then fight for dives down at the Naval Station and in Norfolk It's fun, It's tough, but mostly it's a bunch of good guys hanging out together.

SSSCCCUUUBBBAAA!!!

Train hard,

Get wet.

FLYING CLUB

The Naval Academy Flying Club continues to be the premier source of aviation exposure to the Brigade. The Flying club provides an extremely affordable flying program in conjunction with the Navy-Annapolis flying club at Lee Airport, Edgewater, MD.

This year's activities began with the Experimental Aviation Association Fly-In Breakfast in Cumberland, MD. The club organized a private pilot ground school first and second semester. Instrument ground school was also offered second semester and numerous T-34B ground schools where offered through out the year. The year was also packed with club sponsored plane washes and speaker/movie nights.

The biggest achievement of the year was the fostering of a new improved Intercollegiate Flying Team. The flying team placed 2nd at the Regional SafeCon in Hickory, North Carolina and was invited to the National Competition in Grenada, Mississippi. Funded nearly entirely out of their own pockets, team members represented naval aviation with tremendous professionalism and style. This challenge was undertaken with the hope of not only sparking interest in aviation within the Brigade, but also in the hopes that the Academy will soon prove to the nation and the Air Force Academy just who the best aviators in the world are by taking the national title.

LANGUAGE CLUB

This year the Language Club has soared to new heights. First off we officially changed our name from MELL (Midshipman Extra-Curricular Language Learning), rather long-winded don't you think, to simply the Language Club. We also took on a new language this year, Italian. This semester we had the following classes available to interested midshipmen: Italian, German, Spanish (advanced and beginners), Russian, and French. There was an interest for Japanese, Chinese and Latin, but we could not muster enough interest or instructors to produce a class. Next semester we are going to try to teach more languages, including those three and also sign language.

The core of the Language Club is made up the instructors. They are a few dedicated members who take their free time during the week to teach interested midshipmen their specialty language. And the catch is...its all for fun! There is no homework, and no pressures of the classroom. Most classes are taught in the academic buildings but some find it easier to teach in Steerage, or in a room in Bancroft. The students are not pressured to study or even attend every-single lesson. They learn fun phrases, basics and some culture too.

This year we had our first language club party! We ate pizza (an Italian cuisine) and watched Il Postimo, and a documentary on the Rhein, a river in Germany. Next semester we are going to try and organize visits to foreign embassies.

Unfortunately LCDR Brock, our Officer Representative retired this year. He has supported the club since its existence (I believe we are in our 4th year). He turned over the baton to LT Ramierez, an officer in the Mexican navy. Perhaps LT Ramierez will be able to help us in organizing a visit to the Mexican embassy!

Thanks to all the instructors this year:
French: Midn Carter, Midn Heineike, Midn Bergstrom
Adv. Spanish: Midn Delosreyes
Beg. Spanish: Midn Campos, Midn Fedor
Italian: Midn DiMaria
Russian: Midn Bateman
German: Midn Massie, Midn Gull, Midn Martinez

Thanks LCDR Brock, fair winds and following seas!

MATH CLUB

The objective of the Mathematics Club is to provide Midshipmen with opportunities to become actively involved in various programs, classes, and events which would enhance their educational development in mathematics.

The Chemistry club provides midshipmen an opportunity to see chemistry in action. Reasearch at National Livermore Laboratory and Internship at Bethesda Hospital were the highlights of our first meeting. Then there was the tailgater where the professors and mids drank out of beakers. Go Figure.

This year the club is staffed by Luan Lam, President; John Hendrix, Vice; Ian Hudson, Secretary; David Heltzel, Treasurer.

Faculty Rep is Prof. Joseph Lomax and Officer Rep. is CDR. David McDonald.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union is a Christian ECA's whose purpose is to glorify God through praise, worship, Bible study, and fellowship.

We seek individual and corporate growth in our relationship with God so that our lives as midshipmen and Naval officers will serve as testimonies of God's work in our lives.

Some of our activities include community service projects, retreats with other Baptist Student Ministries in Maryland and Delaware, and spring break missions trips. Each of these activities builds life-long Christian friendships and enhances fellowship.

Throughout all of this, we seek to help people enchance their spiritual lives as they seek to glorify God.

CATHOLIC MIDSHIPMEN CLUB

The Catholic Midshipman Club is the organization which provides fellowship and spiritual growth to the more than 2000 Catholics within the Brigade of Midshipmen.

At our club's weekly meetings, we gather to pray together and learn more about our faith through the guidance of our club officers and the Catholic chaplains. Our rosary prayer group meets nightly in the Rotunda chapel. Within our club, we have an outstanding musical group which provides music at the weekly midshipman Mass. Many of our members also sing in the Catholic Choir, teach CCD and participate in RCIA/Confirmation classes. In addition, we begin each emester with a retreat and we host socials and dances throughout the year.

In addition to gathering with other midshipmen, we seek to support the USNA Catholic parish community as a whole.
Many of us are Eucharistic Ministers, Lectors, or members of other such ministries. We host the parish picnic each year; and each month, we give back to the community through our SHARE food distribution program.

In all we do, our club has lots of fun and friendships. We welcome all midshipmen to join the CMC and help us grow stronger in our Christian journey.

JEWISH MIDSHIPMEN CLUB

The Jewish Midshipmen Club provides Midshipmen with an outlet for practicing and expanding their Judaism. Midshipmen come together for Sabbath worship every Friday night in the All Faiths Chapel. There are weekly club meetings were mids share thoughts on Jewish subjects and eat pizza.

The club provides Bible study classes and Hebrew lessons for all who are interested. The Jewish Midshipmen club also enables students to observe the traditions and customs of Jewish holidays such as Sukkot, Purim, and Passover.

Under the leadership of club President 2/C Dietz, Vice President 3/C Drew, and Secretary/ Treasurer 3/C Elko, the Club has organized numerous activities this year. Students were given the opportunity to travel to the Israeli Embassy to hear Col. Ramon, the first Israeli Astronaut, speak. Also planned were a Shabbaton retreat in October to the rivers of West Virginia, a luncheon with Israeli War Veterans, Baltimore Heritage Trip, Kosher tailgater, and a Fall Ball Weekend where Jewish students from other colleges and universities were invited to the Academy have made this a busy and interesting year.

All of the events planned by the Jewish Midshipmen Club could not have been accomplished without the help and support of Chaplain Rabbi Elson, LCDR Wolfe, (the club Officer Representative,) the Friends of the Jewish Chapel, and sponsor family contributions.

PROTESTANT MIDSHIPMEN CLUB

The mission of the Protestant is to reach out to the Brigade of Midshipmen and to provide Christian fellowship, friendship, and spiritual development. The Protestant Midshipmen Club proclaims the Lordship of Christ Jesus by inviting believers and unbelievers alike to grow spiritually and to take part in various activities. PMC seeks to offer midshipmen the opportunity to be accepted and have positive exposure to the Christian faith.

This year the staff has been busy organizing the Fall Retreat at Camp Letts and the winter Ski Retreat in Virginia. Monthly the members of PMC come together to praise and worship. The theme for this year has been one's faith journey with the Lord. Midshipmen have had the opportunity to discover their inner conceptions with the Lord and to share their experiences with each other.

Under the guidance of Chaplain Brown and Chaplain Meehan, the staff consisting of 1/C Apple, 1/C Sprague, 2/C Jesse Maynor, 2/C Rowan, 2/C McDonald, 2/C Rimer, 3/C Sistrunk, 3/C O'Neil, and 3/C Oyler have provided great leadership for the Protestant Midshipman Club.

LDSSA

The Latter Day Saint Student Association (LDSSA) is a non profit organization designed to bring together and sustain the Latter Day Saint students here at the Naval Academy.

However, it is not limited to strictly members of the Mormon church, all are welcomed to join us. We have many outings planned this year thanks to the gallant leadership of our presidency, namely Gullhead, EV, Ryan and Johnny. Our spiritual activities for this year include: outings through which we serve the community by participating in clean up projects, canning and packaging goods for the homeless, singing during the Christmas season at public locations, and much much more. Other fun events include dances, trips to Washington DC and other areas, and inter-collegiate activites with other service academies. Our extroverted group of midshipmen meet every Thursday night in Michelson, to conduct studies from the Bible and the Book of Mormon, another testament of Jesus Christ. Our number one goal is to orient our lives in order to be in harmony with His teachings. Come join us as we embark on a very spiritual and fun filled year.

FCA

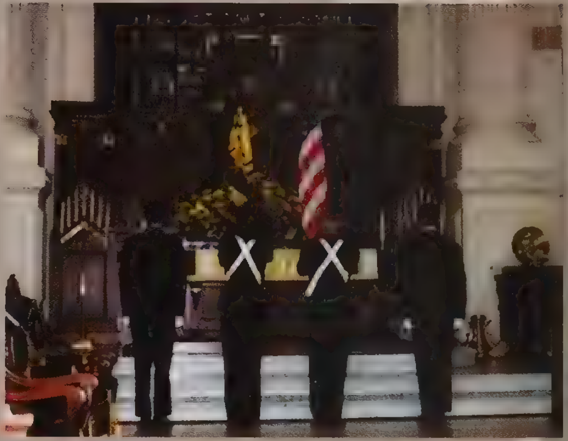
FCA this year was blessed with growth both spiritually and numerically. We moved from our normal location in Smoke Hall down to Laboon this year, and it has been a good move. Our Mariachi Band of 2/C Brendan Anderson, 3/C Chris Forman, and 3/C Matt Fisher lead us in music and worship. 1/C Bubba McKinney, our fearless President, has done amazing things giving his time to lead the organization of our meetings. 1/C Alexi Jonopulos and 1/C John "The Warrior" Wray helped keep people coming and did tons of behind the scenes work in advertising and getting speakers. Huddles also were formed for small group discussions and to get answers to questions. 2/C Andrew Koy kept our rosters up to date, spread the good Word, and kept people up to date on our many events. FCA is a national organization whose focus is growing in faith through athletics. We have had many awesome speakers this year including, CAPT Joyce, USN, Coach Brian Norwood, Coach Matt Wells, Brigade Master Chief Welch, and many more. They shared how God was present in their life, and how we should grow together in faith. God works in all areas of our life, and there is no way that we can turn His love away. That is why this year's focus of FCA was to 'Live It Out,' to take our faith and live it each day. Overall, we have truly been blessed this year.

PCAG

Protestant Chapel Action Group, (PCAG), is an organization made of midshipmen who want to give direct support to the Protestant Chapel Community. The community, after supporting the Brigade of Midshipmen for several years needed help with the responsibilities of the chapel. The midshipmen gladly accepted the task and began helping the community.

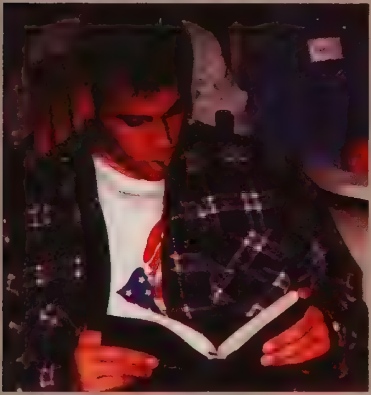
To date, the midshipmen of this organization are responsible for the success of the chapel programs. Each Sunday we organize ushers, color guards, and acolytes for the Protestant chapel services. We are in direct support of the chapel community and in return they provide us with money for picnics, pot luck dinners, and service plaques to hang in the Bancroft Hall Chapel.

This is a wonderful organization to participate in to meet people and serve the Lord at the same time.



OCF

Officer Christian Fellowship (OCF) was created for the purposes of uniting Christian officers for biblical fellowship and outreach, equipping and encouraging them to minister effectively in a military society. OCF provides a unique resource for the midshipman at the US Naval Academy. Although it provides fellowship and spiritual encouragement to not only those in the Naval Academy but also those in over 200 military bases, OCF is open for all people. It is non-denominational and seeks to help people grow in their relationship with God and develop a passion for the learning of the Word of God.



We celebrate God through various activities. Once a semester, we take a break from the stresses of the Academy by heading up to White Sulfur Springs in Pennsylvania. There we hike, ride horses, dance, and take some time thinking and contemplating of life's issues. But most importantly, there we can get away from little things that so consume our thoughts and just focus on what's really important. And during the summer, some head to Rocky Mountain High in Colorado, where many mountaineering skills are learned and teamwork is emphasized. More importantly, we learn to realize how God fits into our daily activities and how He is manifested in our actions with love and compassion.

PROTESTANT CHOIR

Steadfast and strong, the Protestant Choir has continued its support of the Sunday Chapel services. The year began with our annual retreat to Virginia Beach. Fighting the rain, we both sang and shared in fellowship together even when that meant sacrificing the beach for the bowling alley.

Second semester, we continued the tradition of singing in New York City, where we had one of our finest performances in the past four years. Whether we were battling 12-week exams or the Dark Ages, the prospect of fellowship and pizza always seemed to fill the pews with eager choir members. To the Class of 2000, and to those we leave behind, best of luck and "until we meet again, may God hold you in the palm of His hand."

CATHOLIC CHOIR

Well what can I say about such a great group to be with?

This year we said goodbye to our former O-rep LT Trinque, USN and welcomed LT Grasdock, USN. We even began a new tradition of heading to the Seton Shrine in Emmitsburg, MD to participate in their mass for the Sea Services. Some Sundays were rough and I could tell by the looks on peoples' faces that they hadn't been up more than 5 minutes. Hey, I guess we found out finally why we did all those uniform races plebe year. I can say that this has been a rewarding job singing with a group of which I am proud to be a part.

Thank you all for making this year great. God Bless

NAVIGATORS

Navigators is a Christian ECA whose goal and mission is to know Christ and to make Him known.

Whether it is at our weekly Tuesday night meetings or on one of our weekend conferences, we seek to learn more about Him while encouraging one another.

Proverbs 27:17 says, "As iron sharpens iron, so one man sharpens another." And we seek to do just that, through developing deep and meaningful relationships for the purpose of better knowing Him and making Him known. Navigators focuses on personal, one-to-one relationships and the idea of investing your life in a another through accountability and mentoring. And in the process we tend to have a lot of fun. Our meetings and conferences are a mix of learning together, growing together, and hanging out together.

The Navigators presents an arena for spiritual growth and gives a Christian real tools for a life of ministry for Jesus Christ.

GOSPEL CHOIR

The mission of the USNA Gospel Choir to minister the Gospel of Jesus Christ in song to the Brigade of Midshipmen and at large. Formed in the fall of 1985 with less than a dozen members, the choir has grown in excess of sixty members. The choir flourishes under the leadership of Mrs. Joyce Garrett, the musical director, LT Jonathan Powell,USN the officer representative, and MSC(SS) Kenneth Hughley, USN the assistant officer representative. The president is MIDN 1/c Jerry Gray.

The choir has sung in numerous churches and auditoriums throughout the country, in various high schools and for city officials, and has even been featured on NBC's "Good Morning, America." In April 1997, it released its first recording, "Down By The Riverside." The choir is currently preparing for a second recording in the future.

Yet, in the midst of performances, concerts, and rehearsals, the choir strives to be a family of believers united with the common goal of giving God praise. It strives to meet the challenge set in Psalms 34:1:

> "I will bless the Lord at all times; his praise shall continually be in my mouth."

CHINESE AMERICAN CLUB

The Chinese American Club was founded 6 years ago with the goal of promoting awareness of the rich Chinese culture to the Brigade of midshipmen. We organize movie nights, cultural exhibitions, and also a trip to Taiwan in the summer. The CAC have a membership of about 30 midshipmen, the majority of whom are non-Chinese, but are interested in the Chinese tradition and cuisine. We also organize trips to New York for the Chinese New Year celebrations and attend Asian conferences to learn more about our unique customs and tradition.

FILIPINO AMERICAN CLUB

Barkada - Your group of friends.

Here with the USNA Filipino-American (Fil-Am) Club you'll find a close knit group of Midshipmen whose goal is to share the Filipino Heritage across the cultural and ethnic boundaries that exist in today's world. Your very own Fil-Am Club has been quite active this year with annual commitments that include escorting at the Miss Filipino American Pageant, and coordinating activities for Asian Cultural week. Members have also taken the responsibility of representing the Naval Academy at various conferences such as Filipino Intercollegiate Network Dialogue (FIND) and East Coast Asian Student Union (ECASU) in order to address issues facing the Asian-American community. At the Army/Navy Football game, the Fil-Am Club coordinated a joint tailgater with Army's Pacific Islander Club to celebrate the rich heritage of the Pacific Isles and to chow down on Lumpia, Pancit, and (of course) steamed rice. Barkada welcomes you to the Filipino Heritage.

KOREAN AMERICAN CLUB

Whether it be Korean or American, or Korean-American, the Korean-American Club constantly finds new ways to enjoy themselves. This year the club has had the pleasure of participating in many culturally enhancing activities. Among those events include hosting the South Korean C.N.O., meeting several Korean-American Collegiate clubs in the common bonds of culture, meeting several Korean-American Collegiate girls in the common bonds of culture, and sharing our proud heritage with the Brigade of Midshipmen.

Sometimes all we do is eat and drink, but even those times are unforgettable. Sometimes all we do is drink, and those memories seem a bit hazy. Hopefully, our club this year will be remembered for our great comradery and unyielding willingness to help our fellow midshipmen, instead of just the brisk smell of kim-chee and soju. In the meantime, the Korean-American club will still be searching for the perfect balance between good and evil.

JAPANESE AMERICAN CLUB

The Japanese-American Club gives midshipmen the opportunity to participate in Japanese culture activities outside of class. The club operates for those midshipmen currently studying Japanese or anyone with an interest in the Japanese culture.

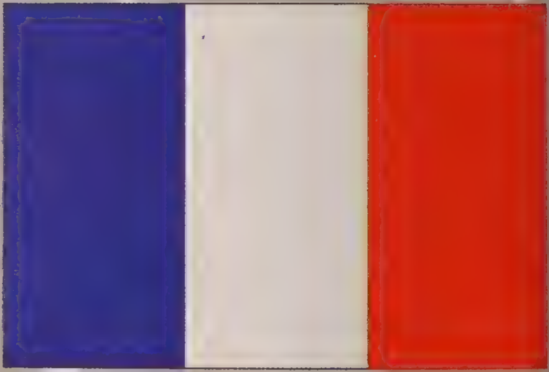
Japanese

This year the club hosted three cadets from the National Defense Academy of Japan, visited the Japanese Embassy, and attended the Cherry Blossom festival in Washington. Monthly meetings include Japanese food and movie nights. Periodically the club hosts Japanese visitors for lunch. This year included the Vice Defense Minister of Japan, officers and officials of the Japanese military, and a number of officers and officials from the National Defense Academy.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club gives midshipmen the chance to learn, speak and study the French language and culture. Members of the club have access to French books, videos, newspapers, and magazines which they can use to further their study of the French language. The Officer Representative, LT Grente of the French Navy, offers the club a direct connection to the French Navy, as well as a connection to the people of the French culture. He creates a beneficial opportunity for future Naval and Marine Corps officers at the Academy to learn the inner workings of the military of another country, ultimately making themselves better officers. In fact, it is LT Grente who is in charge of the exchange program between the US and French Naval Academies which is made available to the Brigade of Midshipmen every year. One of the most important and fun parts of the French Club are the movement orders that are organized by the club. The French Club goes every year to a commemoration ceremony held at St. John's College celebrating the French involvement in the American Revolutionary War.



Another visit that the French Club makes is to the French Embassy in Washington D.C., where members get an even closer look at the inner workings of the French Government and its relationship with the United States of America.

For the 1999-2000 Academic year, the President of the French Club is 2/C Gale Clark, the Vice President is 2/C Paige Davis, the Treasurer is 1/C Greta Spitz and the Secretary is 1/C Cynthia Persinger.

BLACK STUDIES CLUB

The Midshipman Black Studies Club sponsors the Brigade awareness of African-American contributions to the military and society through Black History Month. This year, MBSC sponsored LCDR Blackwell, USN, CAPT Mickey Ross, USN and COL Dunn, (USMC). The MBSC is also very active in the local Annapolis community through tutoring of elementary and high school students and the Kunte Kinte Foundation.

LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES CLUB

Latin American Studies Club has been getting loose this year. Latin by no means describe the whole club. Within the club there are many a huero (no offense intended) who just wants to have some fun.

Mejicanos, and el caribe don't fall behind either. This year we are trying to increase our fiesta/work ratio. I'd say we haven't done too bad. We have also kicked off a new community service project and dance lessons for the entire brigade.

A big "important people" banquet is on the horizon which will be of high visibility to the club. We have also gotten more involved with the Latinos on the East Coast in the Ivy League and other brother and sister schools in the East Coast Chicano Student Forum. We have also partaken in other high visibility events in the D.C. area. We look forward to expand our club to anyone in the brigade that's in the mood for some bails, food, and fiesta to the tune of a Latino beat.

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club allows Midshipmen exposure to the culture, language, society, and current events of Germany.

The club enjoys sampling German movies, food, and beverages and it offers members the chance to visit the German Armed Forces Command in Virginia and the German Embassy in Washington, DC.

The German Sports Medal and German ship visits are offered to the brigade by the club.

DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS

What do football games, basketball games, hockey, lacrosse, soccer, pep rallies, formations, march overs, Worden Field, the Pentagon, Disney World, Harrisburg, Rochester, Mardi Gras and Hawaii have in common?

You have a very good chance of hearing the Navy D&B there. The United States Naval Academy Drum and Bugle Corps provides musical support for the Brigade of Midshipmen. It is a rare day when one does not hear the D&B proving once again what team has the most dedicated fans.

The fall season is devoted primarily to supporting the football team and military functions such as parades and formations.

Seven away games provide many varied opportunities for travel.

This fall also saw D&B bring home a first place finish in the annual Inter-Service Drum and Bugle Corps Championship hosted by Navy.

During the winter, the D&B can be found at every home basketball game being a menace to both the opposing team and the referees. The spring provides a chance to act as representatives of the Academy around the country in a variety of parades, concerts and other similar events.

NSBE

The National Society of Black Engineers is the largest student run organization in the world. NSBE's mission is to increase the number of culturally responsible Black engineers who excel academically, succeed professionally and positively impact the community.

Comprised of more than 250 student chapters and more than 50 Alumni Extension chapters, NSBE works to develop student interest in various engineering disciplines.

Here at USNA, we wanted to show the rest of the Academy that we did not forget where we came from. With continuing programs to promote awareness of engineering opportunities and community service, Navy NSBE has become something special.

This year promises to be the most informative and most exciting yet.

ATHLETIC TRAINERS

Members of the Sports Trainers' ECA, also known as student athletic trainers, are midshipmen who possess a limited knowledge and training in emergency first aid and injury care. They are a dedicated group of people who work closely with USNA staff athletic trainers to provide healthcare to injured midshipmen.

Student athletic trainers aid in the prevention, care and rehabilitation of athletic injuries. Upon entering into our program, members are taught skills in real life situations before "graduating" to a USNA team. Their duties may include taping, treating injuries, providing first aid, attending team practices and games, traveling with teams as well as providing support to all members of the sports medicine team.

Student athletic trainers are an important part of Navy's athletic program in that they provide the vital link between the midshipmen and physicians, physical therapists, athletic trainers, and strength coaches that comprise the USNA sports medicine team.

WRNV RADIO

Who are those crazy people playing music at pep rallies and drowning out D&B at the football games?

It's the BTU crew from WRNV 89.7 FM. The Brigade's most notorious ECA has pissed off more officers, alumni, and Annapolis residents than plebes have days. From the bowels of Bancroft to the sidelines of the stadium, nobody has more power. Tune in for a good time and a chance at hearing that 80's tune that you forgot all about.

DEBATE TEAM

The United States Naval Academy Debate Team enjoyed another successful season during the 1999-2000 Academic Year.

Aa an exclusively policy-debate organization, Navy debates the national topic every year in the three national policy debate organizations: The Cross-Examination Debate Association, The National Debate Tournament, and The American Debate Association. The team competes in all three divisions: Novice, Junior Varsity, and Varsity, while maintaining one of the premier novice programs in the country.

The team's head coach again this year was Professor Phil Warken from the Naval Academy's History Department. Our Officer Representative was CDR Taylor, USN and our Assistant Officer Representative was LCDR Vincent. All three offered their wisdom, direction and experience to the team, but much of the team's success this year was due to the leadership of Jon Chase. Our next year's captain Mike Bruno, is definitely ready to take the reigns of Navy Debate.

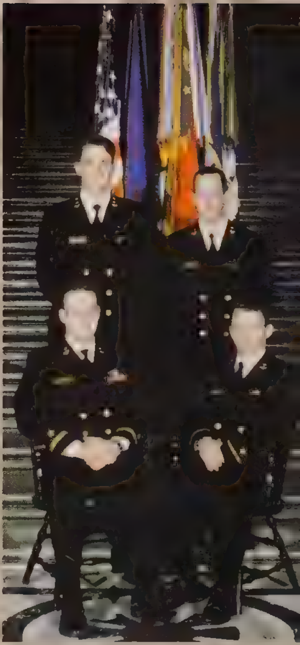
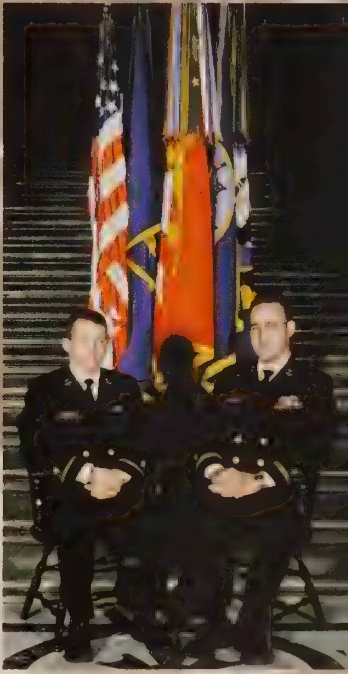
IEEE

IEEE is the world's leading resource for technological innovation and professional networking in the field of electrical engineering, electronics, and computing. The Naval Academy's IEEE club seeks to include interested Midshipmen in understanding the process or creating, developing, integrating, sharing, and applying knowledge about electro- and information technologies. Midshipmen involved with the club may join the national IEEE organization and receive the Spectrum Journal, a monthly publication on thelatest technology in electrical and computer engineering. This past year the club has had speakers from NASA, Johns Hopkins, and Naval Research Labs addressing a spectrum of topics from space travel to communications. The local IEEE chapter in Annapolis supports many of the IEEE club's activities, including soldering and kit building labs. This is the perfect ECA for any Electrical or Systems Engineer who is interested in learning how there fields affect and change our world.





The USNA Student Chapter of the Association for Computing Machinery is part of the oldest and largest educational and scientific computing society. The ACM serves as a forum to exchange ideas and information amongst computer professionals, students and educators. In that same tradition our Student Chapter serves as a focal point for the interaction of midshipmen who share an interest in computers. Through-out the year we bring computer professionals and educators to share their knowledge and experience with our members with our Guest Lecture Series.

We also serve as a median for friendly competition amongst programmers and annually send two teams to compete internationally in a programming competition. Our chapter would like to enhance the overall computing experience amongst the Brigade of Midshipmen. We try to fill in the gaps where one may get lost by providing help with computer problems; be it usage, theory or even hardware.

LEADERSHIP LIBRARY

The purpose of the Leadership Library is "To provide the Briade of Midshipmen with resources and opportunities which foster growth and development of leadership skills on a personal and small unit level"

The Leadership Library is run entirely by Midshipmen for Midshipmen, and it is only as good a resource as we make it, ideas and volunteers are welcome.

PI TAU SIGMA

Pi Tau Sigma is the Mechanical Engineering Honor Society. First Class and Second Class midshipmen who are in the top 20% of mechanical engineers in their class may join the society. Pi Tau Sigma is an active participant in the community as evident by their presentations in local high schools, to their design project during the spring semester. In this project members of Pi Tau Sigma work with local high school students to design and construct a robot to compete in a National Competition held in Florida verses other universities. Pi Tau Sigma stresses academic excellence, moral development, and a keen sense of our obligation as engineers to the commune.

The Society of Automotive Engineers is a nationwide organization comprised of industry professionals and students. They sponsor a number of design competitions located around the country. This year, the Naval Academy chapter will be entering two such competitions. The first of these is the Formula One competition. Students are supplied with a standard motorcycle engine, which they are free to modify as desired, to create a high performance race car. A new Mech E design course, EM485, was created this year to provide 1/C Midshipman a credited forum in which to work. The second competition is the Mini-Baja competition. This is an amphibious off-road vehicle powered by an 8hp engine. Both projects are Midn designed, from the wheels up.

The Naval Academy chapter also participates in the SAE sponsored World In Motion program. This program is designed to introduce engineering concepts to area youth through hands-on activities and demonstrations.

OCEANOGRAPHY CLUB

Weather is a dynamic force that affects the lives of all humans. Hurricane Floyd's fury proved this axiom first semester by canceling a day of classes.

Naval Officers will face nature's spectrum of phenomenon throughout their career and must account for environmental factors to successfully dominate military operations. The Oceanography Club promotes topics in oceanography and meteorology to expose Midshipmen to the broad array of challenges that influence our direction. Monthly lectures provided a forum for experts to relate their knowledge and experiences. This year the Oceanography Department was fortunate to sponsor the Michelson Memorial Lecture with Dr. Sylvia Earle, a deep ocean explorer.

Dr. Fritz Hasler amazed a crowd in Alumni Hall with his presentation of earth science visualizations.

Movement orders to the Baltimore Aquarium, Naval Atlantic Meteorology and Oceanography Center, a restoration community service project, and a hiking trip highlighted the year.

Course studies, topical lectures, and field trips supplemented and expanded member's foundation so they can prepare and react to any weather event.

CHEERLEADERS

From the first football game against Georgia Tech, to the last basketball game in Lehigh, the 2000 USNA Cheerleaders have had another exciting season. From pep rallies to clinics and football through basketball, we have definitely been kept busy! During the fall, we had the opportunity to make trips to many exciting places including Hawaii and Texas. Don't worry though, it wasn't all fun in the sun....we also had work to do! We had the honor of attending the Pacific Fleet Command tailgater and we never failed in performing for each Parents Association. Another highlight of the season was the Army-Navy game. Not only did the donkey come back out (with a little help from the rugby team) but we also got to cheer on a winning football team!

With a season like this, of course a close team developed. Excellent leadership was provided by our three firsties. Shawn Coniff and Myah Monjure were our always patient captains and of course there was the constant humor Lennard Cannon brought to the fish bowl each day. It is hard to believe you guys won't be with us next year! Shawn is in for a change of scenes year...instead of being the one who throws, he will be the one who flies. Although Myah and Lennard won't be cheering with us any longer, we all know that they will put as much hard work and dedication into the fleet as they have given to the team. We will miss you guys!

Last but not least, you cannot forget the underclass: Josh Smith, Liz Gomez, Dan Goodwin, Luke MacDonald, Leslie Boegel, Amanda Donges, Allison Rogde (Good Luck at Air Force....We'll miss you!), Kasey Short, Belinda King, Tim Collins, Matt Cady, Tim White, John Cude, Barb Halcovage, Nick Ahlen, and Marjori Rioberio There is no doubt that with a team like this, next season will be just as fun and memorable as this past one. We also need to thank our awesome O-rep CDR Bailey and faculty rep Prof O'Brien. The season and the team wouldn't be what it is without our coach, Dana. Thanks for putting up with us!

Women's

The 1999 women's volleyball team had a terrific season ending with a 21-13 record and the title of Patriot League Regular Season Champions. We started our season off in Buffalo, New York where we got to play in our first tournament, see Niagara Falls, welcome our new O-Rep LT Moore (USN) to the team, [illegible] a party thrown for us by the Kerr family, and experience the joy of bus travel. Our [illegible] team bonding experience coming back from New York prepared us for our first five game match of the season against Towson State. It was then that we earned the nickname the "Cardiac Kids", our ability to keep people on the edges of their seats carried through the whole season as we defeated our teams in five game matches. This excitement and anticipation was not only seen on the court, but off the court bringing [illegible] matches as well. We were able to catch one of the last flights out of BWI as Hurricane Floyd headed that direction and [illegible] into Minnesota. At the Minnesota [illegible] Lake Classic we faced our toughest competition of the season as we got to play some of the top teams in the nation. In addition to the tough competition, we got to see the home of the [illegible] and do a little shopping in the Mall of America. Our season was then marked by a tournament victory at Columbia University, and breaking Morgan State['s] [illegible] winning streak.

The battle for the Patriot League title was a brutal one [illegible]. We started off league play with [illegible] against our arch rivals on the Hudson, where the "Cardiac Kids" [illegible] our first league [illegible] and [illegible] Army. We finished off the regular season home against the mighty [illegible], where the five game match clinched our regular season championship title. We hosted the Patriot League Championship for the first time and ended the season one point shy of an NCAA bid.

Rachel Mongo entered the record books this season passing the 1000th kill and 1000th dig of her career, making her the first in Naval Academy history to accomplish this feat. Rachel was also placed on 1st Team All Patriot League and was All Tournament team. Team captain Jennifer Williams also reached her 1000th kill this season, but also received the honor of being selected as Defensive Player of the Year for the Patriot League, as well as being placed on the 1st Team All Patriot League and then All Tournament teams.

The ever so sweet Cardiac Kids [illegible] all the memories from the season. [illegible] at MacDonough to [illegible] Applebee's, long bus rides, [illegible] five game [illegible] sprints. The game faces [illegible]. BEAT ARMY!

SPRINT FOOTBALL

After opening the season with five straight victories, the 1999-2000 team looked forward to regaining supremacy of the Collegiate Sprint Football League. Navy held the longest winning streak in the league with 6, dating back to last years thrilling last minute win over Army. The team rolled into the 99' season knocking off their two "heavyweight" JV foes handily. Heading up to Pottsville, PA for the annual Anthracite Bowl against Army, the Mids were ready to rise to the occasion as they did the previous year. It was a defensive battle in the coal mining town, and the Mids came out on top after Army's last second game wining field goal attempt was blocked. The team then returned home to begin league play on their own turf field. Navy would roll over both Cornell and Princeton respectively, with shut-outs in both games. The Navy defense stifled both teams and let up less than 100 yards in both games being led by senior captain John Woods. At the same time, the offense was firing on all cylinders putting up 30 plus points each game behind the rocket arm and legs of senior captain and quarterback Drew McGinly. The seniors stepped off Rip Miller field for the last time undefeated. Unfortunately, the Mids were not able to finish off their perfect season away from home and dropped their final two games on the road to University of Pennsylvania and Army. For the 23 seniors from the Class of 2000, it definitely was a great ride: Lucas Babbitt, Greg "Grandpa" Glover, Adam "Sak" Gravseth, Dave "Lunchbox" Heltzel, Rob Herrmann, Lee "Tough" Huffstetler, Charles Jindrich, Dan Kitzmiller, Justin "Middle" Legg, Jason Martin, Ryan McDonel, Drew McGinly, Mark Oconnell, Brian O'shea, Jose Pulido, Brett Seager, Jeremy Shamblee, Mark Simon, Patrick Sise, J.D. Sullivan, Joel Uzarski, Rob Wilkerson, John Woods. Memories were made both on the field and off the field that will be carried in the minds of both the players and the fans of these "little giants".

MEN'S SOCCER

The 1999 Navy soccer team was dedicated to a new attitude and work ethic, and one that would bring them much success and time on the track. Although the 1999 season ended abruptly, it was one filled with excitement, teamwork, outstanding individual achievements, and a new desire to win.

The team, led by captain Brian Lubitz and seniors Mike Bagrosky, Frank Grecco, Matt Neely, and Clifton Smith, all members of the original NAPS-5, began the season with many lofty goals. Ranked 4th in the Patriot League preseason poll, the team was eager to dispute their critics. The team was off to a quick start with a tie against perennial Colonial Conference power VCU and a 3-1 victory over #2 ranked Colgate. The team was undefeated and off to one of the best starts in years.

Facing adversity is no stranger to Navy Soccer, and this season would be no different. After the 4th game, the team lost standout defender Loren Morgan to a torn ACL and MCL. The setback would be great, as the midshipman would lose 3 in a row. To get back on the winning road Navy relied on its traditional strength of stingy defense, and a newly found offense that would leave teams by the waste side. The team would finish up the season winning 9 of their last 10 games, before dropping to Lafayette in a heartbreaking1-0 double overtime loss in the Patriot League Championship, and finished up the season with an 11-5-2 record.

Highly deserved postseason honors would be given to 2nd team All Patriot League Brian Lubitz, and 1st team All Patriot League players Brian Steckroth, Michael Paisant, Matt Neely and Bobby Kerschweg. Steckroth and Paisant also received Patriot League Players of the Year.

With the core of the team returning, and with the memory of the winning spirit the seniors left behind, the 2000 team will hopefully receive a bid to the NCAA tournament.

The Navy Women's Soccer team finished the 99-00 season with an overall record of 14-8-0, and a conference record of 5-1-0. This season was filled veritable ups and downs, from wandering the wastelands of College Station to beating Army in front of a home crowd of 2,605. Although the season did not boast all the record breaking stats as last year, there were plenty of impressive numbers posted by a team who expects nothing but the best. First team picks included junior Margaret Ewers, and sophomore Justine Fisher, who also garnered offensive player of the year. Second team honors went to senior Tara Refo, Junior Sarah Wilson, and sophomores Becky Murphy and Vanessa Solon. Beating Army twice (again) earned a spot on memory lane due to a close call in the semi final game of the Patriot league tournament, when an incompetent referee called for a penalty kick in the last twenty seconds of the game. As always, it was just a way to keep things exciting, as an amazing Justine Fisher goal buried itself in the upper 90 of the Army net shortly into the second overtime. How do you like them apples? Other memorable games included the untimely manner of the refs at St. Francis (pickup game of basketball anyone?), the close call with the Lafayette team (again, just keeping things exciting), or the complete decimation of the Creighton team (did you SEE that counter attack?). There were good times and bad (let's just forget A&M...and don't EVER be late for breakfast), and all in all, this season brought together a group of talented young women who enjoy putting their bodies through all kinds of sadistic tortures, from stinkers and cones (that's only ONE set!?!), to the wonderful beep test, to everyone's beloved Dewey run. Getting huge in the weight room in the off-season as always, fitness proved to be our area of excellence all season strong, especially in the spring. This spring break, the majority of the Navy Women's Soccer graced Europe with its presence, making grand impressions in Germany and Belgium, and finally leaving our mark on the fields of Holland–that was their real team...right?

Hopefully, this year's firsties have imparted you our vast knowledge of the ways of the world, and leave you with the strength to move ahead, and finish the business that we did not (Colgate...we know the truth). Remember that time here is inverted, so days seem like years, but years seem like days. Seize every opportunity you can, and remember that the time is now...

We are lucky to have known each and every one of you. The class of 2000 is moving on, but will be in your hearts, as you will be in ours. We now bestow upon those left behind gifts to remember us by...

The Navy men's cross country team had another successful season in 1999, highlighted by going undefeated and 1/c team captain Aaron Nichols' appearance in the NCAA national championship meet. Beginning the season by sweeping the first 9 places while capturing the Salisbury State Invitational, the team would next reel off wins against American University, Maryland, George Washington, Richmond, Mount St. Mary's, and Pennsylvania. Following a sixth-place finish in the 22-team Indiania Invitational and a fourth-place showing at the 14-team Iona Meet of Champions, Navy finished third among 30 teams at the prestigious Paul Short Invitational. In the last dual meet of the season, the team had nine of the top-12 runners in the meet as the N Star was captured for the third consecutive year vs. Army. At the always important Heptagonal Championship, the team finished fourth in the nine-team field. From there, it was on to the District II National Qualifier. Finishing fourth out of 27 teams, the team narrowly missed qualifying for the NCAA Championships. On the season, Nichols was the top Navy runner in five of the six meets he raced. He was followed closely by fellow firstie Eric Adams, and 2/c Justin Mikolay. 3/c Jared Moore, 1/c Jon Bonnette, 1/c Ryan Runge, and 2/c Jon Hayes rounded out the top seven. With the loss of Adams, Nichols, Bonnette, and Runge, in addition to Billy Edwards, A.J. Tereshko, Matt Ventimiglia, and Hans Otten, Navy will have some rebuilding to do. However, the future looks bright as 4/c Ben Morris, 4/c Ray Driscoll, and 4/c Aaron Lanzel all look to step up, assuring the Tradition that is Navy XC will continue.

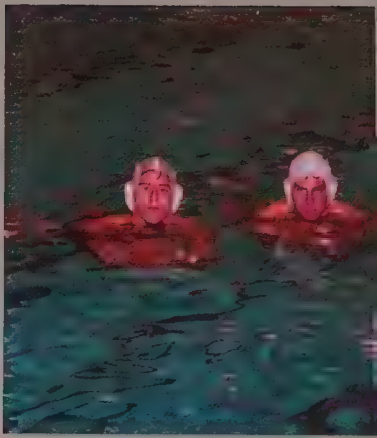
Courage, Desire, incredible talent, and hard work are just the foundation of the strength and dedication found on the Navy Woman's Cross Country team. Coach Karen Boyle guided the women to another victorious season. Led by seniors Erin O'Marr and Jolene Vanyo, the ladies won their two opening home meets, placed competitively in several invitationals, and placed seventh out of 31 teams at the NCAA District Championships.

Junior Melissa Foon was on fire posting an undefeated in-league season and a 26th place finish in the NCAA District meet with a time of 18:09. Just a few steps behind, Junior Sandra Smith and Freshman Lisa Procaccini were the heartbeat of the team's scoring.

Speed plus endurance equaled success for these women. Known as the hill-annihilators, the young team looks strong in the coming years as five of the top seven runners will return. Melissa Foon and Sandra Smith leading the pack, look for Melanie Stock, Lisa Procacinni, Maureen Carr, and Jen Day next year as strong contributors.

The bonds we've formed throughout the years, will last a life time. Thanks for the memories and good luck next year!!! Add up all those stars —EEO



The Navy Water Polo team ended the season with a 19-13 record and No. 18 in the final NCAA top 20 poll. The Navy offense was led by 1/C Jason Pace who tallied a team-high 45 goals to lead the attack. Pace was the lone Midshipmen named all-CWPA (Collegiate Water Polo Association) Southern Division for his efforts. In addition, Pace was named to the all-CWPA East team, continuing a seven year span in which at least one Midshipmen has been named to this list. The other Mids to be honored by the CWPA and named to the second team are 2/C Sean Foster, who before injuring his finger on the team's trip to California had tallied 18 goals and 18 assists. Joining Foster on the second team is 3/C Barry Shaw. The Johannesburg, South Africa native has also scored 18 goals and is second the team in assists with 34. Navy wrapped up the season with a 9-5 victory over Massachusetts, who qualified for the NCAA Championships. The contest is an early indicator of signs to come as the Midshipmen played without the services of 1/C, Andrew Ceniseroz, Pace and captain Drew Corey.

Though Navy¹s 1999-2000 season came to a disappointing end with an 87-61 loss to Lafayette at the Patriot League Championship, it was not indicative of how the Mids' season was played out. Despite losing its first-three games of the season, the Midshipmen came back to win 23 of their last 26 games which included 13-consecutive wins spanning from Jan. 23 to March 5. The Mids also grabbed a share of the Patriot League regular-season title with its 11-1 record. In route to the league¹s No. 1 seed, Navy defeated Bucknell on the road for just the second time in 12 games and with its 81-49 win over Holy Cross on the road, the Mids began a winning barrage that would not be stopped until the Patriot League Championship. Along the way, there were several individual highlights which included eighth-year head coach Don DeVoe garnering Patriot League Coach-of-the-Year recognition after leading the Mids to the most victories since 1986-87. The 23 wins also marked the most single-season triumphs had by DeVoe in his collegiate career. Meanwhile, Navy eclipsed the 20-win mark for the second-consecutive season and the third time in the last four years.

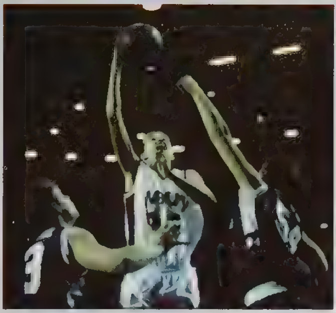
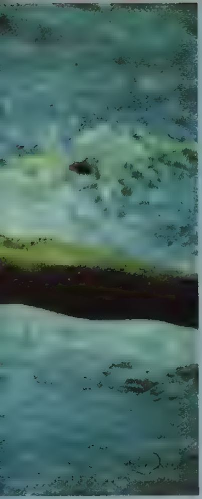
BASKETBALL



My mother, (Carole), always told me that through adversity, we grow! I must say that these young ladies' "never quit" attitude was truly amazing throughout the entire season. Their will to win, will to learn, and will to sacrifice was unlike any other team I have ever been apart of. You see, not only are we varsity athletes at a military institution, but we are basketball players. Any Collegiate basketball player can tell you that the time spent with their team exceeds the word enormous. We sacrifice our weeknights, weekends, holidays, quality time with our friends and family to represent our school and our service. From August to March we practiced and played daily giving up numerous hours to our program. In doing all of this our basketball team grew together as one. We were 15 sisters who sweated together, won together, lost together, laughed together (boy, did we laugh), learned together, and cried together. We were a genuine group of young ladies who truly cared for one another. When one of us got hurt or injured, all of us felt the pain. When one of us scored or broke a record, we all celebrated as if we had just scored or broken a record. That is what was so special and amazing about this team....our UNITY! Without our unity, we would have gotten nowhere. The unselfishness, dedication, and love for the game was overwhelming and for this I applaud my team mates. Thank you girls, for NEVE giving up and striving to learn and grow daily as individuals and as a team! --ELH #30

Men's Swimming

Men's swimming had a powerful year bringing back all but three competitors from last years' team and adding the class of '03. The 200 yd free relay and the 400 yd free relay consisting of Brian Glaser, Brad Geary, Clint Cornell, and Brett Cline crushed school records in both and placed top 24 in the nation in both as well. Navy not only had an impressive season against the IVY League in the EISL Champs, but we also beat ARMY for the ninth year in a row. The team is losing a lot with the departure of 2000 but 2001 had strong leadership and with good recruiting for '04, be looking for more damage from NAVY. Some of the returning assets are Cornell, Oliver, Litchfield, Cline, Muller, Ray, Rollins, Battista and others. There are no weak links in the swimming program and every man deserves to be recognized. Good job this year men! Keep it up!



Women's Swimming

All in all, it was another exciting year for Navy Women's Swimming full of— yes, hard work— but also tons of fun. The 2000-01 season will be lead by 1/C Erin Emery and promises to be another outstanding year of Navy Swimming.

Good Luck Ladies and Beat Army!-KEW

It was quite a year for Navy Women's Swimming. The '99-'00 season consisted of hard work and many long hours in Lejeune which led to many individual as well as team successes. The Navy women returned in August seeking their 11th victory in a row over Army. After months of training and a few dual meets in between, the Navy Women accomplished their goal with an exciting 4 point victory over the Mules. The team was lead by team captain, Kelly Welsh, as well as other members of the class of 2000 including Molly Salness, Courtney Minetree, Adrien Thom, and diver, Liz Peterson. Not only did Navy capture many individual first place finishes but there were also a number of school and pool records broken. 2/C Erin Emery dominated the 100m and 200m freestyle events while at the same while taking a few names off the pool record board in Lejeune and replacing them with her own. 3/C Melissa Hawley also captured first place and a record in the 200m individual medley.

The Navy Women brought in the new millenium in Fort Lauderdale, Florida at the Ronnie Dee's on their annual Christmas training trip. After a week of hard training, trips to the beach and a blue and gold competition they were headed back to A-town for a few more dual meets before they entered their championship season. In February the women headed to West Point for the Patriot League Championships where they finished a close second to Lehigh. 1/C Molly Salness, 2/C Erin Emery and 3/C Melissa Hawley captured individual titles and 1/C Liz Peterson was named diver of the meet. The women closed their season in Sewell, NJ at the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference finishing a respectable fifth place overall and ahead of Army for the third time this season.

Four new plebes joined the team this year, MIDN 4/C Megan Barnett and Sam Bodling for the women and [illegible] Gon and Peter Kim for the men. 4/C Barnett dove successfully during her first season at Navy. Her top score on the 1m was 255.07, which allowed her to compete at Navy in the Zone Competition on March 9-11. She also placed 2nd on both the 1m and 3m competitions behind her teammate at the Patriot League Championships. She scored points for the team at every meet and won an N star for her performance at the Army/Navy meet held on Dec 2, 1999. 4/C Gon had a successful first season on the team. He won his first N star and qualified for the Zone Championships. His favorite part of the season was the team. "I was lucky to be on a team with such great people." 4/C Kim scored points for Navy at several meets. He placed 15th on 1 meter and 17 on 3 meter at Easterns. 3/C Reshetar and 3/C Harrison dove in home and away meets. 3/C Reshetar won her second N star. 2/C Jon Schiffelbein was the strongest diver on the male team placing 3rd on 3m at Easterns. The highlight of his year was qualifying for the NCAA competition and being chosen as EISL diver of the week. 1/C Roy Shoesmith was the senior member of the men's team. He dove on the team all four years and currently holds the record for being kicked out of practice the most times. 1/C Peterson finished up her diving career at Navy with another two wins at the Patriot League Championships and was named Diver of the Meet for the second year in a row. During the 1999-2000 season she got a personal record on the 1m with 260 points and won her fourth N star. She also was ECAC diver of the week on two occasions and placed 7th on the 1m. at ECAC's. With the success of each member of the team came friendship, comrade and a coach who can't drive. There were some good injuries too. 4/C Barnett's face plant into to bottom of the pool at the Patriot League Championships, and 4/C Gon did a perfect belly flop from the 10m, which left bruises from head to toe along with a concussion for several weeks. With the bangs and bruises came a chance to show competitiveness and team unity because only they know what it really feels like to take a big smack!

Navy Men's Gymnastics 2000, (NMG 2000) was an extremely long, challenging, and rewarding season. To the team's advantage, they returned with the entire team from the previous year and five new plebes. Picking up where they left off last season, the guys went through rigorous off-season training in the fall. Unfortunately [illegible] seniors were lost from the roster due to injuries and [illegible] Down to ten determined gymnasts, the team continued to train hard despite these shortcomings.

[illegible] the West Point Open, the team went on [illegible] dual-meet, finishing [illegible]. One of the [illegible] 214.1-211.7 defeat over Army in the N-star Competition. This win was sweet revenge over Army who edged out Navy last year by mere tenths. In addition, NMG participated in the first All-Academy Championship at host Air Force Academy. The guys finished 2nd to Air Force but revenge would be had...In the ECAC Championship, Navy finished fourth out of ten teams, falling short to two teams which they had defeated earlier in the year. Disappointed, the team was determined to go hard into the post season.

Four guys qualified for the NCAA Championship qualifying meet, youngsters Dan Finnegan (ALL-Around), Tripp Glasgow (parallel bars and pommel horse), Andy Helchinger (vault), and and freshman Joe Brading (floor). The last meet of the season was at the USA Gymnastics Collegiate National Championships in Phoenix, AZ. Depite an injury which took senior Ken [illegible]ko out of the meet, the team pulled together to win the meet with a 217.35. This feat included an amazing 6 for 6 showing on high bar by the classes of '02 and '03, bridging the team's leadership for the next [illegible]. Gymnasts earning All-American status from the meet were Dan Finnegan (all-around, [illegible], high bar), Tripp Glasgow, ([illegible], high bar), Andy Helchinger (vault) and Joe Brading (floor and parallel bars). The team's three seniors, Dan Levy, Ken [illegible], and Ben Gompf, dubbed "The Survivors", were extremely proud of the team and its growth over the last two years. Senior [illegible] Dan Levy summed up the year: "We came in [illegible]zing our potential, and had to end it out on a high note. I'm gonna miss this sport, but I'm gonna miss this team the most." With the continued guidance by coaches Dr. Sal [illegible] and ENS Craig [illegible], NMG 2001 will undoubtedly be a force to be reckoned with.

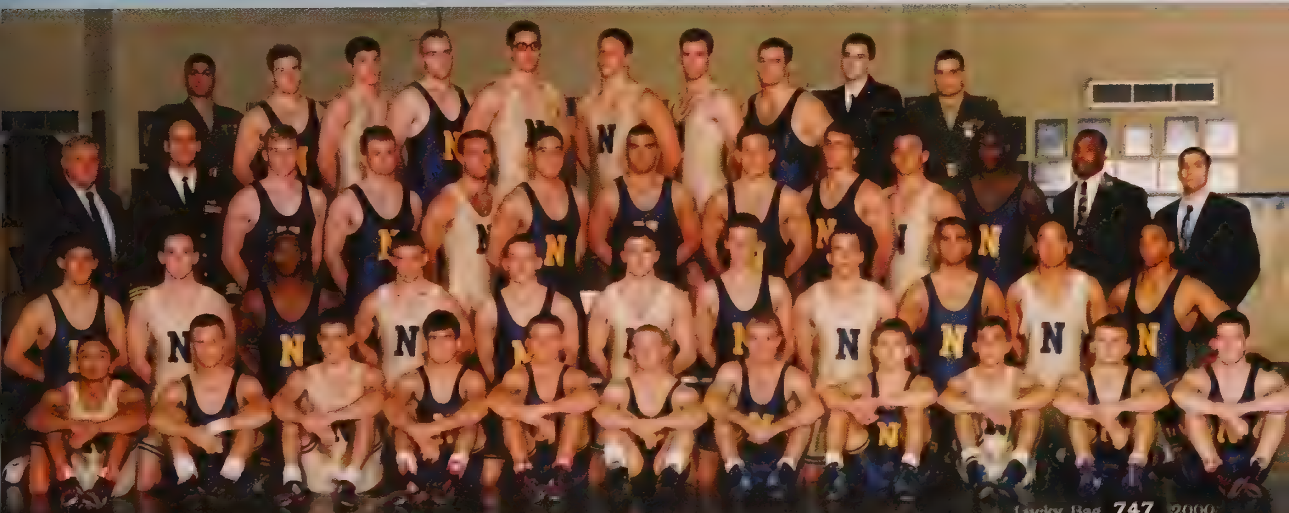
Thirteenth-year Navy head coach Reg Wicks guided the Mids to a successful 1999-2000 wrestling season which led firstie captain Justin Woodruff (197 pounds) back to the NCAA Tournament for the second-consecutive year. Navy posted a 10-3-1 dual meet record which included victories over Maryland, Virginia, James Madison, Duke and North Carolina State. The coveted Army-Navy dual came down to the final match and ended in a 16-16 tie, just the fifth tie in the history of the competition. And for the first time since 1994, Navy was the host institution for the EIWA Championship March 3-4. Woodruff was Navy's lone qualifier for the championship match, but came up just short of defeating Cornell's Corey Anderson, 1-0. Meanwhile, MIDN 1/C Zane Stickel capped off a fine season with a 4-2 win to place fifth at 133 pounds, while second-class Mark Conley finished fourth with a 4-2 loss in his match against Penn's Jody Giuricich at 141 pounds. Woodruff, meanwhile, earned a trip back to the NCAA Tournament by way of his second-place finish at the EIWA Championship. He concluded his career with a 33-10 mark, after losing his opening-round matchup against seventh-seeded Nick Preston of Ohio State, 10-6. In the first round of wrestle-backs, he stayed alive with a 14-5 major decision over Cal State Fullerton's Babek Nejadmoghaddam. He then lost to James Madison's Elliot Williams, 12-9, to conclude his career.



NAVY SQUASH

Navy Squash finished the 1999-2000 season with a #12 intercollegiate national ranking. Entering the National tournament in late February ranked at #14, Navy immediately took down the #11 Colby team, 5-4. Over the winter, Navy eagerly faced a brutal regular season schedule, squaring off with 6 of the top 10 teams in the NISRA rankings. Big wins for the Navy Squash team this season included 4 wins over top 20 teams, including a simply electrifying 5-4 upset over Penn at the Bancroft courts. The team captain, Drew "Hawk" Cook, a three-year letter winner, and four-year letter winner Peter "PP" Liebert provided excellent senior leadership. Cook played at the #1 position for the majority of the season, when a hand injury allowed Liebert and others to fill in the gaps at the top for Navy's final three regular season matches. Cook recovered in time for Nationals, where he went undefeated in all three matches in a classic display of tenacity and selflessness. Navy was also carried this season by the strong play and winning records of Stephen "Gary" Huber ('02), Clint "Eastwood" Lawler, and Jamie "Grandma" Peace ('01). The team will look to these players, as well as the golden hands of Andrew "Hugh" Crawford, Brian "Wookie" Ko ('01), and Andrew "Ace" McCann ('02) for a chance at a top 10

Navy Squash has been a contender among the top teams in the nation for its entire 51-year history. Since 1949, Navy Squash has won 5 national championships and produced 26 All Americans. To keep up with the National Intercollegiate Squash Racquets Association's conversion from hardball to softball squash, Navy has installed 6 new state of the art international regulation softball courts in the 4th wing basement. Navy has also taken on new leadership for the '00-'01 season. After two years of fine leadership from squash professional Damian Walker, the reins have been handed over to former All-American Craig Dawson. Dawson earned All-American honors, while team captain, in 1973.

Coupled with a new coach and last years returning veterans, Navy Rifle christened its new range with many successes. Early in the season, Navy set the tone for the year in defeating national powerhouse West Virginia University at their home range. The team carried this momentum throughout the rest of the year capturing the Mid-Atlantic Conference Championship and another undefeated season.

Led by senior team captain Jon Iadonisi and senior Josh Kelley, Navy Rifle benefited from the experience and leadership of these returning All-Americans. All-Americans George Adams, Tran Lam, Luke Shank, and Bill Tolson provided the necessary depth of experience and determination to carry the team into newfound glory. Navy's depth was also magnified by the returning experience of Scott Culick, Walter Warren, Dave Bachta, and Matt Walters. Navy's lone [illegible], James Kauber demonstrated strong potential and gained valuable experience that will surely make him a future asset to the team. Freshman Paul Camp demonstrated proficiency in the sport and continued to improve his skills throughout the season. Navy's successes were not limited to their conference schedule as they set a new Army-Navy record and a new team aggregate record. In addition to placing 5th at NCAA's, Navy Rifle also earned four new All-American honors, bringing the team's total to six All-American members. Team members Jon Iadonisi, Josh Kelley, George Adams, Tran Lam, and Luke Shank were invited to compete in the 2000 Olympic Trials, demonstrating that Navy Rifle will continue to be a nationally dominant force for years to come. Next year's team will once again be aiming for the National Championship with four returning All-Americans and the potential for several more.

The 2000 Navy Lacrosse Team missed a return trip to the NCAA Tournament by one goal. That one goal could have come in one of three games which Navy lost by one goal, two in overtime. This year marked Coach Richie Meade'sixth season as Navy's Head Coach. He led the Lacrosse team to their best record since 1987 with a 9 - 4 record. Navy ended the season with an inspirational win over Army and ranked tenth in the nation. The team was anchored by two-time First Team All-American 1/C Mickey Jarboe who also garnered the Kelly Award, for the top Goal-Keeper in the nation, for the second straight year. By the end of his four years, starting every game of his career, Jarboe accumulated 701 saves, destroying Navy's old save record of 521, and assuring Jarboe a place in Navy's Hall of Fame. He was the first person to earn First-Team honors since 1989 and in the 2000 season he was second in the nation in save percentage. Navy's defense was ranked number one in the nation allowing only an average of six goals against. It's defense was led by three-time All-American 1/C Chad Donnelly who has started since his freshman year. 2/C Hawkins will have tough shoes to fill next year stepping in to anchor Navy's defense. At midfield, the Midshipmen saw another All-American performance in 2/C Adam Borcz who was ranked second on the team in points with 22 goals and 6 assists. 3/C Eddie McKinnon lead Navy's offense with 42 points, 24 goals and 18 assists. One of Navy's unsung heroes was 1/C Jay James who was ranked 19th in the nation in face-off percentage with an average of 57.5%. The Air Force game proved to be an emotional game with the comeback of Navy's Captain Jon Brianas from his battle with cancer. Jon was sourly missed but he made his presence known when in the fourth quarter he scored his first goal of the season, a season that many said that he would not play in. It was his leadership and the leadership of fellow seniors, Brett Duthie, Perry Taylor, Andy Beal, Chris Roesgen, Jamie Doffermyre, Brian Blaney, Dominick Floyd, Bart Orr, Chad Donnelly, Jay James and Mickey Jarboe that led the 93rd Navy Lacrosse Team to a winning season and set the standard for future Navy Lacrosse Teams.

GOLF

The 1999/2000 season was a tremendous success for the Navy Golf Team. Coach Pat Owen proved why he has been voted Patriot League Coach of the Year in 1994, 96, 98, and 99 by leading his team successfully through another year of championship golf. Behind the leadership of Team Captain 1/C Stu Usry, a native of Alpharetta, GA, the team set three goals for itself at the beginning of the fall season: Beat Army, successfully defend their Conference Championship, and return for the second time in three seasons to the NCAA Championships. In October, they routed Army, winning by 26 strokes. In April, they successfully defended their title as Patriot League Champions, coming from 15 strokes behind on the final day to retain the title. In addition, Navy retained the individual Conference Champion for the third consecutive year as 3/c Joel Almquist, a native of San Diego, CA, posted a 3 shot victory with rounds of 68, 77, 73. Last year's Conference Champion, 1/c Pete Lauder and All-Patriot League selectee 1/c Stu Usry also contributed to the victory, as did 1/c Ryan Dranginis, who was voted to the All-Patriot Leauge Team for the third time in his four years. 3/c Drew Craig and 3/c Marty Keogh also contributed heavily in the narrow victory. The third leg of the team's goal was met in May as they competed against the top teams in the country at the NCAA Championships. In addition to the Army victory (the teams third in the past four seasons), another highlight of the fall season included a second place finish at the Georgetown Invitational where the team tied a school record by shooting a 289 (One Day, Four Score) in the final round of the tournament. This included a one-under par 71 by 3/c Drew Craig, a 72 by 3/c Joel Almquist and 1/c Pete Lauder, and a 73 by 1/c Stu Usry. 1/c Ryan Dranginis recorded his first college victory in the spring season at Navy's home tournament, firing a 72 in the weather-shortened Spring Invitational. Coach Pat Owen continues to build a solid golf program at the Academy. While he will lose three seniors who were each four-year starters, there will be no trouble filling the void with the team's current depth. 2/c "James T." Kirk Glockner will step in as the leader of the team and continued improvement will be expected from 3/c Marty "Machine" Keogh and 3/c Drew "Zog" Craig, while 3/c Joel Almquist will seek to maintain his high level of play (holds the lowest scoring average on the team for the year). Also, promise has been shown by 4/c Brian "Boitano" Crum and 4/c Nick Rogers.

For the men's outdoor track and field season, the Midshipmen were a perfect 6-0 in dual meets, including a 108-95 defeat over rival, Army. The season culminated with MIDN 1/C Torrance Chaplin competing in the 400-meter dash at the 2000 NCAA Track and Field Championship in Durham, N.C. He qualified for the NCAA's with a time of 45.68 that allowed him to accomplish another personal goal - the 2000 U.S. Olympic Trials, July 1-2 in Sacramento, California. Just missing out on qualifying for the NCAA's was MIDN 2/C Jonathan Hayes, in the 3,000-meter steeplechase who crossed the in 8:50.34 at the Penn Relays. At the Heptagonal Championship, Chaplin won both the 200-meter dash (21.02) and 400-meter dash (46.27) to lead the Midshipmen to a third-place team finish. He was also a member of the 4x100-meter relay that finished second in a time of 41.68. With his two victories, Chaplin was named Athlete of the Meet. MIDN 2/C Senior Eric Adams led the contingent of four Navy finalists in the 1,500-meter run, finishing second in 3:52.12. MIDN 1/C Rory Caherly finished second in the hammer throw with a toss of 192-0 and in the pole vault, MIDN 3/C Bob Koroly took third (16-2 3/4). Second class Josh Stewart took third in the triple jump with a leap of 49-11 3/4. Other top finishers for Navy were a pair of MIDN 2/C Brad Schwenzer, who finished third in the high jump (6-7 1/2) and Martin Anders was fourth in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles (52.82). The Midshipmen also finished 15th at the outdoor IC4A track and field championship. Navy got three fourth-place performances, Chaplin in the 400-meter dash (46.56), Adams in the 1,500-meter run (3:46.15) and the 4x800-meter relay who crossed the line in 7:30.48. In addition to his athletic success, Adams was selected to the GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-District II Spring At-Large First Team.

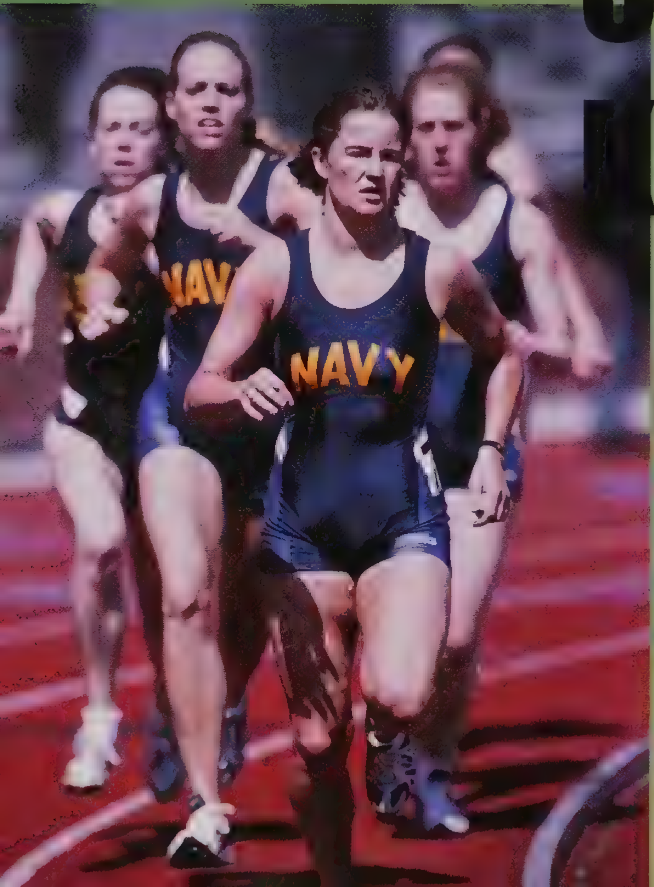
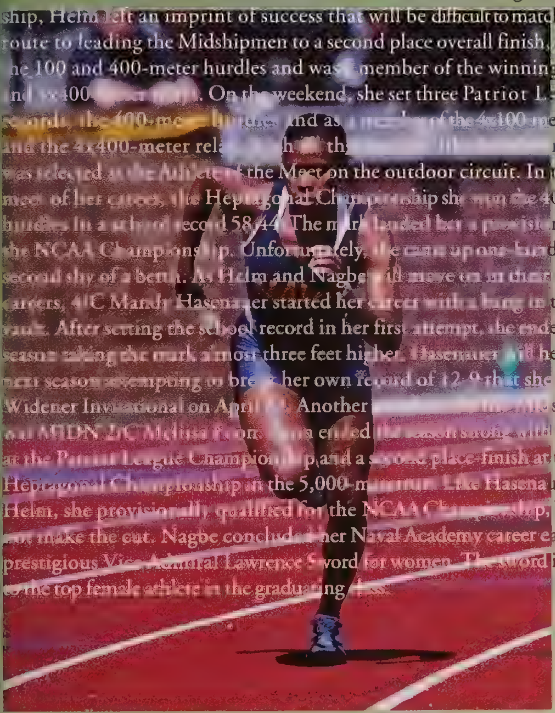
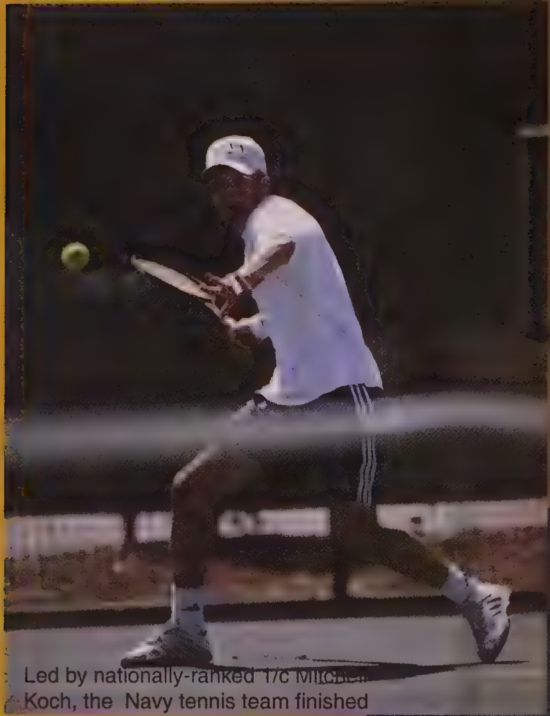
WOMEN'S TRACK

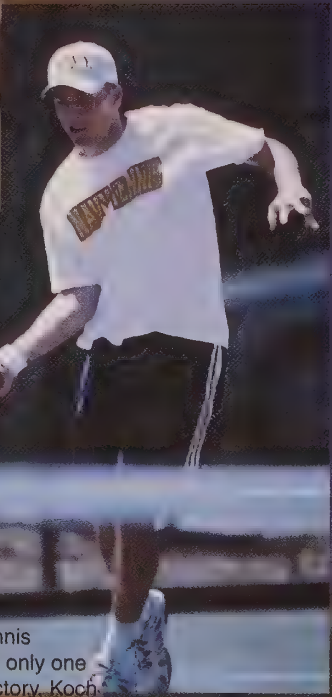


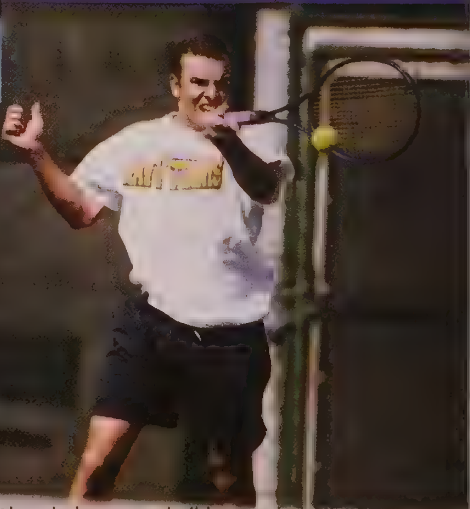
The Navy women's outdoor track and field team posted a 5-0 overall record while setting 10 new records. Like the indoor season, the midshipmen turned in one of their finest performances on the season versus rival, Army. In the meet, Navy dominated the Cadets by winning 15 of the 19 events by a margin of 118-85. A crucial part of the success was captains, Joanna Helm and Chantelle Nagbe. Nagbe, a sprinter and jumper, established new marks in the 100 and 200-meter dash, and the long jump in the season opener. In return for her efforts, she was one of three Navy honorees during the season named ECAC athlete of the week. She also continued her career-long domination over Army, sweeping four events (100-meter dash, 200-meter dash, long jump and triple jump). Nagbe concludes her career with an unprecedented 36-0 individual record against Army. Helm enjoyed a fine spring season in which she set new marks in the 100 and 400-meter hurdles. She also was an integral part of two record setting relays, the 4x100 and 4x400-meters, respectively. At the historic, Penn Relays she finished sixth in the 400-meter hurdles (59.28). At the Patriot League Championship, Helm left an imprint of success that will be difficult to match. En route to leading the Midshipmen to a second place overall finish, she won the 100 and 400-meter hurdles and was a member of the winning 4x100 and 4x400 [illegible]. On the weekend, she set three Patriot League records, the 400-meter hurdles and as a member of the 4x100 meter relay and the 4x400-meter relay. [illegible] meet, she was selected as the Athlete of the Meet on the outdoor circuit. In the final meet of her career, the Heptagonal Championship she won the 400-meter hurdles in a school record 58.44. The mark landed her a provisional spot in the NCAA Championship. Unfortunately, she came up one-hundredth of a second shy of a berth. As Helm and Nagbe will move on in their Naval careers, 4/C Mandy Hasenauer started her career with a bang in the pole vault. After setting the school record in her first attempt, she ended the season taking the mark almost three feet higher. Hasenauer will head into next season attempting to break her own record of 12-9 that she set at the Widener Invitational on April [illegible]. Another [illegible] Midshipmen was MIDN 2/C Melissa [illegible] ended the season strong with a victory at the Patriot League Championship and a second place finish at the Heptagonal Championship in the 5,000-meter run. Like Hasenauer and Helm, she provisionally qualified for the NCAA Championship, but she did not make the cut. Nagbe concludes her Naval Academy career earning the prestigious Vice Admiral Lawrence Sword for women. The sword is awarded to the top female athlete in the graduating class.





MEN'S





Led by nationally-ranked 1/c Mitchell Koch, the Navy tennis team finished its season with an 18-11 record and advanced to the championship matc of the Patriot League Tournament fo thesixth-straight season. Navy had a successful fall campaign, winning tw out of three matches at the Navy Invitational, defeating Yale for the firs time since 1991 at the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Invitational, and winning three titles at the Patriot League Fall Invitational Championships. Individually, Koch won the No. 1 singles titles and teamed with 1/c Jim McHugh to win the No. 1 doubles title at the Patriot League Invite. Koch also became the first Midshipmen to win the singles title at the Intercollegiate Tennis Association Fall Regional Championship. Koch dropped only one set in his seven matches at the tournament. With the victory, Koch became the first Navy player to qualify for the Rolex National Indoor Championships. McHugh almost joined Koch at the national tournament, as the doubles tandem reached the semifinal round of the ITA Fall Championship. The Midshipmen opened the spring season with victories in their first four matches, as well as seven of their first nine. One of the losses was a 3-2 decision to nationally-ranked Old Dominion, which Navy followed with a 3-2 win over nationally-ranked East Tennessee State. Later in the season, Navy pulled off a 4-3 win over a Virginia Tech squad that also was ranked. Navy closed the regular in a similar fashion to how they started. The Mids won their final six matches by a total score of 48-1. It was then on to West Point, N.Y., for the Patriot League Championships. The No. 2 seed Midshipmen defeated Holy Cross in the quarterfinals and Colgate in the semifinals by respective scores of 4-0 and 4-1. In the title match, Navy lost a 4-2 decision to the host Cadets. Three Midshipmen were named All-Patriot League this season. Koch became the first player in league history to be named all-league in both singles and doubles in each of his four seasons. McHugh and 1/c Joe McCauley joined Koch on the all-league singles squad, while the duo of Koch and McHugh were named all-league in doubles. McHugh finished his season with an 18-[illegible] spring record in singles and posted a [illegible] doubles record with Koch. McCauley was 15-12 in singles on the year. Team captain 1/c Spencer Wilcox had a 9-4 singles record this spring, and finished his final campaign with a 19-7 doubles record alongside partner 2/c Grant Carcna. Koch ended his final season with a 19-7 record while playing No. 1 singles all year, and he received an at-large berth into the NCAA Tournament.

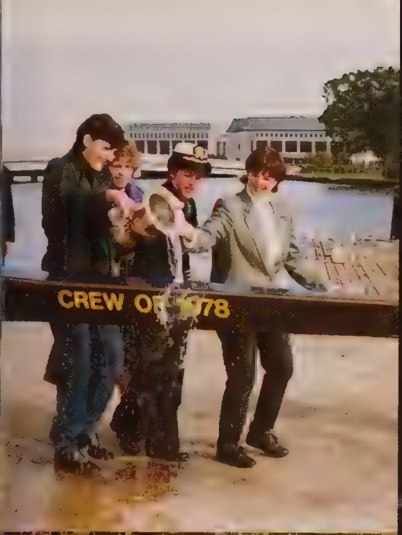
Men's Heavyweight Crew

The Navy heavyweight crew ended the season with a 2-3 overall record. The varsity eight ended its season, finishing tenth at the IRA Regatta, the collegiate rowing national championship. Navy was fourth in the petite final in a time of 5:53.89. The finish by the Midshipmen is their best since 1998 when they finished second overall. At the Eastern Association of Rowing Colleges (EARC) Sprints, the Midshipmen were 11th out of 14 teams. In other races, the Midshipmen won the Goes Cup in their annual race against Syracuse and Cornell. Navy crossed the line in [illegible], followed by Cornell in 6:08.4 and host Syracuse placed third in 6:13.7 to allow the Midshipmen to capture the Goes Cup. In addition, the Midshipmen returned to Annapolis with the Stagg Trophy. It was the first time Navy won the trophy since 1990.

WO/MEN'S



WET AND RAW 2000

The 1999 - 2000 season for the Women's Crew Team ended up to be a large step towards our goal: to be the first women's team at USNA to receive a bid to the NCAA's. Seniors Kristen Parrinello, Jen Becht, Anne MacGillis, and Bernadette Pine, led the team to on a tough journey through the most difficult racing season in NWC existence.The fall season schedule was the regular line up with the Head Fix, Tanya Hayden, and Audrey Wagner took the win by a half a boat length at the BU/GW race over Boston. The novice four of Katie Dow, Jordan Samar, Alexandra Myers, Rebecca Smith, and Dora Branyan pummeled Columbia on the Charles river by over two boat lengths.

Even with the false alarm of the hurricane and the previous race weather of being consistently cold, rainy, windy, and choppy, the Notre Dame race proved to be a overall outstanding success for the ladies as they smashed the visiting team on the Navy home course. The wind died and the waters calmed as the varsity eight, the second varsity eight, the varsity four, and the novice eight all took victories crossing the Hospital Point finish line.

The first varsity of Blythe Oraker, Jen Becht, Claire Coffey, Anne Gibbon, Beth Dixon, Sarah Woodman, Kristen Parrinello, Kelly Haney, and Anne MacGillis traveled to Seattle, Washington to compete in the televised opening day ceremony Windermere Cup. The race was the most exciting race for the crew as they came in second place over the Egyptian National Team

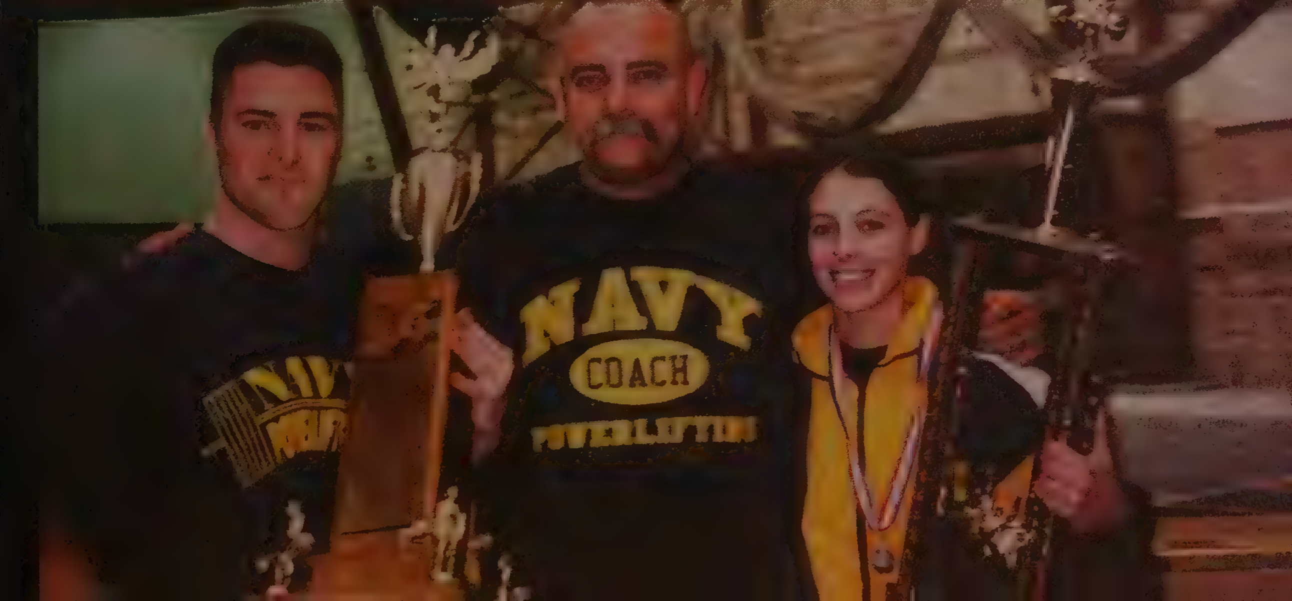
POWER LIFTING

Led by team captains Eugene Burrell and Barbara Lubkin, the Navy Powerlifting Team completed a successful 2000 season. In the Fall, Navy continued its reign as Tri-Service Academy Champions. Lifters continued to train through the Dark Ages under coach Spero Tshontikidas to qualify for the National Collegiate Championship.

At the USAPL Collegiate National Powerlifting Championships. The Combined (5 Men / 5 Women) & Women's Teams finished second behind perennial powerhouse Louisiana Tech; the Men's Team placed fourth. Midn 1/C Eugene Burrell and Midn 3/C Julia Loya successfully defended their Collegiate National Titles in the 181 & 165 lb. classes, respectively. Midn 3/C Julia Loya set 6 new National Records: Collegiate and Teenage National records in the Squat (401.5 lbs.), Deadlift (390.5 lbs.), and Total (990 lbs.)

Navy is in Contention to win Nationals next year with a strong returning team: All Americans 1/C Amanda Kammeter, 1/C Ben Bownas, 2/C Nicole Paul, 2/C Lori Bentzel, and 2 time national champion & IPF world qualifier 2/C Julia Loya.



MENS VOLLEYBALL

The 1999-2000 United States Naval Academy's Men's Volleyball team had one of its most successful years in its short club history. They finished ninth in the nation with an overall record of 24 and 13. The Midshipmen clinched the Centennial Conference Championship for the 6th straight year. Going into the National Championship Tournament, the MIDS were ranked 24th in the nation. In a playoff match they defeated NC State (Ranked 12th in the nation going into the tournament). In the Gold Division Playoff Navy upset Virginia Tech(9th going into the tournament). Navy's season was cut short by Arizona (the defending national champs, who went on to win the crown again). The 2001 team will be returning all but two starters and should have another strong year.

Navy was led by several veterans. The captain for 1999-2000 was Donald "Tre" Costello III. Costello was a four year lettermen who finished his career playing opposite. Aaron Running was the co-captain and a three year lettermen. Running led Navy in digs during the 2000 season. The real backbone of this year's team was the class of 2001. MIDN 2/C Patrick O'Reilly led the team in kills and provided a stable serve receive. The setting duties were provided by MIDN 2/C Brett Lawrence. MIDN 2/C Ryan Kendall came back from shoulder surgery, and was a force at the national tournament in the middle. The class of 2002 provided two key players. MIDN 3/C Robert Niemeyer filled the second middle position, and MIDN 3/C David Crescitelli moved from back-up setter during his plebe year, to starting outside hitter during the 2000 season. The lettermen were rounded out by: MIDN 1/C Cory Gassaway, MIDN 2/C Edmond Rexha, MIDN 3/C Nicholas Veasey, and MIDN 4/C Christopher Longabaugh.

ARMS

The Navy combat Arms team is a small, elite team of shooters whospecialize in combative and tactical shooting. Team members are required to excel in all areas including academics, shooting ability, military performance, physical fitness and then have to endure a grueling try out and the infamous Combat Arms Interview. The team is coached by LT Kapusta (USN SEAL). Team members also receive training from various Marine, Army Delta Force, FBI, and Police shooters. This year Navy's team is headed by 1/C Matt Vernon and returning members 1/C Tom Hoyt, 1/C Craig Gabriellini, 1/C Shaun Lieb, 1/C Tim "shooter" McGeehan, 2/C Chris Lenhart, 2/C Jon Macaskill, and 2/C Chris Kerns. New team members include 1/C John Lunsford, 2/C Adam Weiner, 2/C Darren Bess, 2/C Clayton Hergert, 3/C Gus Haik, and 3/C Eric Jewell.

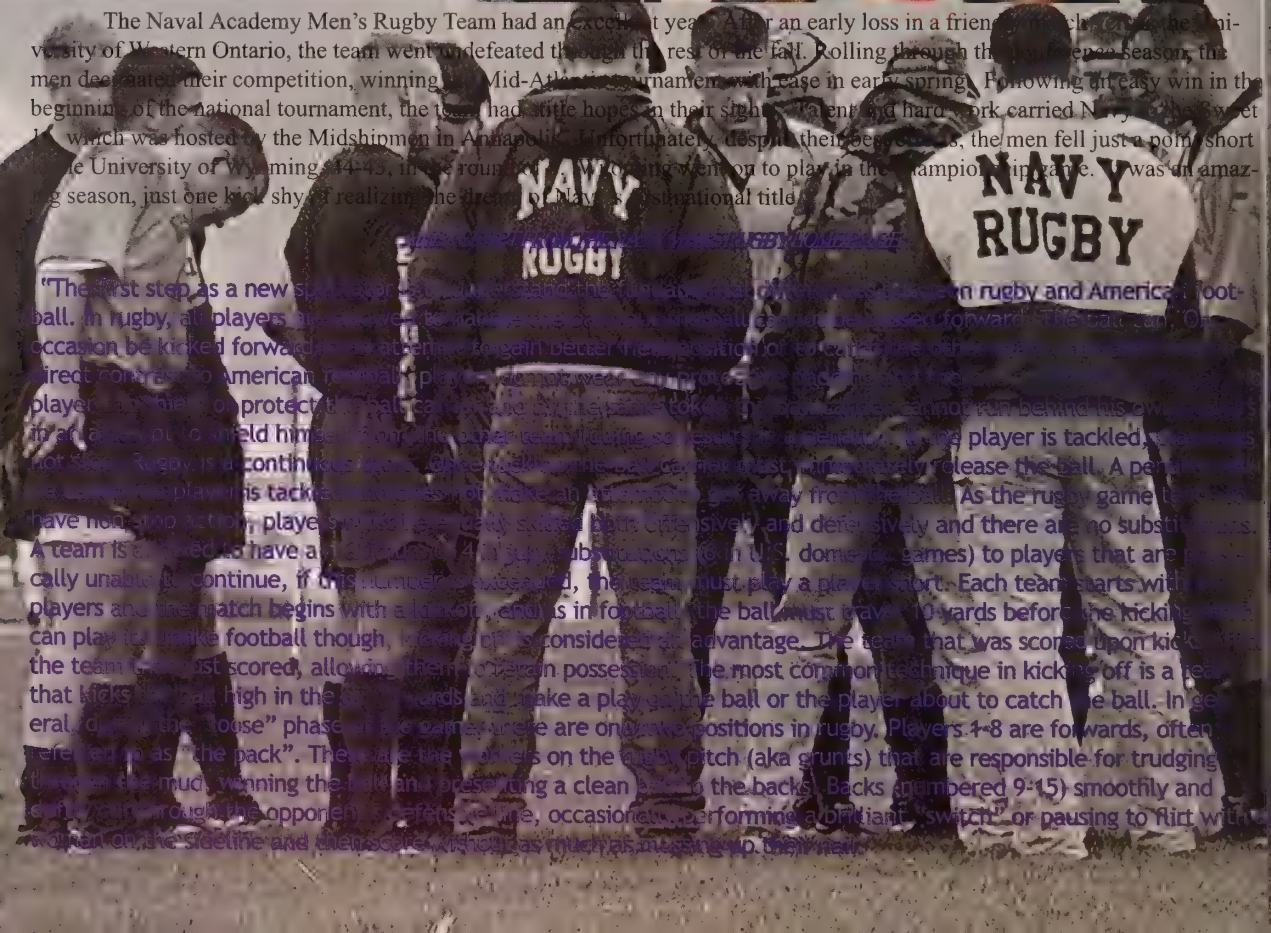
HOCKEY



The Naval Academy Men's Rugby Team had an excellent year. After an early loss in a friendly match against the University of Western Ontario, the team went undefeated through the rest of the fall. Rolling through the conference season, the men decimated their competition, winning the Mid-Atlantic tournament with ease in early spring. Following an easy win in the beginning of the national tournament, the team had title hopes in their sights. Talent and hard work carried Navy to the Sweet 16, which was hosted by the Midshipmen in Annapolis. Unfortunately, despite their best efforts, the men fell just a point short to the University of Wyoming 44-43, in the round [illegible] Wyoming went on to play in the championship game. It was an amazing season, just one kick shy of realizing the dream of Navy's first national title.

[illegible] FROM THE NAV[illegible] RUGBY HOMEPAGE

"The first step as a new spectator is to understand the [illegible] differences between rugby and American football. In rugby, all players [illegible] the ball cannot be passed forward. The ball can, on occasion be kicked forward in an attempt to gain better field position [illegible]. In direct contrast to American football, players do not wear any protective [illegible] players [illegible] to protect the ball carrier and by the same token [illegible] cannot run behind his own [illegible] in an attempt to shield himself from the other team (doing so results in a penalty). [illegible] the player is tackled, [illegible] not stop. Rugby is a continuous [illegible]. Once tackled, the ball carrier must immediately release the ball. A pen[illegible] player is tackled [illegible] or take an attempt to get away from the ball. As the rugby game te[illegible] have non-stop action, players [illegible] skilled both offensively and defensively and there are no substi[illegible]. A team is allowed to have a [illegible] 4 injury substitutions (6 in U.S. domestic games) to players that are [illegible]cally unable to continue, if this number is exceeded, the team must play a player short. Each team starts with [illegible] players and the match begins with a kickoff, and as in football, the ball must travel 10-yards before the kicking [illegible] can play it. [illegible] football though, kicking off is considered an advantage. The team that was scored upon kick[illegible] the team that just scored, allowing them to regain possession. The most common technique in kicking off is a tea[illegible] that kicks the ball high in the [illegible]wards and make a play on the ball or the player about to catch the ball. In general, during the "loose" phase of the game there are only two positions in rugby. Players 1-8 are forwards, often referred to as "the pack". These are the workers on the rugby pitch (aka grunts) that are responsible for trudging through the mud, winning the ball and presenting a clean ball to the backs. Backs (numbered 9-15) smoothly and [illegible] through the opponent's defensive line, occasionally performing a brilliant "switch" or pausing to flirt with a woman on the sideline and then score without as much as mussing up their hair."

Although it was four years ago that we lined up along the bulkhead for Blue and Gold on that first night in our home away from home, the words of our Detailers still echo in our ears, "Look at the person on your left. Now look at the person to your right. Now look at the person in front of you. Four years from now one of you will not be here." How right they were. 1212 of us set out for a victory like no other. Just as the entire Brigade yearns for the Victory over Army, we each wanted nothing else but to toss our covers into the air on 24 May 2000. However, the road to the End-zone was shadowed by Academic Troubles, Conduct Violations, Physical Ailments and a multitude of other career-ending mishaps. For the 937 of us that made it, it was a long hard road.

Some dropped early while others struggled on for five or six semesters and a few even made it to firstie year, but in the end, those entities prevented nearly a quarter of us from reaching the finish line. But for all of those who did not make it, there really is no loss. Their sights may be set on different victories now, but the simple fact that they even made it here in the first place is a victory in and of itself.

This group of former midshipmen has had several names throughout Academy history: Ex-Members, Bilgers, The Lost Battalion, Forced Landings, Collision Courses, Casualties of War, Lost at Sea, Still on Patrol and Gone but Not Forgotten. Whatever you may decide to call them, they will always have a special place in our Hearts.

On a hot, humid day in early July,
While Blue Angels overhead did fly,
You took an oath for your country to defend
Not knowing at all what was around the bend.

From academics to training you were put to the test
Never once doing less than your very best
In you years on the yard, many things you did do
Always taking pride in Navy Gold and Blue.

You've accomplished much, but there's a long way to go
How proud we are of you, we hope you know
Congratulations on all that you've done
But the three of us know, you've just begun!

From NAVY PLEBE to NAVY SEAL in 4 SHORT Years!

We love you, Jonathan...
Dad, Mom, and Joci

John,
Driving across the Severn on I-Day, we never imagined your role as Brigade Commander at the Naval Academy. From the trials of Plebe year to the final New Hope/Army-Navy game... you did it all. Virtue, strength, honor and respect - you are truly the best of the best. You have successfully crossed every bridge since I-Day as a warrior and our beloved child.

Love always,
Dad, Mom and Laura

P.S. Did the BMW help at all???

To dream, the impossible dream
To fight, the unbeatable foe
To bear, with unbearable sorrow
To run, where the brave dare not go
To right, the unrightable wrong
To love, pure and chaste from afar
To try, when your arms are too weary
To reach, the unreachable star
This is my quest, to follow that star
No matter how hopeless, no matter how far
To fight for the right, without question or pause
To be willing to march into Hell, for a Heavenly cause.
And the world will be better for this;
That one man, scorned and covered with scars,
Still strove, with his last ounce of courage,
To reach, the unreachable star.

A fine son
A loving brother
Lavished with laughter and life.
A burning desire
To go out into the world,
Reaching and touching those he meets
Striving to make a difference.

Kind heart
Generous and thoughtful ways,
Our precious gift
Trusted to us from the One above.
Straight and majestic like a palm tree

Leading and leader he will be.
Firm, honest, and fair in all your duties,
You can succeed and attain the respect
Of all those you serve.

Peaceful earth
Calm air; smooth seas to sail in,
Flying like a mighty eagle
Soaring through the clouds.
Golden sunny days10
Moonlit, star-filled nights
Pleasant dreams.

True friends
To share a good laugh
A shoulder to lean on, on a bad day.
Sweet home
Open doors to greet you
Both from out hearts and adobe,
Visit often
Stay as long as you like,
The best we entreat to come your way.
Congratulations!

May the love, guidance, and blessings of the Lord be yours always.

Over head, the angels roar and fill the vast blue skies.

After four years of work, you have earned this day of joy,
Returning to us as a man, after leaving us just a boy.
Many have gathered, Chad, to sing your praises loud,
Yes, you our friend, our brother, our son have made us all very proud!

CONGRATULATIONS ON A WONDERFUL ACCOMPLISHMENT!

LOVE & ADMIRATION,
MOM & DAD

When you were an infant, you were diagnosed with "failure to thrive," and nearly lost to this world. A good doctor, an amazing strength and an extraordinary will kept you with us.

As a young boy, you "thrived" more vivaciously than most. As a young man, your heart and your will shall guide you, and draw others to you.

As a son, a brother and a friend, you are an example to everyone. With all the love in our hearts and pride we can bestow, we congratulate you as you endeavor once again to "thrive" in this world that is so fortunate to have you.

We love you, Jason

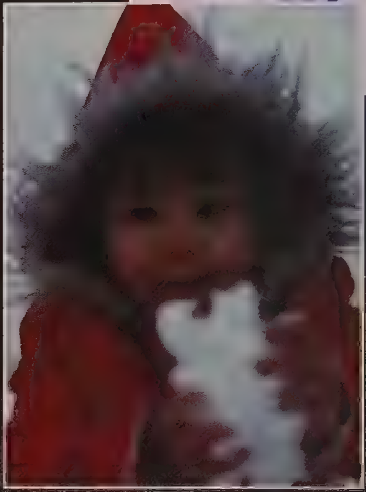
I'm thinking tonight of the times when you were criticized by your friends for your choice to enter the Naval Academy, and how despite this, you continued with your plan. I'm also thinking of the times you were so close to quitting, yet persevered because you knew how much it meant to your mother and I, although we tried to let you know that it was your choice, and the ultimate decision was yours to make. I guess somewhere around two years ago, I began to see my little girl turning into a fine Naval Officer, and then I started having doubts about what I had encouraged you to pursue. Would things change between us? After all, I was a retired chief, long on experience, but short on education when compared to this shining new star!

But I saw your strength grow, and the pride you had in serving your country began to show, and to be a reality. I watched as you learned to juggle the workload, and still have time for a smile. I heard from you of your exploits during your cruises, and the plans which seemed to be forever changing. And to my relief, I learned that there were still some things only "Mom and Dad" could fix!

On graduation day, I saw you walk proud and tall across the stage, and receive a degree that was hard earned and well deserved. Then I watched as you raised your hand and took an oath to defend this country which I hold so dear. No father and mother could be prouder than we are of you. And during those months when you are far from us, know that our love is with you, and further know that this is one old chief who would proudly walk the deck with you.

Well done, Ensign Wilson!



We watched as your heart was tossed about,
even though you thought that you had hid it!
We watched as your muscles knotted with pain and you grimaced with fatigue, vowing that you would not give in,
till you ran yet one more league.
We watched as you learned to face it all,
and take it on the chin.
We watched your tears each time you fell and watched your smiles when you did win!
We watched the pride that matched your stride,
as you grew to fill the role.
We watched as you learned to stand alone
so tall and straight and regal.
We watched as our daughter who was once a dove,
became a mighty eagle!
With this we give our love to you,
and on land and sea or sky so blue know that we'll always be here for you your mother and your father!

From I-Day to Graduation

We are so proud of you!

"Trust in the Lord with all thine heart,
Lean not to thy own understanding.
In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths."
Proverbs 3:5,6

May the good Lord be with you
Down every road you roam
And may sunshine and happiness
Surround you when you're far from home
May you grow to be proud, dignified and true
And do unto others as you'd have done to you
Be courageous and be brave
And in our hearts you'll always stay
Forever young

May good fortune be with you
May your guiding light be strong
Build a stairway to heaven
With a princess or a vagabond
And may you never love in vain
And in our hearts you will remain
Forever young

And when you finally fly away
We'll be hoping that we served you well
For all the wisdom of a lifetime

For Erin

You made it through the four years at the Academy, and I never doubted whether or not you could do it. Tough as it was, you were better, and I love you for that. Before you came into my life, I lived day to day numb to the world that surrounded me. Now I live each day alive with the knowledge that you are there. I look forward to spending the rest of my life with you.

Michael,

Your family and friends could not be more proud of you, but only your Mom and Dad know how well you hurdle obstacles, confront challenges and overcome adversity. Your quiet courage, thoughtful judgements and caring attitude have been an inspiration for many to admire. Among many relocations, new schools, and constant change, you have chosen friends, achieved education goals and focused on life priorities wisely. In this journey thus far, you always have been on the move, and even know you will continue to take new pathways. regardless, you know family loves you, your faith in God sustains you and loyal friends support you.

We are honored to be your parents, all our love and God Bless you,

Your family

Marshall,

You're a very special kind of son. A son who thinks for himself.
And you bring pride with every new thing you learn, try, and do.
You've always had the courage to go your own way, and to follow your own heart.
And, you've always been open and honest -- showing you could be trusted to think about your decisions and do what you thought was best. Even when we've disagreed or didn't understand each other, you've always been willing to listen and keep the lines of communication open. When things didn't go exactly as planned, you cared enough to share your problems and disappointments with those who know you best and love you most...
And those who love you most will always worry about you, occasionally fuss over you, and maybe offer advice... But please remember, most of all, you are always on our minds, eternally in our hearts, and forever loved.

Your family

Congratulations, graduating from Annapolis is definitely a power move. All of the hard work, starting with bootcamp on through and whatever other obstacles you had to go through finally is paying off. Do yourself a favor and celebrate this like a crazed animal, you deserve it. Think about all the days you wished you were at a regular college partying like your high school friends. This will all be worth it come graduation day.

Love Paul

Dear Anthony,

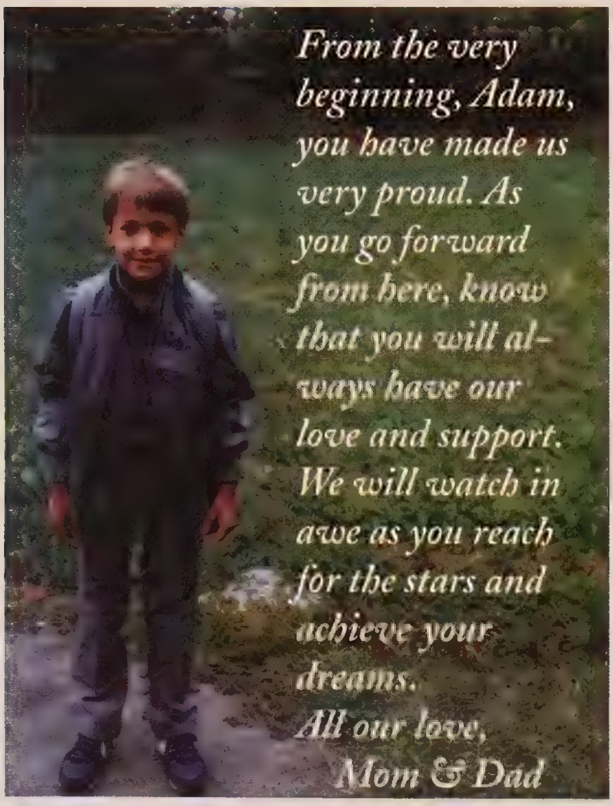
You have achieved a great accomplishment these past four years. You have seen and done many things that most people don't see in a lifetime. This has been a great learning experience for you, even though it's been a great sacrifice. You have met people from all walks of life and have made some great friends that you will always remember.

This plateau you have reached so far is just the beginning of many things to come. One of your greatest gifts is the ability to learn and take in all the knowledge you possibly can. With this in mind you will succeed in the career you have chosen.

You will now move on to the next chapter in your life. A new experience awaits you and many more doors will open for you.

So in closing, we want to tell you how much we love you and how very proud we are of you. We congratulate you and wish you luck in flight school.

Love Mom and Dad



From the very beginning, Adam, you have made us very proud. As you go forward from here, know that you will always have our love and support. We will watch in awe as you reach for the stars and achieve your dreams.

All our love,

Mom & Dad

You're leaving port with creases pressed,
Now commissioned and full of zest,
Ride each wave and mount each crest,
Face each tempest, meet each test,
Then, Savor the moment, enjoy the fest!
With determined effort you've been blessed.

Congratulations!

TO OUR JIM DANDY

We wish you health, we wish you well, and happiness galore.
We wish you luck for you and friends; what could we wish you more?
May your joys be as deep as the oceans, your troubles as light as its foam.
And may you find, sweet peace of mind, where ever you may roam.

We love you,

IT'S BEEN A LONG JOURNEY.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM ALL OF US!

Remember all the ski trips to Santa Fe, Monarch Crest, and Steamboat Springs? We watched you go from beginner to advanced in a few short years!

Trigg,
Best Wishes as you embark on your next great adventure. May you always have fair winds and following seas!
We love you dearly,

A whisper.
A breath.
A pause in time.
A touch
The past rushes towards the future, the present is gone.
The sands of time melt into glass and shatter.
Voices are felt in the twilight.
Words collide and re-form.
Skies rage and weep, as a child sings in the background,
Crying for a voice,
Knowing that the sound of absolute silence is the most painful.
Beauty dawns on the horizon of the abyss,
While we gaze upon the emptiness.
Infinity condenses into a grain of sand
On the shores of eternity

The cycle continues.

Remember Christmas vacations? You had to work out even while you were home, then leave early to go back to the Academy!

Remember the beginnings of your gymnastics career? You brought home a lot of medals!

Remember being a photographer for the Lucky Bag? You took great photos with your new Canon EOS Elan!

John,
We thought the "U" stood for "Underdog" when you were a little tyke. Little did we realize that it would stand for "Underwater"! Congratulations and Best Wishes.

Since Induction Day, July 2, 1996 when you walked on the Yard to Graduation Day, May 24, 2000, your determination, dedication, physical and mental prowess have carried you through. We are indeed proud of you and all you have accomplished the last four years. Your hard work has brought you to this point, now you must develop and refine your skills. Son, we are so very proud of all your accomplishments. We wish you health, happiness and prosperity.

All our love,

My Final

It is difficult to capture the last four years at the Academy with images, and even more difficult to do so with words. I hope that as you look through the 2000 yearbook you will think that my staff and I have met with some success in keeping the memories of our four years in the bag alive. So many things changed the day we walked through the doors into Bancroft Hall, and throughout our years, things kept changing. From the changes in Administration to the natural differences growing up made in our lives, we endured and graduated as the class of 2000. To my classmates, I say congratulations and thank you [illegible] hope it surpasses your expectations. To the underclass, I wish you luck. Hang in there, even the low times are worth it in the end. My hopes for you are that you will aid my successor in keeping the Lucky Bag one of the greatest yearbooks in the world. Without the Brigade, this book would never have been completed, and as I sit here writing my final words, I am still amazed at its creation.

Fisher: I am even more amazed that I am actually the editor of this book, or any yearbook. I owe that to you. Thank you for giving me that chance youngster year. Even though I still have bad mouse control, you have to admit I've come a long way from that girl who didn't know how to use a scanner. Don't worry, I STILL hate computers. Thanks for the hours of guidance you've given me from afar.

Mike: Thank you for all the work you did setting up the year section. Your bitter sense of humor helped get through the countless hours in the sweltering heat of the office. I hope you never really thought of any of us as evil.

Alexander James: [illegible]'ve come a long way darlin'. I must [illegible] I'm surprised that you didn't throw any computers out of the windows (probably because they were screwed shut, but we'll pretend it was because you had self-control.) The sports section looks great, and you definitely made a lot of progress with just a few pictures. Glad I could finally take you to Texas so you get the FULL yearbook experience. Thanks for making me laugh and enduring all of my yelling...if only we could get you to quit biting.

Snookie: I've never met anyone who could drink a margarita like it was coke, or coke like it's water. Thank you for getting the DCA section done so [illegible] and so organized. I could always count on you to get things done, no matter how bad the task (taking out the garbage). Good luck down under, and relax, no one's gonna poke you.

KD: My roomie through the years. Thanks for putting up with the entire Brigade. I really appreciate you giving up your 4th of July weekend to get your pages done. The best I have to say I've written in your [illegible] S.H.M.L.Y

Barbara: You are a life saver. I'm not sure if I would have mad[illegible] through so many late nights working if you hadn't been there motivating me to go on. That and I was glad to have someone on my side when the guys decided to get macho on us. Ma[illegible] parents are going to be happy at all the time you spent on their ads. I can't believe we let Trigg hook us on Buffy. Keep the romance alive, and hopefully the next book will come out soon.

Trigg: I have faith in the CD-ROM, no matter what anyone else says. Thanks [illegible] me tie up the [illegible] book. I still can't believe you got us hooked on Buffy. [illegible] didn't write in your bio I get to say that you've been one of my greatest friends for a long time now, and I am glad to have had someone who understood me as well as you, and someone to set me straight on so many things. Who knows, maybe someday I will develop spatial awareness?

Bennett: A million thanks to you. You are going to be a great editor. Sorry if you felt pressured into it. Good luck finding a staff. I have faith that you will, and that your book will be a million times better than I could ever imagine.

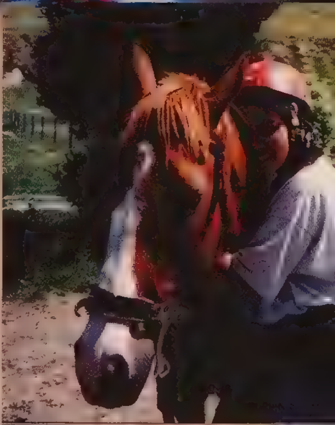
John: Sorry that you are only going to be a 2/C and the book can't be yours for another couple of years. Thanks for keeping the faculty/chain section alive and the first section to be turned in... You are definitely ready to take on something bigger. Have fun with the redecorating and the G4's... I wish I could have made that leap.

Joe: Could anything else have gone wrong? Thanks so much for your patience. Don't worry. I am leaving the book in capable and ORGANIZED hands, and I know that will make all the difference. Thanks for all the trips to Dallas. Wonder if anyone else will get to know the staff down there as well as I do.

Julia: Thanks so much for coming up here and rescuing us from all the pinches we got into. I know you are gonna love having new computers if Bennett pulls it off. I hope you come to love Maryland at least a little, though I know it will never compare to Texas.

Jim: Thanks for helping me take care of all the picture messes we got into this year, and the past years. Thank goodness the book isn't doing slides next year, although now that all the scanners work...

Erin and Jennifer: Where do I start? You guys have been great, looking out for me and putting up with my stressed out days and sleepless nights. Your voices are well known in the office for all the times you've called just to see if I was okay. Jenny, we may not be spending the next seven years together, but the memories will be there for me. Remember, leave it south of 60. 2E I am looking forward to all the random adventures we are sure to have...



Mae, Mom, Dad, Summer and Joshua: I will call soon, I promise...almost done now. Thanks for loving me even when I was unable to keep in touch. Your support helped me get here, and definitely helped me get through. I love you guys so much...

And that is my final word. Again I say thanks to my staff. The long hours were worth it, and weren't ALL bad...

Our Favorite View of the Academy

Colophon

The 2000 Lucky Bag, Volume 107, is the third completely digitally produced yearbook for the Naval Academy. It was printed by taylor publishing company in Dallas, Texas. Our Taylor representatives were Joe Wenzl and Julia Jordan.

The 2000 Lucky Bag contains 888 full color pages and had a press run of 4500 copies. Books sold for $6

Photography: All formal portraits were taken and digitally reproduced by DaVor Photography in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Jim Rainey was our representative. Our formal photographers were Bryant Vaders, Vince Criniti, Jr., and Mike Engleman. Jim and Mike also shot many of the yard candids. Lucky Bag photographers an the brigade also contributed pictures to the yearbook. Phill Hoffman was instrumental in providing photos f the sports section. Our photographers used Fujichrome Superia 100,200, 400, and 800 speeds in most case For some events Kodak and Fuji print film at 100, 200, 400, 800, and 1600 speeds were used. Lucky Bag photographers used a Nikon N90, two Nikon N70s, and two Canon EOS Elan II cameras; Nikkor 35-70 mm, Nikkor 80-200 mm, Sigma 14 mm, Sigma 18-35, Sigma 70-210 mm, Tamron 28-80 mm, Tamron 70-300 mm lenses, Nikon Speedlight SB-28 and Canon Speedlite 380 EX Flashes.

Photo Reproduction: All pictures from teh Brigade were scanned in using two UMAX Powerlook II Flatbed scanners and one UMAX Powerlook III flatbed. Slide film was scanned on a Polaroid Sprint Scan 4000 and Nikon SF 200 scanner. Print film was developed by DaVor and was scanned in at their plant. We used Adobe Photoshop 5.0 and Adobe Pagemaker 6.5 to crop, adjust, and place pictures. All photos are 300 dpi.

Computers Equipment: A variety of computers were used to put the book together. The Lucky Bag was produced mainly on three Dell Dimension xps R400 with 128 MB of RAM and a 200 MHz Precision Workstation 610 with Dual 450 MHz Xenon Pentium processor and 384 MB of RAM. Four 21" monitors provided viewing outputs for the computer. We also added a new computer for photos this year, a Pentium III processor. The computers are all connected to a 100 Mbytes/sec network using a 3Com eight port hub and a 10 Mbytes/sec switch. We have four Zip drives, one Jaz drive, a Yamaha 4x CD-R and a Pinnacle Micro 4x CD-R, two UMAX Powerlook II Scanners, One UMAX Powerlook III, Polaroid SprintScan 4000, Nikon SF-200 scanners. We usi tow Cross iPens for editing photos. Our tape backup is an APS Sony Hyperdat drive. Our network operating system is Windows 2000 and Windows 98.

Typography: Over 250 Truetype and Adobe fonts were available for use in this book.

Printing: Taylor Publishinng printed 872 pages on glossy premuim 80 lb paper at 155 lpi. the opening 16 pages are printed on matte paper. Opening pictures are coated with a uv coating and text is printed with gold ink.

Thanks: A Special thankgs goes to CAPT Wode, Joe Wenzl, Julia Jordan, Jim Rainey, Tami McConnell, Phil Hoffman, Laurie Wells, Millie Pierce, Jan Costenbader, Mark Costenbader, Patrick Stansbury, Linda Tailford, Sinead Magorrian, Mike Engleman, Vince Criniti, Bryant Vaders, Teri Rishell, and all of the guys in the Express Office.
